"BETTER THAN SECURITY"

A Message from the President of the University
To the Members of the Graduating Classes:

ONCE more it is my privilege in the name of the whole University to congratulate you on passing another mile-stone of your life-journey and to wish you well as you go out into various careers or as you proceed to advanced studies.

You have aptly dedicated this year's Torontonensis to your Alma Mater who "in manifold ways is contributing to the struggle for world freedom". Few realize the extent to which this war is a struggle of brains, of research, and of applied science, and to which in consequence the State is utilizing the resources of universities. Our own university is making a direct contribution of men for all branches of the service. Over 3,000 recent graduates and undergraduates have already enlisted and about 120 members of the teaching staff are on active service. The professional faculties are training their members directly for war-service or for war industries. In the scientific departments in all faculties specific war researches are being carried on, and important problems are being solved. We are training a whole brigade of students in the Officers Training Corps and the Training Centre Battalion. Special work is being done by an auxiliary detachment of women undergraduates with a view to service in administration. In fact, the war is both the foreground and the background of this year's academic work. To a large extent students have followed governmental advice to complete their courses before enlisting; but many have felt the urge to enter the struggle earlier and are already in active service. The universities are not places of refuge, but places of fuller preparation for the youth of our land.

Never were the issues of a great struggle more clearly defined than they are today. The war is a life and death struggle for our survival as a free people; it is also a struggle between life and death, between all those spiritual values—freedom, truth, justice, mercy —which make a worthy life, and all those forces of ruthless and faithless tyranny which effect the death of the spirit. At the moment the sky is dark and lowering; but the days are stern and great—days when great issues are at stake and the whole future of the world must be decided. There can be no neutrality in thought, word or act in this grim battle between good and evil. The brutalities and beastliness of Hong Kong accentuate the contrasted aims and methods of the contestants.

Our first and most urgent duty is to devote our all to winning the war and winning it so thoroughly that the world may be freed from the recurrent dread of strife and slaughter. We have to fight the war now, not in some remote future. I believe that every graduate of this university will seek to do his duty now, making his decision in the sight of God and before his own conscience.

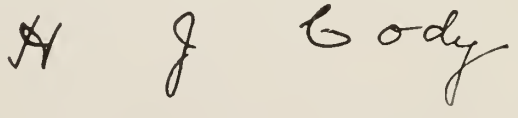

There are some who think that the best generations are in the past and that there is a steady declension down to the present. The poet of a famous English school gave the answer to this fear:

"But I think all this is a lie, you know;
I think all this is a lie.
For the hero-race may come and go,
But it doesn't exactly die."

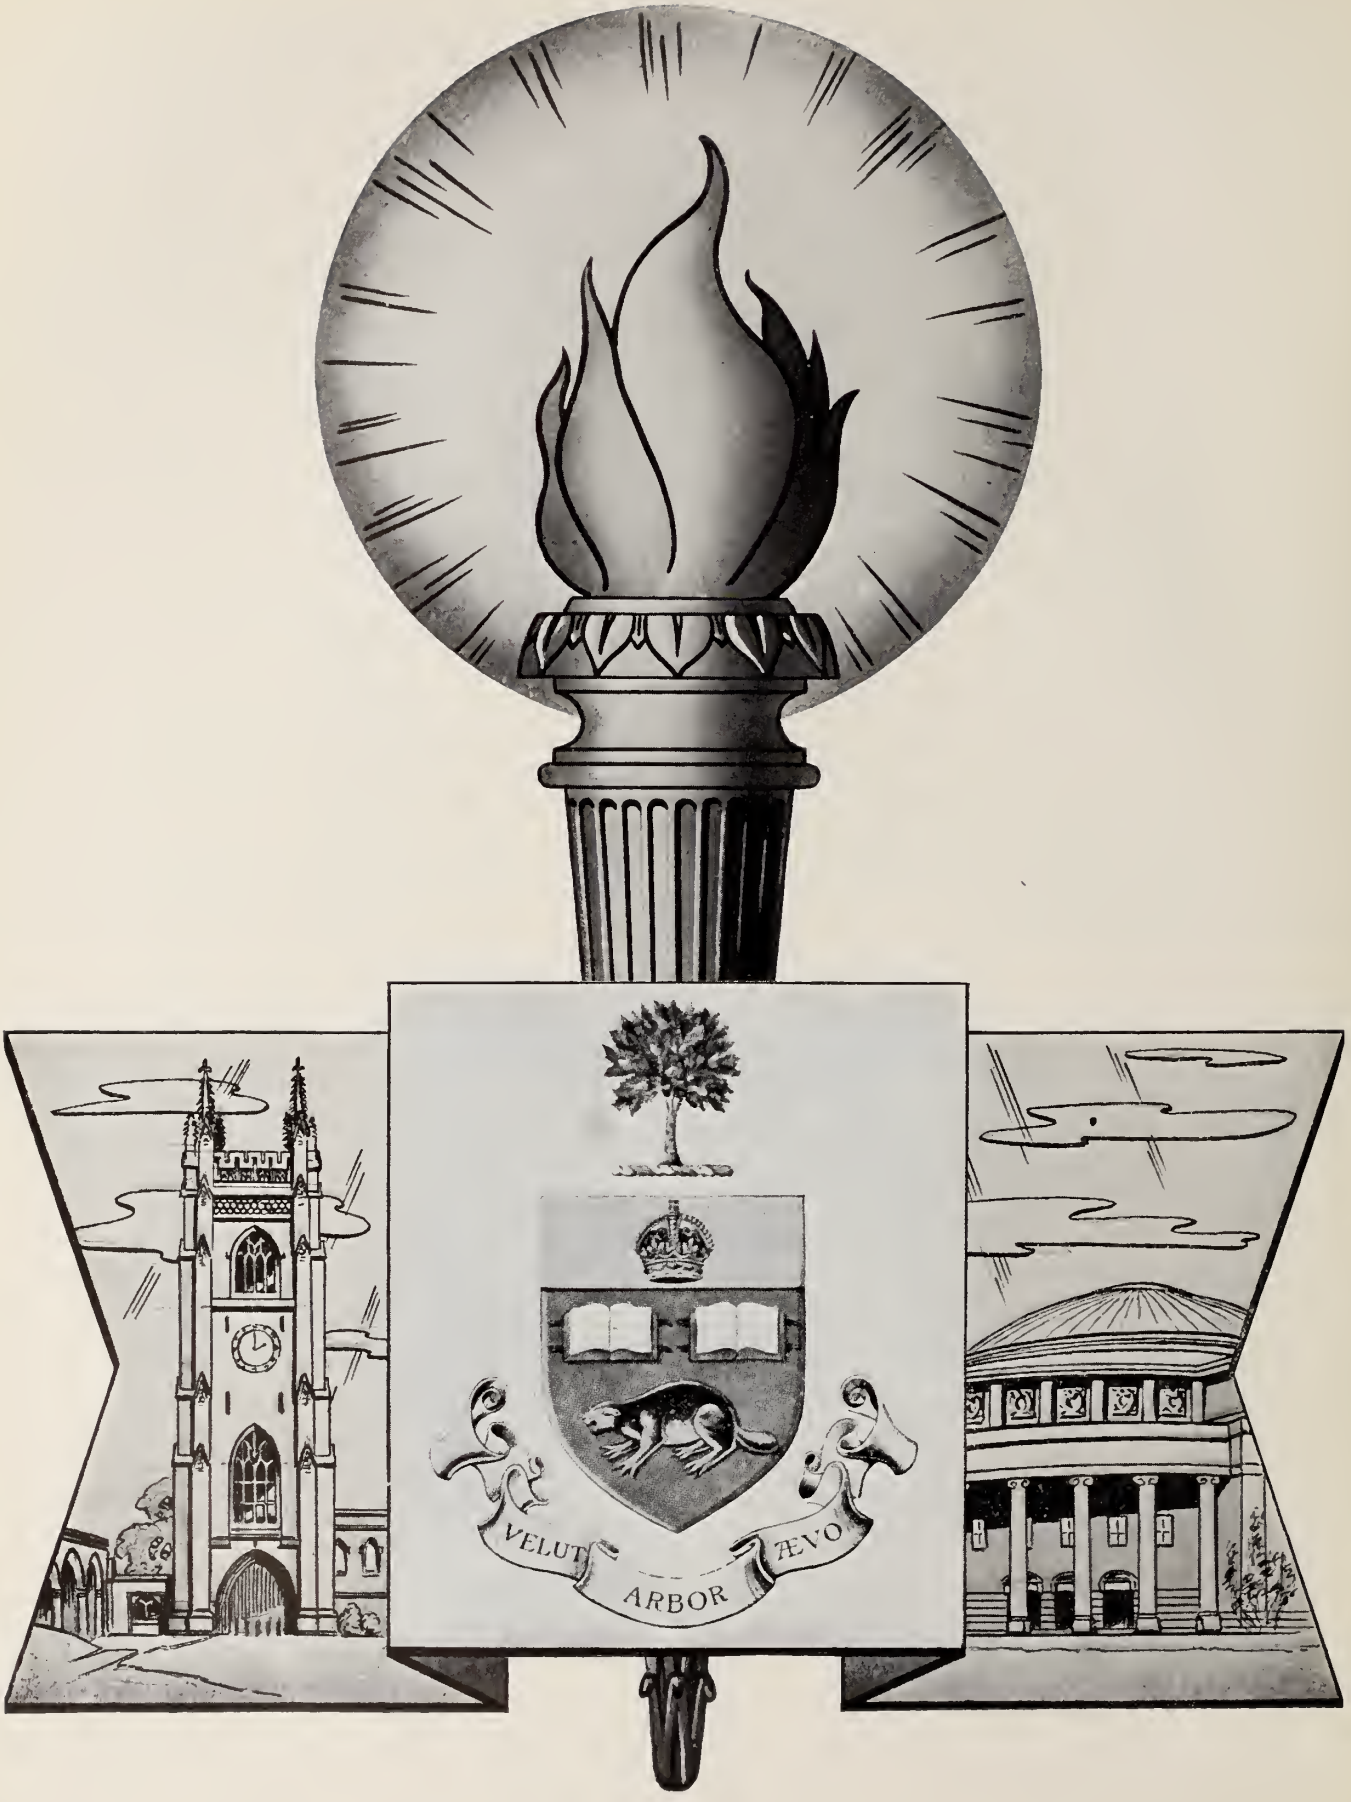

You are the stuff of which heroes still are made.

You will go into a grim world but at a great time. What the future holds for you none can tell. Your world will probably be a hard world, but you may take a share in making it a better world. You will certainly not enter a world of security. That need not discourage you. Your forbears never enjoyed security, and you may never have it. The noblest ages have not been ages of security. Go forth and gain what is better than snug security—courage, self-discipline, comradeship, a will to work, a determination to overcome, and a faith that God rules and cares. Your Alma Mater can give you no guarantee of safety, but she can assure you of a great opportunity to help usher in a nobler age.

Forget not your old academic mother; be worthy of her name and her tradition. She holds you always in her heart. In her name I bid you Godspeed. "Watch ye; stand fast; quit you like men; be strong."

President.

Four members of the University of Toronto Contingent, Canadian Offieers Training Corps, come back to campus from Niagara-on-the-Lake, to parody their expericnces for the U.C. Follies.

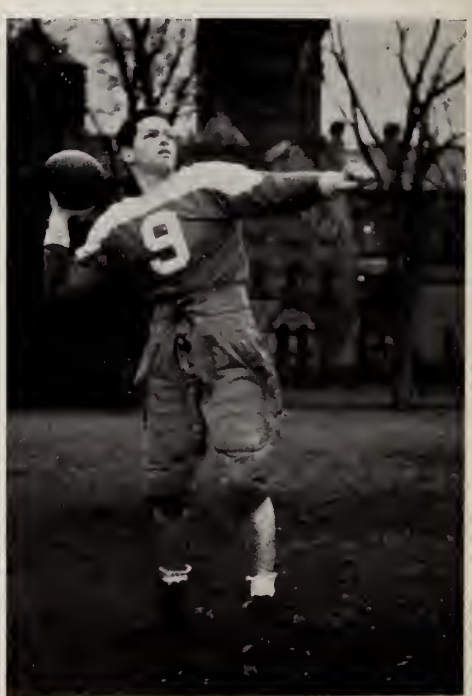

All is hustle and bustle in the Rotunda as a co-ed hurries to get a library-book back by the 10:10 a.m. deadline, while others pause in flight.

Volleyball goes on in the upper gym; the editors were unable, however, to determine where the ball was as the picture was snapped.

A rustic rug in the process of being cut during the floor-show at the annual Arts Ball, highlight of U.C.'s social season.

This is Dynamic Cuddy Faber, ace quarter-back of the Red and White Inter-faculty gridders.

No. 1 Pln., "W" Coy. of the Training Centre Battalion, swings past the front of the College on its way to draw rifles from Hart House.

Joan Tamblyn, Social Director of the W.U.A., discusses leg-art with five members of the Follies' chorus.

Music-appreciators gather in odd attitudes to listen to an afternoon program of the Record Club, staged in the Women's Common Room.

Viands pass across the counter at the Women's Union, where non-residence co-eds foregather for lunch.

U.C. women group under the basket as a shot goes wide. Inter-faculty Women's Basketball honours went this year to the U.C. Seniors.

A quartet of students pause for a moment in the venerable Cloisters. Second from the left is the Queen of the Arts Ball.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE to the Members of the Graduating Class
By MALCOLM W. WALLACE, B.A., Ph.D., LL.D.

Underlying such a world-upheaval as that which we are experiencing are fundamental causes which we only dimly understand. We say that it is a contest between democracy and totalitarianism, between those who would regiment the life of individual men even in the smallest particulars in order to exalt the power of the State, and those who regard the State as merely one among many organizations which men have devised for the purpose of furthering the creative, semi-independent life of each individual. We say that it is a struggle to secure the largest possible area of freedom for each human being in the life which he is to live—freedom of association and worship, freedom to discuss his own thoughts with other men and to propagate them by speech and writing. We may define it as an uprising of the common man in protest against being subjected to any form of slavery, a stage in his progress toward self-government, toward which he is impelled by a fundamental instinct antecedent to all reasons by which it might be justified.

No doubt these explanations are all true as far as they go, but they are partial, and leave many questions unanswered. We might be tempted to say that ideals of government proper to a primitive people are at strife with the higher ideals of modern civilization. How then does it happen that our enemies have been regarded as among the highly civilized nations of the earth, that their accomplishments have been signal in science, art, literature, music, philosophy and scholarship? The truth is, of course, that democratic and authoritarian ideals and practices have been intermingled in all countries. Wealth and station have continued to exercise their influence in the life of states which have made great progress toward freedom of speech and equality. Trade unions have introduced a small measure of control into the economic life of the nations, and theories of equality have flourished in the midst of poverty, unemployment and slums. Even in the most democratic states many people, including perhaps a majority of the most influential, have disliked all talk of equality and the tendency of the government to interfere in their business enterprises. In a word no state has experimented with more than a limited amount of democratic control.

A tremendous task of reconstruction, nationally and internationally, will be laid upon the generation to which you belong, if men are to avoid once more paying the terrible price of failure to organize their lives. You must think clearly if you are to understand the maladjustments of to-day, and you must have a deep sense of personal responsibility for the decisions to be taken to-morrow. If our university graduates do not make a major contribution to finding the solution of great social and international problems, where shall our society look for salvation? My warmest wish for each of you is that you may do your share in the work of organizing a saner world.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE 4T2 PERMANENT EXECUTIVE

Message from the Class of 4T2

IT SEEMS rather odd that members of the graduating year are asked to leave behind some message — perhaps of counterfeit sentimentality or slightly disguised self-satisfaction and praise. It is not that we don't feel some inward stirrings at the thought of leaving behind such happy days. It is not that we haven't a realistic, probably an exaggerated, appreciation of the important contribution we have made to the life of our College. But expressions of emotion can be characterized accurately in a page only by the very few. And achievements; it is certain many books would be needed to chronicle them.

So perhaps it is better that we should leave all to gather a softening tracery of silver cobwebs and speak of other things.

Of other things, yes, best may be some hopes and aspirations for days ahead. Graduation is a time for but a fleeting look behind. We are young enough that, glowing as that vista may be, we turn quickly to conjure up a thousand fantasies of the days ahead. And the war — yes, we are conscious of it. It enters grimly into the immediate plans of most of us. And we face this with no light view of all it involves.

Often college students are labelled as half-baked young radicals. Such a charge is not common these days. For pressure of a dozen sober duties has crowded our time-tables too much to allow scope for oversteamed energy to escape in noisy fashion.

But what of the men and women against whom such thrusts were so frequently pressed. Have they not all too often settled back into the very opposite of the dynamite they were thought to be while at school! It is a rare thing to find a man in his thirties showing anything of the bursts of enthusiasm which made his teens or early twenties seem so dangerous. On the contrary, many seem to have developed a caution coming close to paralysis. A will to accept everywhere the status quo all too soon grips us like the cold of a London fog. It may even be that this complacency has a connection with the calamity of the world about us.

And so we face a world where certainty on every score seems to have disappeared. It is not so common to wave the flag of radicalism as in the past. Nor would we wish it otherwise. But we have a wish, stronger perhaps than any at this time. That is, that for us, those days ahead may always hold an exciting purpose which will compel us to feel in each situation not a comfort but a challenge towards the "brave new world".

VICTORIA COLLEGE

1836 VICTORIA UNIVERSITY 1942

On the Old Ontario Strand

FOR the first fifty-six years of its history Victoria University was located in Cobourg. The Upper Canada Academy was opened in 1836 and on October 12th of the same year the Royal Charter was granted by King William IV. In 1841 the Charter was extended to include degree-conferring powers and the name was changed to Victoria College. The first degree in Arts in Ontario was conferred by Victoria College in 1845 on Oliver Springer. A Faculty of Medicine was added in 1854; a Faculty of Law in 1860, and a Faculty of Theology in 1871. A department of Science was organized, and in 1877 Faraday Hall was opened and had the unique distinction of being the first building in the province erected and devoted exclusively to scientific work. In 1884 the name was changed to Victoria University. Egerton Ryerson was responsible for securing the Royal Charter and he was the first Principal of Victoria College in 1841. In 1850 Samuel S. Nelles took charge of the College. Under his wise and far-sighted guidance the work of Victoria grew and expanded as additional faculties were added.

Federation with the University of Toronto

THE federation of Victoria University with the University of Toronto became an accomplished fact in 1892. Victoria was a pioneer in setting up the system of education by which the provincial university and three independent denominational universities and colleges have in the course of time through their federation agreements established the Faculty of Arts of the University of Toronto as it exists today. Since 1892 Victoria University has conferred degrees in Divinity only and her power of conferring degrees in Arts, Medicine, Law and Science has remained in abeyance. From 1892 to 1928 the organization of Victoria University consisted of two faculties, Arts and Divinity. The task of translating the federation agreement into practice was accomplished by Chancellor Nathanael Burwash, who had succeeded Dr. Nelles in 1887 and held office until 1913. During the difficult war years and during the period of expansion in 1920-30 Chancellor R. P. Bowles guided the destinies of the institution.

Growth and Reorganization

RESIDENCE accommodation was provided in Cobourg, but for the first eleven years in Toronto Victoria had no residence for students. The Annesley Hall Women's Residence was opened in 1903. The Birge-Carnegie Library was completed in 1910. Burwash Hall and the Victoria College Men's Residences, the gift of Mr. Chester D. Massey, were opened in 1913. In 1926 Victoria University received Wymilwood Women Students' Union and Residence, the gift of Mrs. E. R. Wood and Lady Flavelle. Emmanuel College and the Emmanuel College Men's Residences were first occupied in 1931. Victoria University now has residence accommodation for about 170 women students and about 235 men students. Church union in 1925 affected both the work and the organization of Victoria University. The Victoria University Act of 1928 provided for two colleges, Victoria College in Arts and Emmanuel College in Divinity. In 1930 Dr. E. W. Wallace succeeded Chancellor Bowles. The one hundredth anniversary of the granting of the Royal Charter was celebrated in 1936.

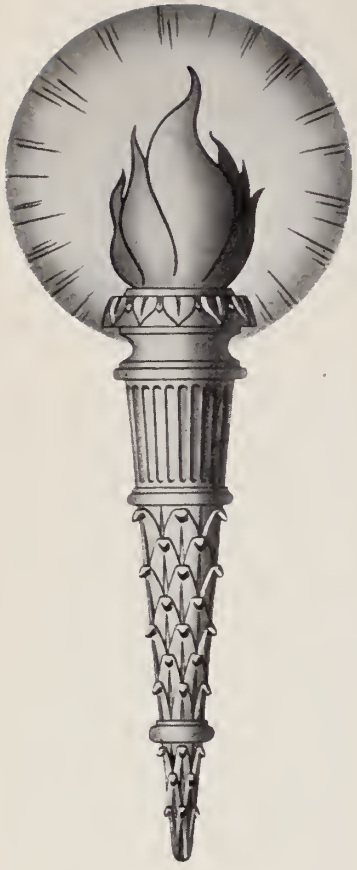

The Inauguration of Chancellor Brown

IN February, 1941, Principal Walter T. Brown of Victoria College was appointed Chancellor and President of Victoria University, succeeding Dr. Wallace, who had resigned because of ill health. The Inauguration Service at which the new Chancellor was formally installed was held in Convocation Hall on October 15th, 1941. Delegates were present from fifty-seven colleges and universities in Canada and the United States and from the University of Toronto and every college and faculty comprising it. During the session 1941-42, there were 816 students enrolled in Victoria College and 96 students in Emmanuel College, but the number of students in Victoria College was reduced by about 25 as men withdrew to join the Navy, the Army and the Air Force. Since May, 1941, several houses of the men's residences have been occupied by members of the R.C.A.F. taking the Radio Technicians' Course. The residences were similarly used during the first Great War.

VICTORIA COLLEGE to the Members of the Class of '42
By W. T. BROWN, M.A., Ph. D.

You are the third class to graduate since this war began, and most of your college days have been passed under its dark shadow. You saw it break out in Europe and spread rapidly over the face of the globe, so that today significant struggles are taking place in Russia, in the Mediterranean, in Africa, on the Atlantic and in an ever-increasing area among the islands of the Pacific. As you have watched the tide of battle ebb and flow, as you have seen your own empire win victories and suffer defeats, you have been aware of the steady growth in our souls of a grim relentlessness, a determination to see this struggle through and never to accept defeat as final. You have also realized that the burden falls most heavily upon your own generation and, although war and bloodshed are foreign to your spirit, you have willingly assumed your share of the responsibilities inevitable to freedom in a civilized world. Some of your classmates do not graduate with you because they enlisted early in their course; others are graduating without having spent this last year in college. Those who remained have carried on amidst great restlessness of spirit, and many look forward to enlistment upon graduation. You are meeting the demands of the hour in a manner creditable to yourself, your college and your country.

In saying farewell I would remind you of another responsibility which will grow with the years and is companion to the privilege of a college education. In the post-war days, amidst the confusion and chaos which will follow the peace, you must bring to the problems of your age that wholesomeness of spirit, that breadth of view and clarity of insight, that love of the things that are true and beautiful and good, and that abounding good-will which lie at the heart of a university. The world will need your labour and your leadership. I am confident that it will not find you wanting. Vale!

TRINITY COLLEGE

TRINITY COLLEGE to the Members of the Graduating Class
By REV. F. H. COSGRAVE, M.A., D.D., LL.D., D.C.L.

My colleagues and I are very grateful to Torontonensis for the opportunity to address a short message of congratulation and good wishes to you as you go forth from the University. We are happy to think that your sojourn here has in some measure contributed to fit you to face the manifold problems of our time and to achieve in and after victory that better world which is now taking shape in our thoughts. We believe that in the critical days immediately ahead of us you will, in the great words of Mr. Winston Churchill, apply yourselves to your duties and so bear yourselves that, if the British Empire and its Commonwealth last for a thousand years men will still say, "this was their finest hour".

We watch you go forth from our halls confident that you will not fail or falter in the present struggle for freedom and justice and that in the days beyond we shall receive from many of you that sound but inspiring leadership without which democracy is as ineffective as any other form of government. You are now in a position to equip yoursleves for positions of responsibility which, if our democracy is to survive, must be filled by men and women with larger knowledge and clearer views than most of their fellows can be expected to attain. From this task we hope you will not shrink for the whole future of our nation is dependent upon the quality of the leadership it receives. It is your privilege to meet this great need of us all. We know that you will not fail to undertake this service.

ST. MICHAEL'S COLLEGE

ST. MICHAEL'S COLLEGE to the Members of the Graduating Class
By REV. T. P. McLAUGHLIN, B.A., J.C.D.

The life upon which you are entering is not a particularly easy one. But then you were never told by us that it would be easy and comfortable. You were warned that life was a serious thing, that you would have to wage constant warfare against the world, the flesh and the devil. True, it was not forseen that they would choose these times to unleash all their forces in a desperate attempt to destroy all that is opposed to them. But you have been taught to recognize them under the manifold forms which they might assume so that you are not unprepared to meet them. Confronted with the world, the spirit of the world and its standards you will not forget that you possess truths and standards which have a heavenly origin. To those who seek ease and comfort, who place all their happiness in material riches and the pleasures which these procure you will object: "Not by bread alone doth man live but by every word that proceedeth from the mouth of God". Against the deceitful arguments and wicked deeds of the devil and those who do his nefarious work you will ever be ready to proclaim with your angelic patron: "Mich-a-el; Who is like God?"

This is no time for recrimination, for bitterness, for the scrapping of ideals. Much sooner than you expected, an opportunity for testing your ideals, for exercising a great influence for good, has been offered. A challenge has been thrown at you. You will not refuse to accept it. There is a place for the University graduate in the struggle for victory and real peace. He must also play an important role in the construction of the new social order. Wherever your sphere of action may be, remain true to the religious, moral and intellectual principles which you have learned. If you do so your Alma Mater and future generations of students will be deeply grateful to the Class of 1942 which, aware of its grave responsibilities, bravely went forth into a world shaken to its very foundations.

WYCLIFFE COLLEGE

WYCLIFFE COLLEGE to the Members of the Graduating Class
By PRINCIPAL RAMSAY ARMITAGE, M.C., M.A., D.D.

You will be beginning your ministry in stern but great days when our British Commonwealth and her allies face powerful forces of cruel tyranny and predatory aggression.

We who follow the great Evangelical tradition within the Church of England ever give emphasis to the primary values of freedom. We believe that liberty is in the very texture of the Gospel.

President Roosevelt speaking through Congress to the world said: "In future days we shall look forward to the four essential human freedoms—freedom of speech and expression everywhere; freedom of, and the right to worship God in our own way everywhere; freedom from want, and freedom from fear."

One of the essential notes of the Evangel is the freedom for which Christ sets men free. There can be no beginning, no continuing of world freedom without that. "If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed." You have been trained for a ministry which will bear witness in that fact. St. Paul the Apostle of Spiritual Liberty constantly affirms that Freedom can only be won and maintained through discipline "Paul a bond-servant of Jesus Christ." "Bond-slave to Christ and in my bonds rejoicing." As one of our own poets has said it, H. C.Boultbee in "The Oxiord Lists and other Poems":

. . . . Life is as a stream that owes
Itself unto its banks, and as the bronze
Comes living from the mould so is this earth
And all therein, the creature of restraint;
And so is Art a captured loveliness,
And wine the prisoned vintage of the grape:
They freedom own the most, like truth, who most
Pereeive the frailty of their ownership.

All Liberty and all liberties find their proper place and meaning within the Freedom for which Christ sets men free. This is part of our Evangel. Quem nosse vivere, cui servire regnare est. Whose service is perfect freedom. Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free.

EMMANUEL COLLEGE

EMMANUEL COLLEGE to the Members of the Graduating Class
By REVEREND RICHARD DAVIDSON, M.A., Ph.D., D.D.

"The Lord God omnipotent reigneth." Confusion and terror may be too much for us; it is not too much for Him. Apostles and prophets were not afraid; they had full confidence in Him. No power could wrench His earth off its hinges.

He reigns, and He reigns in righteousness. His purpose for men and nations is character, character fashioned after His own, character in the good and happy society where each member lives for all and all live for each.

It is because God is all in earnest about His moral purpose that the Bible has so much to say about judgment. For when men forsake the chief good and seek a lower good or positive evil, judgment is the answer, the inevitable answer, of the living, loving God, resolute in righteousness.

There were times in the past, not unlike this present, when men believed they saw the wrath of the living God blazing forth upon earth. The present turmoil and fury—an episode in the centuries—may be past our comprehending; "thy judgments are a great deep". But we understand enough to tremble in awe of Him Who is Master of it all. We understand enough to recognize that "by terrible things in righteousness" He is answering. And we learn anew that the living God is wholly in earnest about his moral purpose; "when thy judgments are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world learn righteousness". The rock where he has set us stands unmoved when all the world is shaken; "clouds and darkness are round about him: righteousness and judgment are the foundation of his throne".

This is no time to stand by, idle, or ill-disposed, or dismayed. Amidst the vastness of the clashing forces the Christian sees the Cross, clarifying, sure, setting us our tasks. In hoc signo vinces. It is time for action, strong and confident. Let us gird up our loins. It is for His kingdom of peace and brotherhood that we strike at tyranny and the arrogance of power. It is for His Kingdom of righteousness and love that He calls us to toil all the day like men—His men, "strong in the Lord and the power of His might".

COMMERCE AND FINANCE

COMMERCE AND FINANCE to the Members of the Graduating Class

By PROFESSOR C. A. ASHLEY, B.Com.

At the time at which I write, eight out of a class of fifty-five have left the University to join the forces, and presumably you will all shortly be engaged in essential work of some kind. We look forward to the time when those on Active Service will return to join the rest of us in further work of national importance. For, long and painful though the fighting may be, a military victory is not an end in itself; and however difficult efficient organization for war may appear to be, organization for peace will be much more difficult.

Seven, eight and nine years ago some of our graduates had difficulty in obtaining suitable employment; but since the war began many business have wished that they had shown greater foresight by appointing, in slack times, people who could have been trained for the responsible work which now has to be done. For several years many less fortunate men were kept under-nourished and in enforced idleness; the product of their labour was lost, their morale was sapped and their health impaired; but since the war began we have realized how much we need the things of which we were then so careless.

The training and experience you have received at the University should enable you to do your part more effectively in dealing with the difficulties of both war and peace. The department will watch your progress with confidence and hope, and wishes you good luck.

VELUT ARBOR ÆVO

MEDICINE

FACULTY OF MEDICINE to the Members of the Graduating Class
By W. E. GALLIE, M.D., F.R.C.S. Eng., F.R.C.S. (C.).

In this third year of the war it is evident that victory can be won only by an all-out effort from us all. The time has come when private interests must be forgotten and when each one of us must be prepared to step forward with enthusiasm to the service of his country. In the case of the graduate in Medicine this service is not only a glorious one but it is one for which all his years of study have prepared him. Unlike the lawyer, the teacher, the business man, who must turn from all that has occupied his mind and energies heretofore to take up the familiar use of arms, he simply steps from civilian life to a somewhat similar life in the Army. In this he is singularly fortunate. It is our plain duty, therefore, in these days when the Navy, the Army and the Air Force are rapidly expanding to the needs of total war that we who are in this fortunate position should not hold back the service that only we can give and which our troops so urgently need. This means that all graduates in Medicine who are physically fit and who have completed the eight months' internship which the Medical Services consider essential to the proper qualification of their officers, should immediately apply for a commission. To many who have planned postgraduate training in Medicine, Surgery and the Specialties this course is a hardship and may seem unreasonable in view of the future needs of both the forces and the civilian population. Yet the need of the Army now is large numbers of young graduates who can take care of the health of our troops. Such a call can not be left unanswered, no matter what sacrifices are entailed, and indeed, it will be answered. It will be the purpose of those who control the appointments for postgraduate study that when the war is over, or before that time, if the Medical Services call for officers with special training, to give those opportunities, whenever possible, to those who turned aside from the paths of preference and interest, to do their duty to their country.

The Dean and the Faculty wish every graduate abundant success and happiness.

APPLIED SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING

FACULTY OF APPLIED SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING

to the Members of the Graduating Class

By C. R. YOUNG, C.E.

Upon those whose academic training has been directed towards the applications of science there now rests; and will continue to rest, an especial burden of responsibility. Every citizen is expected to lend what aid he may to the state to the end that it and we may survive. In the performance of that paramount duty the engineer and the technologist must play a vital role.

Those who now complete a phase of their engineering training that has been long and perhaps difficult are under a double obligation: the duty to the University that has fostered them and a new and constantly enlarging duty to the state.

Not all will be privileged to serve in capacities that are directly associated with the war. But it should be remembered that in total war there are no civilians. Whoever by his diligence and faithfulness promotes the efficient conduct of industry essential to normal living, or assists in the maintenance of the public services, renders valuable aid to the cause, although perhaps not in the way that he might personally wish.

Only through a vast extension and intensification of the public conscience can the general welfare be secured after the war through the agencies of democracy. Such can come only with a ready assumption of the responsibilities of citizenship by the enlightened people of the country. A second world war came upon us out of the simple circumstance that the comfortable, ease-loving populations of democratic states allowed their thinking to be done for them by that infinitesimal few that undertook to shape governmental policies amidst the vaporings of sentimentalists without wisdom or practical sense. From those who have been taught to take nothing for granted and to test everything in the cold, hard light of reason, we expect much. I am confident that that expectation will not be in vain.

4T2 Permanent Executive

FOUR years certainly do pass in a hurry, don't they? It seems scarcely credible that our eventful days at S.P.S. are almost over. As we draw near the end of our "School" days, we look at the past years in retrospect, recollecting the many friendships and experiences we have enjoyed. Everyone of us has been enriched by his associations at S.P.S. and is anxious that the friendships made here should extend into his future life.

In order to maintain contact among the graduates of 1941, a Permanent Executive has been formed. This executive will maintain a record of the names, addresses and occupations of all the graduating class. This information will be available from the secretary and from the various councillors. It is planned to provide news of interest in the form of circular letters and through announcements in the University of Toronto Monthly. In addition, reunion gatherings will be organized at appropriate times.

For these various aims to be realized, it is necessary that every member give his support to the committee in every possible way. This will be particularly difficult under the unsettled conditions produced by the war, but for this same reason, our associations among the alumni should be all the more valuable.

Remember to keep in touch with the executive in the future, in order that we may continue to enjoy the friendships of our undergraduate days.

Here's wishing the best of good fortune and happiness to all the Class of 4T2 throughout the years to come.

DENTISTRY

A Message from the Class of 4T2

SO HERE we are — bidding goodbye to the Dental College. Always will its memories be with us. From all points east and west we entered our college careers as garnet and blue Frosh, soon to realize that we had chosen the best course on the campus. For three years we endured long "clean" lab. coats as we journeyed from lecture to lab. Then we emerged to the Infirmary floor with intermingled doubts and fears, but a growing pride as we met our new patients. Here we were ably assisted by the Dental Nurses. To this year's class which has been "the best ever", we wish every success.

To us of the graduating year many events of this past year will be long remembered. Ernie Loaring's track meet in October started Dentistry events, with the innovation of having the Dental Nurses participate. And did you see those nurses' initiation togs which were displayed in the downtown news and one night even in the Royal York itself!

Dental Athletics have done well this year under the guidance of Jack Mullett who was voted the "Athlete of the Year" on the Varsity campus. Our outstanding social event, the At-Home, was well arranged by George Werry, the most musical member of our year. "Mac" Macdonald provided the spark for our year skit at Dentantics, which portrayed the humourous side of our professors. Then don't forget our stag dinners which brought students and professors together away from the clamour of work. Our Niagara trip was a notable event with an off-key glee club in a Grey Coach bus, all eager to inspect the Niagara Clinic of the Canadian Dental Corps.

Thanks are due to our hard-working year President, Don "Ash" Cheetham, who has acted as our able arbitrator with the Dental Corps.

So, as we near the portals of graduation, we sincerely thank all those professors who have moulded our careers at the Dental College, and to the present Fourth Year, we wish godspeed.

1. THE "UPTOWN TRIO" BETWEEN REHEARSALS.
2. OUR ONE AND ONLY "DOOLEY" AS THE AUTHOR.
3. INSPECTION AT SUMMER CAMP.
4. PUSHING THE BUS AT NIAGARA.
5. CLOSE UP OF THE FORT FRANCES FLASH AT WORK.
6. THE BIG BLUE BAND IN SESSION.
7. THE STARS OF DENTACTICS, "JOE" AND "EDDIE" IN A CRAP GAME.

DENTISTRY to the Members of the Graduating Class
By DEAN ARNOLD D. MASON, D.D.S.

Wherever that dynamic leader of the British Empire, the Right Honourable Winston Churchill, goes he leaves a confidence in the minds of the people that right will ultimately survive and that the United Nations will win through to Victory no matter how hard the trials nor how long the road. He leaves with us a resolute courage in the present and a spiritual faith in the future. Most of the New World is joined with the British Empire as well as with Russia and China to resist the aggressor and fight until the struggle is won and the United Nations become masters of their own destinies. In this conflict Canadians are taking their part quietly, thoughtfully and nobly. We are not entering into an adventure but heroically meeting the obligations which circumstances have imposed upon us.

You the students of this Graduating Class have worked hard and faithfully to prepare yourselves that you may take your place in the Canadian Dental Corps and do your part to lift this world out of the holocaust into which it has been submerged. The demand for dentists has been pressing and the need for your services is greater today than at any previous time. You have risen manfully by your response to the call. All of you who are physically fit are ready and anxious to do your part. The staff of this Faculty is proud of your decision and in the years of peace to come I know that none will ever regret that as young Canadians you chose the way of duty.

The services of those who do not meet the physical requirements are urgently needed in civilian practice, so the trail for them is clearly marked.

I think the members of this Class in Dental Nursing have shown good ability for their chosen profession and I believe they will give a good account of themselves in whatever services they undertake.

I hope that you are all given strength to fulfil your duties in these trying times and I know that you will measure up to your responsibilities.

PHARMACY

Message from the Class of 4T2

THE scene is a hushed classroom; the speaker, a man whose contribution to the Ontario College of Pharmacy has been far-reaching; his words, "love mercy, do justice, walk humbly". Thus the active career of Dr. Paul L. Scott drew to a close.

The students sat quietly, thinking back over two eventful years — years crowded with hard work, manly sport, and good fellowship.

Surely no class will carry away a more complete conception of the progress of O. C. P. During our first term we breathed the atmosphere of our preceptors; during our second term we were able to avail ourselves of the modern facilities that will produce the scientific pharmacist of tomorrow.

In sports, the students put forth their best effort in years. Pharmacy finished near the top in intramural standings, and all our teams were considered real threats.

We are a class graduating in troubled and uncertain times. To the great number who will be serving in His Majesty's forces we send the heartfelt wish for their safe and speedy return to the profession of which we are all so proud. To those on the home front, let them not forget the code of ethics and high ideals instilled in us at O. C. P.

1. Mid-way in a "B" lab period; Pete Broley winds up to serve a hot one.
2. Four serious would-be chemists await the ringing of the bell.
3. King Newell, king pin of the mortar and pestle, pauses during porphyrization.
4. Advance guard on the "qui vive".
5. Pat Quigley and Doris Kirch studying anatomy via "William's" torso.
6. Upper auditorium.
7. Ev. Leeper and Jean Mitchell, two good reasons why the lads found Pharmacy interesting.

PHARMACY to the Members of the Graduating Class
By R. O. HURST, DEAN

Alere flammam. Today throughout all the world the great torch of learning, of culture, and of civilization that has lighted man's pathway up through the ages is in deadly peril.

Today in those countries where the arch enemy is triumphant, men find their inspiration once more in brute force, and exult in wars and savagery as in the dark ages of the past. Those of you who in these hard and perilous times step forth freshly equipped from halls of learning owe a sacred duty to that knowledge which you have acquired. Some of you must now put aside for awhile the hard won tools of your profession and attend upon those first and simpler duties to which every man of high heart feels at such times as these. Your first allegiance is to attend to the defense of your home and country and assist in overthrowing the evil enemy.

To some of you this call may not come. Yours then it is to prepare for the future. You are young, you are alert, you have enthusiasm and vigor and it is for you to help lay the foundations of a new world. To build upon the knowledge you have acquired, to help guard the health of the community, to create in the minds of those younger men with whom you will be in touch as they enter your profession a desire for wider knowledge and more advanced studies and a profound respect for the heritage of pharmacy.

We hope with a good heart that a true peace may in not so long a time be here. Let us guard with vigilance the torch given us to hold, so that with religion, science and art we may create a great light to lighten our darkness and make safe the paths of peace.

FORESTRY

FACULTY OF FORESTRY to the Members of the Graduating Class
By G. G. COSENS, B.Sc.F., M.A.

The class of 1942, the thirty-fourth to graduate in Forestry, is unusual in that you have been together since your second year. No doubt like previous classes you will be dispersed over great distances, but many of the friendships that you have formed will continue through life to be a source of increasing enjoyment to you and in the years to come when you meet, often times in remote places, you will recall your class mates and your University and enjoy again the pleasure of your undergraduate days. The responsibilities of war and of peace will be thrown heavily on you who graduate at this time and much will be expected of you now and later. For the present there are two vitally important tasks in which we are engaged, one of active service with the armed forces and the other that of industrial production. Never has a graduating year been confronted with such opportunities.

In our wood-using industries of lumber and pulp and paper, where an essential contribution is being made both by the production of much needed materials and as one of the main sources of American exchange, and in various governmental services, many of our men are doing a splendid job. Many graduates and undergraduates are serving with the armed forces.

In the period of restoration to ways of peace Foresters throughout Canada can and will make a valuable contribution.

At this time you have the good wishes of your Faculty and your University.

ONTARIO VETERINARY COLLEGE

ONTARIO VETERINARY COLLEGE

to the Members of the Graduating Class

By PRINCIPAL C. D. McGILVRAY, M.D.V., D.V.Sc.

In "times like these" it is essential that we make full use of our best efforts and talents in every way possible to the end that the struggle we are engaged in for world freedom is successful. The professional training received by University students and graduates should increase their resourcefulness for many phases of service necessary for the attainment of victory. Likewise we must prepare for the peace which follows so that it will be lasting and ensure freedom in the best and fullest sense. In developing the things we consider important for our way of life the professional man should interest himself in the affairs of his community and government.

Freedom as we know it should be of a kind that permits us to express our honest thoughts and ideals and allow others to express theirs even if we do not entirely agree in all respects. We must be willing to assume added responsibilities not only for our own safety and rights but for the safety and rights of others. Human liberty and sanctity are both at stake in the present conflict, and the call has gone forth for total service to achieve victory.

Many may enlist to serve in the fields of actual conflict. Thousands of lives will be lost in the present struggle and our efforts will be incomplete unless we exemplify in every day life the things we know are right.

May I express the hope that you equip yourselves like men and "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all thy might."

Norman Shain
Wyoming, Ont.

Came to O.V.C. from London Central. C.O.T.C. agreed with Norm. and he took it in his stride. Worried some about not getting out with all the girls in Guelph, but with the aid of a few influential friends came close.

David C. Thompson (ΩTΣ)
Virden, Man.

A Westerner whose practical experience marks him for success. Quiet and reserved, yet is frequently seen in unexpected places. Interested in Pathology by necessity rather than desire. Will be remembered for his loyalty to the rest and the profession.

TEACHERS' COURSE

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION to the Members of the Graduating Class

By W. J. DUNLOP, B.A., B.Paed., Director of University Extension

On those who in June of this year go out into the world with degrees or diplomas or certificates awarded by the University there rests (it is really a platitude to say it) a responsibility of magnitude unprecedented in Canada's history. As the dedication of this year's Torontonensis truly says, "The University of Toronto is contributing in manifold ways to the success of the struggle for world freedom." From the Department of University Extension there will go out this year probably forty teachers who, while carrying on the duties of the classroom, have studied in the evenings to work their way towards the degree of Bachelor of Arts and have now reached that goal. Several of them are on active service with His Majesty's Forces. In the Course in Occupational Therapy there will probably be more than fifty graduates, all of them well prepared for war service either in Canada or overseas where twelve earlier graduates have preceded them. Graduate Physiotherapists, to the number of probably thirty, will also be equipped to assist in the war effort as eleven Physiotherapists from Ontario are now doing in Great Britain. In the two-year Diploma Course in Aerial Navigation there cannot be more than nine graduates this year because two-thirds of the large class of last year are serving their country and the Empire, chiefly as instructors in air training schools in Canada, though some are overseas. These nine will be prepared to render expert service either as instructors or as officers in the R.C.A.F. The one-year Certificate Course in Radio Technique will contribute to the great cause more than twenty-five graduates who have been training for the expert testing and inspection of secret war devices. Long before Commencement Exercises have begun, these graduates will be at work in war industries, doing work of the most important type.

With all these graduates go my best wishes for abundant success as they take their places in serving their country and the Empire.

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK

SOCIAL WORK to the Members of the Graduating Class
By STUART K. JAFFARY, M.A., Ph.D.

In this third year of world war, Canada is soberly girding herself for ever greater national effort. Long before the war the social services were recognized as important and necessary because of the complexity of modern life. Now, as old problems persist and new ones emerge, they have become essential parts of home defence and war effort. Furthermore, even in the midst of war, thought must be given to the future—the future for which we are fighting, for ourselves and for our children.

Never has Canadian social work faced such need and such opportunities for national service. The members of the graduating class of '42 are being eagerly sought to play their part. You will join the ranks of a profession hard pressed by a rapidly changing world, and wrestling with the perplexities inherent in the organization of new and vital areas of work. The profession faces its tasks, old and new, with renewed conviction of its worth, and freshly conscious of its destiny in human service, national and international.

To the members of Class '42 the Director and Staff of the School offer their congratulations and their sincere thanks for your loyal co-operation throughout two difficult years of the School's life. As you move out to your new professional activities we wish you Godspeed.

NURSING

NURSING to the Members of the Graduating Class

By MISS E. K. RUSSEL, B.A., B.Paed., D.C.L.

As the session 1941-42 draws to its close, there is no longer any doubt about the gigantic nature of this war. Everyone must play a part in the struggle, and it is indeed "in manifold ways" that this year's graduates will share in it. Are you not glad now that you can find immediate service in your chosen field of nursing? Some of you will hope for the privilege of wearing the King's uniform and, perhaps, to join medical units abroad; while others will serve at home where, also, the need for your work is very great. Our hope is that you will appreciate this double need, both at home and abroad, and be ready to fit, with entire generosity of spirit, into whatever opening occurs.

Wherever you are, will you take your place immediately with those who realize how hard, how sustained, how complete, the struggle must be before world freedom is secured. Thus, all your strength and power will be released for your work. It is a strangely serious substitute that we offer you in place of the happy, carefree graduation of former years; but I think you will not shrink from this privilege of service which is all that we can ask for you. Our heart-felt good wishes will go with you.

THE UNIVERSITY AND THE WAR

The Honorary Colonel's Message

By the direction of our military authorities we are carrying on at the same time our academic studies and our military training. All the physically fit men in the university are being definitely prepared for the defence of Canada, the Empire and the Great Cause, wherever the need is greatest. We can beat the enemy most thoroughly and most speedily by attacking him wherever he is and whenever the decisive moment comes. The task is desperately hard, but worthy of our best. Prepare yourselves for the struggle by keeping physically fit, by mastering your general and your specifically military studies, and by learning and realizing the great issues that are at stake. Humane, decent and Christian civilization is subjected to a deadly assault. On the issue of this fight, the better new world depends. Do your utmost, and may God defend the Right!

THE UNIVERSITY AND THE WAR

By John William Griffin

AS THE war effort being made by the Dominion has steadily increased with the passage of time, so has the contribution of the University of Toronto grown. Almost every phase of University life has been touched by the Empire's struggle. Not only has the University made the more obvious contributions of men and the training of men, but in an academic way it has made and is making an effort of great importance.

No less than eight University departments are engaged in research work on war problems. Such diverse fields as electrical engineering and psychology are of importance in this war and the great facilities at Varsity are being used to the fullest extent to provide the skilled knowledge industry and the armed forces require. Little can be said about what is being done in the laboratories, but, after the war is over, a truly romantic page in University history will be revealed that is barely suspected today.

One direct contribution that is being made to the services takes the form of courses in radio technique. The experts of the Department of Physics, for almost a year now, have been training young Naval ratings and airmen in the intricacies of the scientific wonders that will aid in the defeat of the enemy.

The war has brought a different appearance to the campus. On any week-day during the academic year fully one-third of the men seen in classes, in the library or elsewhere were in uniform. To these may be added also the Navy and Air Force men mentioned above, whose uniforms became a familiar sight around the campus. The Naval men lived in their own barracks and were transported to and from classes by trucks but the R.C.A.F. lads lived and ate on the campus. The three University Men's Residences on Devonshire Place and three of the houses at Victoria College's Burwash Hall were taken over by the Air Force as barracks. The men living in the former ate their meals in the Great Hall of Hart House.

The University has made other and varied contributions. The ladies of the staff, wives of faculty members, and others have done a great deal of valuable work, including the care of 145 British war guests.

Large numbers of faculty members have found their way into direct war service, some among the fighting troops, others as special consultants in such fields as personnel selection, psychology and external affairs. The Warden of Hart House continues on leave of absence as educational adviser to the troops of the Canadian Army Overseas.

The chief and best known representatives of the University's war-effort, however, continue to be the students-in-uniform of the C.O.T.C.

THE CANADIAN OFFICERS TRAINING CORPS

At the time of the Royal Visit, occasion of the last peace-time parade of the University of Toronto C.O.T.C., the Contingent had a strength of only 300 men. It occupied small quarters in a part of the building at 184 College Street, and had a permanent staff of only two, the late Regimental Sergeant-Major William Hunt, formerly of the Royal Welch Fusiliers, and the Orderly Room Sergeant, W. Baughurst, who is still with the unit and now a W.O. II.

From this small beginning the Contingent has, under the impetus of war, expanded to the point where it has put 2400 men, the strength of a brigade, into uniform. To staff the large establishment on St. George Street and the Training Centre's Orderly Room in Hart House requires six officers, six warrant officers and eight other ranks on a full time basis; some of these are on the Administrative and Training Staff as authorized for Reserve Units, others serve under Contingent arrangements.

During the summer before war broke out the Contingent was in the process of moving to its new quarters, a former residence to which a drill hall was added. The drill hall, which would have held the peace-time battalion drawn up in close column of companies with room to spare, in some cases has proved inadequate for even a company. During the past year a new wing was added to the south of the main building; the ground floor houses the "Q" Branch of the unit and the upper floor consists of a large lecture room capable of holding 200 as a maximum and something over 100 when seated around tables for map work.

As everyone who enters Hart House knows, the Reading Room has been converted into an Orderly Room for the Training Centre Battalion while the lecture rooms in many University buildings and the facilities of the University Avenue Armouries have been called into almost daily use, so pressing has been the problem of space.

Contingent Camp 1941

Since the last version of this article appeared in the 1941 Torontonensis the unit has spent a most useful twelve months. On June the eighth the two parts of the Contingent, the Officers Training Battalion and the Training Centre Battalion, embarked on the S.S. Cayuga and proceeded to Niagara-on-the-Lake. The two battalions, 1500 strong, marched into Camp Niagara to the stirring march music of the Brass Band and the spine-chilling skirl of the Pipe Band as the salute was taken by Colonel R. E. Smyth, D.S.O., M.C., Area Commandant.

There, through two long weeks of ideal June weather, the unit carried out its work. The Officers Training Battalion, with a camp strength of 875 (of whom 300 were graduates), was organized for training into Wings under the direction of the staff of the District School.

LIEUT.-COL. H. H. MADILL, V.D.
O.C., U. of T., C.O.T.C.

Much more equipment was available than was the case in 1940. The Infantry Wing, for example, was able to give a good grounding in the Bren Gun to all of its candidates and the Army Service Corps Wing had Army trucks at its disposal for use in field exercises. The year before the Cadets had had to use their own private automobiles for their convoy work on the roads of the Niagara Peninsula. The Signals Wing had a large amount of equipment at its disposal and was able to set up a Brigade Signal Section complete with switchboard apparatus, as one of the accompanying photographs shows.

For administrative purposes the battalion was organized into eight companies, the Training Centre Battalion into four; the twelve were numbered consecutively. Tent lines of the two units were contiguous and only the knowing eye could see where one began and the other ended. This, however, could give a false impression for the two battalions were operated as separate units for practically all purposes. Individual battalion and company stores were maintained and there was a Quartermaster and staff for each. The Contingent Quartermaster acted in his own capacity for the Officers Training Battalion, as did the Paymaster. Training Centre "Q" was under the late Captain Gordon Dalziel of the Queen's York Rangers and Major F. R. Crocombe was battalion Paymaster.

The work carried out by the Training Centre was, of course, much different than that of the senior battalion, though it could be likened considerably to the Infantry Wing. It might be well here to say a word about the aims of the two battalions.

The Officers Training Battalion, by definition, is designed to provide men of suitable type with the training needed to qualify for an appointment, with the King's Commission, to a Reserve Unit of the Canadian Army. Training is accordingly given in many arms of the service. Up until Christmas the work taken is common to all arms and the same examination is written at Christmas time by all candidates. After Christmas the special work of the arms is given to the respective Cadets and the special examination is written in March. The practical part of the work, to complete qualifications, is given at camp.

The Training Centre at Camp

The Training Centre Battalion, on the other hand, was organized under special arrangements with the Government, to give University students the equivalent of one month of military training annually, as required by the National Resources Mobilization Act.

The training given this unit at camp consisted of a continuous round of field exercises, map work, marches, firing on the range, anti-gas instruction, trench digging and other strenuous but all-too-necessary activities.

This outline should not give the impression that camp was all work. Opportunities were afforded for athletics, free time was available for little expeditions into the village and many a Cadet and trainee came away with pleasant memories of evenings spent sitting around entrances to tents serenading the dying light of day as the sun slowly sank in the west. Precisely at 2030 Hours (8.30 P.M. to the civilian) all would spring to attention as the flag was lowered and the bugle sounded Retreat; then the singing and joking would be resumed. Darkness came gradually each evening to the ancient elms and lovely green lawns of the old camp, with its outpost-of-Empire atmosphere.

In succession the bugle would sound First and Last Post and then, when the R.S.M. (watch in hand) gave the signal, the haunting strains of Lights Out would linger over the tent tops and lights one by one would disappear and merge with the darkness.

But all good things have to come to an end and thus, on the twenty-second of June, the unit broke camp. It was a fiercely hot day, how hot no one knew until Toronto was reached. The city seemed to swim in a mirage of humid air as the two battalions, one in the morning, one later in the day, marched resolutely up University Avenue in full battle-dress and wearing complete and loaded web equipment. At the front steps of University College the salute was taken by Brigadier-General C. H. Mitchell, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., retiring Dean of the Faculty of Applied Science and Engineering, in what was to prove his last public appearance. Immediately afterwards came the welcome words of dismissal and another year in the military history of the University of Toronto had come to an end.

The Training Year

When applications were finally closed in the autumn 800 were enrolled in the Officers Training Battalion, including 250 graduates. Artillery proved the most "popular" arm, having the largest enrollment. The battalion was organized in nine companies giving instruction in eight different arms of the service. No medical company was organized this year since all medical students are now taking their academic courses at a greatly intensified rate and, since all those medically fit will enter the services in any event, it was deemed wise not to make further demands on their time. They were required to register with one or the other of the two battalions but took a lecture course in military medicine in lieu of parades with the unit. In addition, a Wednesday night lecture course was conducted for officers and Cadets already qualified in the various arms; about 150 regularly attended.

Air Force Wing

The most unusual form of training with which the Contingent was concerned this year related to the Air Force Wing. Its formation was the result of an agreement with the R.C.A.F. whereby students could be given a measure of training for the Air Force while continuing with their University work. Candidates entered into an honourable undertaking to join the Air Force on the completion of their academic course. Training given was the equivalent of that taught in Initial Training Schools throughout Canada and those successful in the work will not be required to duplicate it on actually entering the service.

The Officers Training Corps handled the administrative end of the Wing but all training was given under Air Force auspices and by Air Force personnel. Uniforms similar in cut and colour to those of the R.C.A.F. were issued but with plain buttons and without either service or regimental badges. A special badge, that of the University Air Training Plan, is to be issued when available.

Since the training is that leading to Air Crew qualifications, each of the 70-odd members of the Wing wore the white distinguishing patch at the peak of his cap.

Stores a Problem

Some idea of the tremendous burden imposed on the Quartermaster and his staff is gained from knowledge of the fact that clothing was drawn from Ordnance for 2400 men and web equipment for 1600. The latter, of the Great War pattern, was used at camp but new pattern web will be issued for camp 1942. The new stores wing at Contingent Headquarters has room for all this matériel in neatly arranged bins and shelves. 2400 pairs of boots, which must last a Reserve unit five years, presented quite a problem of issue and re-issue. It was decided that, whenever a man turned in his boots at the end of a training year, they would be labelled with his name, provided he was returning to the Contingent the following autumn. Clothing is, by Army Regulations, cleaned before being re-issued.

Many Appointments to Units

The Government again during the past year stated its policy that University students should complete their academic work before joining the fighting forces. By taking training with an Officers Training Corps Contingent or with a Training Centre the normal call to service is postponed until the student obtains his degree. It is but an indication of the official recognition of the fact that the present war is one of minds rather than masses and that the trained man is worth more than the untrained man, even if one must wait for his services.

No one who knows the facts, who knows that in the December examinations the U. of T. Contingent candidates were sixty per cent successful despite stiff marking and who knows that from July 1st, 1941, to March 17th, 1942, no less than 260 members of the unit received appointments to commissions in the armed forces is likely to doubt the value of C.O.T.C. training. One Toronto Artillery Regiment has granted commissions to no fewer than 40 Cadets from the Varsity unit. The appointments by services and arms for the above mentioned period were as follows:

Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve	17	Various Infantry Units (Rifle)	97
Canadian Armoured Corps	35	Various Machine-Gun Units	16
Royal Canadian Artillery	42	Royal Canadian Army Service Corps	10
Royal Canadian Engineers	7	Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps	29
Royal Canadian Corps of Signals	7

In addition, 23 entered the Royal Canadian Air Force.

The Armoured Corps has accepted candidates qualified in any of the combatant arms but so great has been the number receiving appointments in that direction that it is the intention to organize an Armoured Corps Wing when the next training season begins.

Training Centre Battalion

LIEUT.-COL. W. S. WILSON, E.D.
O.C., U. of T. Training Centre

The Training Centre Battalion had an enrollment of 1500 during the training season that ended on March 14, in addition to the medical students taking military medicine. Organized into six companies, two types of training were given. One, given by "O" Company under the command of Major F. R. Crocombe, was advanced work and was only open to students who had already had thirty days' training. The remaining five companies embraced all others required to take training and gave them the initial recruit's work as taught in Basic Training Centres throughout the country. Those who go to camp after 1942 Graduation Exercises will receive the balance of the first month's training.

Inspections and Parades

In the period covered by this article the Contingent has undergone three General Inspections. During the period of camp the battalions were inspected by the Inspector-General of the Canadian Army for Eastern Canada, Major-General T. V. Anderson, D.S.O., and his staff, and by the District Officer Commanding, Major-General C. F. Constantine, D.S.O. On each occasion, at which the President of the University and Honorary Colonel of the Contingent, Dr. H. J. Cody, was also present, a formal review, inspection of ranks and march-past were carried out.

In February of this year the District Officer Commanding and members of his staff inspected the two battalions during training without a formal review.

On several occasions the two battalions have held public parades through the city streets. Reference has already been made to the gruelling march to the front campus on the return from camp. The most important other parade was that of November twenty-second when the Contingent, in conjunction with the other units of the Toronto Garrison and Navy and Air Force Detachments, held a long route march down University Avenue and past the saluting base.

The traditional service was held on the front campus on November 11. This year it was especially symbolic of the war effort that is being made by the University. Facing the steps of University College were the Officers Training Battalion and the Training Centre Battalion; flanking them on right and left were those members of the R.C.N.V.R. and R.C.A.F., respectively, who are taking technical courses at Varsity. Near the platform, from which the President read the names of the 27 officers and six other ranks who, up to that date, had fallen in the war, stood the Women's Service Training Detachment. It was a most solemn moment.

Officers' Mess

The huge number of men the unit took to camp made it impossible for officers and Cadets to eat together as was the case in 1940, nor, for other reasons, would such a course have been advisable. The officers of both battalions, accordingly, used the Officers' Mess of the District School, which is housed in a permanent building. One formal mess dinner was held at which the Area Commandant was the guest of honour.

Shortly before Christmas a social evening was held for the officers and their ladies in the Great Hall of Hart House at which motion pictures were shown and a most interesting talk delivered by Professor E. R. Arthur, who had shortly before returned from a trip to England made as a merchant seaman. This was the second social event of the kind, a tea having been held in the Music Room of Hart House following a November route march.

The Regimental Ball, for all ranks of both battalions, was held in January and proved to be. as always, one of the outstanding events of the University's social season. The Gymnasium was decorated for dancing with a huge map of the Empire on which was superimposed one of Mr. Churchill's more dramatic quotations; endless lines of marching men, cut out of white paper, patrolled the walls of the room. The D.O.C. honoured the Contingent with his presence and was piped in to supper in the Great Hall by the Pipe-Major and the Pipe-Sergeant.

On March 19 a formal mess dinner was held in the lecture room on the second floor of the new wing to the headquarters building. This room had been especially designed to serve this dual purpose.

During the past twelve months the Officers' Mess proper, on the ground floor of the main building, was finally finished. It is handsomely furnished with carpet, red leather furniture, coffee tables, piano and radio. Interesting pictures hang on the walls, the most notable being a portrait of the present Officer Commanding done in oils and presented to the Mess by Lieut. C. F. Comfort, an officer of the Contingent and Canadian artist of note.

During the year the officer personnel of the Contingent has been expanded to the point where each battalion now has almost its full complement of headquarters officers.

Including subalterns, there were 115 officers on the strength of the Contingent during the year.

Bands

The C.O.T.C. was fortunate this year in being able to operate two bands, so necessary for adequate training in marching and so colourful and helpful to morale.

The senior organization, the Brass Band, during the past year has had 55 regular members. Not only have these students practised long hours almost every week but they have also taken a good deal of regular military training as given under the Training Centre's syllabus.

For the first time in over a quarter of a century the Band was not under the direction of Captain John Slatter, V.D., of the 48th Highlanders. Pressure of other work made it impossible for Captain Slatter to continue. Up until Christmas the Bandmaster was Band-Sergeant Lionel Dent; since the holiday the Bandmaster has been Drum-Major George Lark.

The Pipe-Band has continued to operate this year under the leadership of Pipe-Major J. Reid, formerly of the Gordon Highlanders. Pipe-Major Reid organized the Band last year and took it to the unit camp where its services, together with those of a small portion of last year's Brass Band, were much appreciated.

WOMEN'S SERVICE TRAINING DETACHMENT

But this year, as last, the men have not been the only ones in uniform about the Varsity campus. The Women's Service Training Detachment was organized last year under the command of Miss A. E. M. Parkes, Secretary of the Women's Athletic Association, and it has continued under her direction.

By the time University opened in September the year-old unit had become formally recognized by the title of University of Toronto Detachment of the Canadian Red Cross Corps, though, for purposes of continuity, it continued to be known by the original name.

Training given to the 125 girls on the role was of five types. The Basic Course for the 75 new recruits consisted of drill, elementary first aid work, general A.R.P. activities and lectures on Red Cross history and organization and on the general functions of the armed services; these latter talks were also attended by those in the Advanced Courses.

Advanced Training

Advanced training was of four types and followed standard Red Cross Corps practice. The Transport Section was given an eight weeks' course (all courses consisted of one evening of instruction a week) in motor mechanics by the Ford Motor Company. This included instruction in running repairs, vehicle-maintenance, tire-changing and similar items; successful completion of the course gave a candidate a certificate granted by the company. Following this the transport girls took training in St. John's Ambulance work and stretcher drill which included a course leading to a first aid certificate.

MISS A. E. M. PARKES
Commandant, W.S.T.D.

The Nursing Auxiliary Section took two St. John courses each of which gained the successful applicant a certificate. These were a seven weeks' first aid course and six weeks of home nursing work. This section also received stretcher drill training.

The members of the Office Administration Section spent five weeks at Bell Telephone Company offices learning to operate a switchboard and put through long distance calls. Later, 11 weeks were taken up with a telegraphy course, some of the girls learning to send and receive Morse Code at a creditable rate of speed.

The Food Administration Section took an 18 weeks' course in emergency feeding and war-time nutrition. The girls in this course, all of them senior students in Household Economics or Household Science, supplemented their theoretical study with field work. Each of them spent a day in the Hart House Kitchens and made a long noon-hour visit to the kitchens of No. 1 Manning Depot, R.C.A.F.

All this training took considerable time. One long evening a week was given to these forms of specialized study and a short period was held one other evening a week for military drill. The writer feels that considerable credit is due to this small body of University women who have demonstrated in so worthwhile a manner that the men in the C.O.T.C. are not the only ones willing to give time and effort in preparing for a part in the Imperial war programme. One is struck by the utilitarian nature of the instruction given.

The unit was inspected before Christmas by Mrs. H. P. Plumptre, National Commandant of the C.R.C.C., and it took part in the Armistice Day services. On March 20 a public demontration was held in Hart House at which the President of the University inspected ranks and took the salute.

In addition to Miss Parkes, the Commandant, there were five other officers including the Second-in-Command, Miss J. M. Forster. The four platoon officers, each of whom was in charge of one of the four training sections, had all been sergeants the year before.

The Students' Administrative Council

EACH year of war has made necessary some slight change in the programme of the Students' Administrative Council and this year there have been one or two major re-adjustments, though little alteration in general routine.

The term opened quietly with most of the elected members back and ready to carry on. At the first meeting, Mr. Wm. M. Bowlen, U.C. '39, was elected President and has most ably filled his position. His services will be lost to the Council before the end of term as he goes on active service with the R.C.A.F.

The normal undertakings of the Council under their respective Standing Committees, the Employment Bureau, Loan Fund, Housing Service, the publications, Handbook, Varsity and Torontonensis, etc., all functioned as usual. Debating was confined to a tour sponsored by the University of Missouri, in which Mr. E. S. Kirkland, Vic IV, Vice-President of the Council, and Mr. D. M. Hayne, U.C. IV, represented this University.

At the first meeting a resolution was passed backing Dr. Cody's appeal for greater simplicity in social functions and more support for war projects. The usual dinner to the Varsity masthead was the only social function sponsored by the Council during the year, with the exception of the Convocation Garden Parties which will be held in June. Dr. and Mrs. Cody once again most kindly entertained the members of the Council at dinner in the Women's Union to open the term.

Donations were made to various activities from Council funds, notably the Mt. Allison University Fire Disaster Fund, the Women's War Service Committee, the newly formed Carnegie Record Committee, the S.C.M. Scholarship Committee and the I.S.S., through the March of Dimes. This latter was one of the major undertakings of the year and was important because it gave all students of the University a chance to work together and contribute to a worthwhile cause while it brought back to the campus some of the colour and college spirit of pre-war days. The idea was suggested to the Council by a group called the Victory Club and the International Student Service was chosen as the cause because of the work done for student prisoners-of-war by this organization. The day chosen was December 3rd and the site of the "March", the concrete pathway which bisects the circle in front of Hart House. The President was piped across from Simcoe Hall at 10 a.m. and laid down the first 350 dimes and from then till 6 p.m. there was a constant stream of donations from individuals and groups and an equally constant flow of "ballyhoo" and fun, even to a traditional School-Med. scrap. The objective was $1,000 and actually $1,012.60 was laid down and $172 subscribed later.

Special mention should be made of the Undergraduates' Loan Fund which, in adddition to providing the usual loans to students in the Senior years, this year was extended to cover a number of students in the lower years in Medicine who found it impossible to finance themselves due to the shortened holiday period. Something over $3,000 was loaned in this way and a large number of other students for whom special arrangements had to be made were interviewed by the committee.

At the end of February the Council lost for the duration of the war the highly valued services of Captain E. A. Macdonald, the general secretary-treasurer, who was selected by Army Headquarters in Ottawa for personnel work with the new Armored Division now being assembled. The students of the University will miss his constant help and advice but they realize from their own experience Capt. Macdonald's special qualifications for this type of work. In the ten years he has been with the Council it is safe to say that he personally has dealt with more men students than any other single individual in the whole university organization, and always in a friendly, sympathetic and yet wise way. Employment, loans, housing, financial and personal difficulties, the band, the orchestra, every type of college, faculty and University organization, all problems came to his door. In addition to his Council duties, for the three war years he has added the burden of C.O.T.C. lectures and for two years has acted as Adjutant of the large Training Centre Battalion. He even found time to give a course each year in Military Law and Organization to the women of the University Detachment of the Canadian Red Cross Corps. The best wishes of thousands of grateful graduates and undergraduates go with him in his new field of service.

The Associate Secretary, Miss A. E. M. Parkes, has been appointed Acting General Secretary-Treasurer. Professor Lorriman is continuing as one of the President's representatives, taking on certain duties in connection with the Finance Committee, and Professor W. J. T. Wright has been appointed by the President to replace Professor Chant, now on active service with the Air Force. Professor Wright is to act as a special adviser to men students in Capt. Macdonald's absence.

The International Debating Team

AT the request of the University of Missouri, the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto sent a debating team composed of D. M. Hayne, U.C. 4T2, and E. S. Kirkland, Vic. 4T2, on a 5,000-mile tour of the Middle Western and Southern United States. The Toronto team, chosen by the Debates Committee of the Council, was asked to debate the proposition: "Resolved that the United States should declare war immediately."

The debaters left Toronto on Sunday, November 9th, and spent that night in Chicago. Monday evening, after dining with Senator Berg of Iowa, they debated in Cedar Falls against the Iowa State Teachers' College.

On Wednesday morning, the two arrived in Austin, Texas. A warm sunny day was spent admiring the beautiful campus of the University of Texas, where they debated that night.

E. S. KIRKLAND D. M. HAYNE

Then north on Thursday to Wichita, Kansas, seat of the University of Wichita. A hurried train schedule afforded only a short visit after the debate, this time with a mixed team.

Friday afternoon the pair arrived in St. Louis, Missouri, to compete with Washington University. Here they were interviewed over radio station K.W.K. Following the debate they were guests of the University at its annual "Froshmore Prom."

The week-end was spent at the University of Missouri at Columbia. The Saturday evening debate was part of the program arranged for the "Homecoming" of the Alumni. Sunday noon the pair were entertained at lunch by the girls of Gamma Phi Beta and in the afternoon they had tea with Toronto graduates on the staff of the University.

On Monday they motored to Westminister College at Fulton for the last debate on the United States' entry into the war. Members of Kappa Alpha Fraternity were hosts at dinner before the debate.

The concluding debate was held in Iowa City at the State University of Iowa on Tuesday evening. The new subject was "Resolved, that the United States should initiate a reconstruction of the League of Nations." This debate was electrically transcribed, as was the Missouri debate, for reproduction in the Intercollegiate Debaters' Manual.

An all-day ride in a "streamliner" brought the pair to Chicago on Wednesday and so home to Toronto after a remarkable ten days of enjoyment of American hospitality and an insight into American thought on contemporary problems.

Torontonensis

WITH the addition of a new unit in the biography section, that of Radio Technique, we had expected that this year's Torontonensis would have been at least bigger, if not better, than its predecessor. For some unaccountable reason, our hopes for a two-volume edition were dashed, and thus we present it in a form slightly reduced from that of last year.

We feel that in several departments a decided improvement will be noticed. Particularly is this true of the Campus Life section, which aside from being enlarged, presents fewer and hence larger pictures on each page. The military section, again capably handled by John Griffin, was enlarged by necessity. The new grouping of fraternities under one heading we hope will meet with approval.

The loss of Captain E. A. Macdonald and A.C.2 Bill Smiley to the armed forces has been deeply felt, and our best wishes are extended to them as well as to those faculty representatives who also are now on active service.

Finally, a word of praise must be said of the work of the staff, board of editors and faculty representatives combined, without whose splendid co-operation Torontonensis, 1942, would not exist.

With a genuine feeling of nostalgia as the office key grates the Torontonensis door shut for the last time, we surrender the editorship with our best wishes (he'll need them) to Paul Deacon, Editor-in-chief elect for 1943.

The Varsity

THE UNIVERSITY'S third year at war found the undergraduate Newspaper continuing expansion rather than curtailing its activities for the added stress of military training was more than counterbalanced by renewed energy on the part of the staff, and by an increase in campus news.

Highlight of the year was The Varsity's "Black Issue" appearing just before Christmas, which depicted in striking form a hypothetical Nazi-Japanese conquest of Canada, and demonstrated the immediate consequences of such a conquest on the university campus. Product of months of study and research as well as vivid imagination, it attempted to bring home to students the fact that, since Hitler had placed universities among his worst enemies, university students should play a leading role in the fight against Nazism.

The remainder of the year was devoted to weeding out repetitive "dance advances" and the substitution of new columns and news garnered from a wider front. In February, an extensive poll of readers' opinion was taken, giving readers a chance to express their views about the paper and make suggestions as to its improvement.

Basic editorial policy was to publicize, stimulate, co-ordinate and criticize the university's war effort, and such student efforts as the "March of Dimes" campaign were given warm support. Some attempt at encouraging thought on post-war reconstruction was also made, reconstruction essays being given top billing in the annual literary issue.

For the third successive year, The Varsity served as President of the Canadian University Press, and a conference of CUP members of the Central Region was held at Montreal, December 20-22. News Editor Michael O'Mara won the staff vote from a field of six and was appointed Editor-in-Chief for 1942-43.

The University Chemical Club

THE University Chemical Club was founded in 1895. In 1919 its membership was extended to include undergraduates as well as graduates. Since that time the management of the club has been in the hands of the Undergraduates.

The Club's activities consist of regular meetings at which addresses are given by distinguished speakers, trips to chemical plants and occasional social activities.

Despite the fact that war conditions have made it impossible to obtain permission to visit many of our Industrial plants, successful trips were made to the Kauffman Rubber Co., Kitchener; Proctor and Gamble, Hamilton; and Research Enterprises, Leaside, Ontario.

The stag party which was inaugurated last year was held again this year and proved to be a decided success to both students and professors.

The purpose of the Club is to provide closer association between staff and students and to give its members an insight into the work of Chemistry in Industry.

A successful season was climaxed by the Annual Banquet held this year in the U. C. Jr. Common Room.

The Commerce Club

COMMERCE and Finance contains students from several different colleges, yet a spirit of unity has arisen among them which transcends the boundaries of college affiliations and has created a bond of common fellowship. The heart of this spirit is the Commerce Club which in recent years has made special efforts to develop and maintain such a feeling. Last year the Club was rejuvinated by the re-organization and policies of a capable and aggressive executive, paving the way this year for an enthusiastic active membership of over 150.

The purpose of the Club is to create an interest in commerce, to serve as a link between the grads and undergrads, and to act as the official representative of the Commerce and Finance course. These functions are carried out by the numerous club activities which include luncheons at Diana's with guest speakers, a special Christmas "jazz" luncheon, stags, informal dances, an annual banquet, and golf, squash and ping-pong tournaments. The official publication of the club, The Commerce Journal, last year graduated from a small 30 page pamphlet to an important journal on practical economics with over 100 pages. This year The Journal has been further expanded. It contains contributions from the University Extension Department's Advertising and Sales Club lectures and articles from members of the Department of Economics.

As a result of the enthusiasm developed last year, the graduates of 4T1 have formed an Alumni Club which, despite losses of its members to military and connubial service, has maintained an active programme and has participated in several of the undergraduate club's functions.

Teachers' Course Association

DESPITE the decreased enrolment, the social activities organized by the association for the Summer and Winter Sessions continued to be of the same high calibre as they have been in the past. Over five hundred and sixty students were enrolled in the Teachers' Course during the two sessions.

A highly successful reception at Hart House marked the opening of the Summer Session in July; the annual boat trip across the Lake was again enthusiastically attended, and the Theatre Party at the Royal Alexandra proved totally enjoyable. The teachers won again in the Baseball League against another summer course group and the season's social functions were rounded out with the Informal Dance held at Casa Loma.

The Winter Session activities opened with the Fall Dance at Malloney's Art Galleries, followed by the Theatre Party at Hart House where a Gilbert and Sullivan Operetta by the Victoria College Music Club was thoroughly enjoyed, and after which the members met at Diana's for refreshments. In the Spring the Annual Banquet was held at the Oak Room of the Union Station with a prominent speaker giving the address; followed by the Spring Informal Dance to complete the season's affairs.

The Scholarship Fund continued to serve the members of the Course, and maintained its financially sound position during the year.

Newman Club

NEWMAN CLUB, of the University of Toronto, belongs to the Federation of such Clubs comprising some 350 on the North American Continent. It evolved around the idea of a Catholic Centre in University life and began at the University of Philadelphia in 1893. Its name is a compliment to the learning and zeal of the great English convert, John Henry, Cardinal Newman.

The government of the Club in Toronto is in charge of a resident Chaplain, appointed by His Grace, the Archbishop, and a yearly Executive of students chosen by popular election. This managerial body guides the activities of the Club through its various phases of religious, intellectual and social pursuits.

Its growth during the season 1941-42 to an all time high of 265 active members bespeaks the zealous administration of the interested committees which tried to satisfy all types of human culture: dramatic, debating, study, lectures, art, music, student choir, gavoting, etc., all of which play a very important part in this Catholic heart of thought and action.

The Student Christian Movement

THE Student Christian Movement in the University of Toronto is a fellowship of students who seek through prayer, study, and action to find and test the way of life of Jesus; believing that in Him are found the supreme revelation of God, and the means to the full realization of life.

The Toronto Movement together with similar fellowships in all the other Canadian Universities comprise the Student Christian Movement of Canada and through it enjoys membership in the World's Student Christian Federation. The value which the local Movement derives from the broadening influence of these associations cannot be overestimated.

Through worship, study-groups, lectures, and conferences the S.C.M. offers students an opportunity for an intelligent scrutiny of the fundamental problems of life, in the particular terminology of their own student generation. Graduates of the University who have passed through the Movement should take their place in the community as able leaders of Christian opinion.

The burden of initiative and responsibility for programme in the Toronto Movement rests on the executive committees in the several Colleges and faculties. Co-ordination of the activity of these committees and the planning of an All-University programme is effected by a Central Council representative of the local units.

Of special interest this year were the arrival of the Rev. Arnold S. Nash in March to become senior Secretary with special responsibility for Hart House; the National Conference held at Aurora, December 27-31 in celebration of the Twenty-first Anniversary of the founding of the Movement; a service in Knox Chapel on the World's Day of Prayer for students at which Rev. Robert Mackie preached and in which Rev. John Lusk, Chaplain R.A.F., assisted; the circulation of a petition to the Ontario Government for the provision of scholarships to needy students.

The Varsity Christian Fellowship

THE Varsity Christian Fellowship is a branch of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship which originated in the Universities of Great Britain in 1877. The organization now embraces groups of Christian students throughout the world. Closely affiliated with the I.V.C.F. in Canada is the Inter-School Christian Fellowship, with branches in many of the Secondary Schools.

The Fellowship is founded on the historic fact that God has revealed Himself in the life, death and resurrection of His Son Jesus Christ, by whom we are reconciled to God; for through personal faith in Him we have forgiveness of sins and a new and joyful life-purpose in the will of God. The aim of the Fellowship is to make this faith significant and vital in a practical way, and to witness to the reality and power of the Saviour in every relationship of life.

Reliance upon God in prayer is the dynamic behind all Fellowship activities on the campus; prayer groups, open to all faculties, meet daily from 1.40 to 1.55 p.m. in both University and Victoria Colleges. Weekly Bible Study, Missionary and discussion groups help students to understand more clearly the great truths of the Christian faith, to resolve intellectual problems and to deepen their spiritual lives. Prominent speakers are secured for Sunday teas, fireside sing-songs, open meetings and noon addresses.

Special features of this year's activity have been: the Fall Week-End Conference at Toronto Centre Island; the Week of Addresses by Melvin V. Donald on the theme, "Christ on Our Campus"; the two-week visit of David Adeney, missionary from China, culminating in the Missionary Conference; the Toronto Rally, led by men from the R.A.F.; the Noon-Hour Series, "Has Religion an Answer", led by E. L. Simmonds. Missionary project this year has been to contribute money for the support of evangelistic work among students in Chinese Universities.

Many students are finding that the programme of the Fellowship fills a real need in their lives, and we trust that in the coming years God may use our witness more effectively for the extension of His Kingdom.

The Women's Interfaculty Debating Union

THE Women's Interfaculty Debating Union is composed of the four colleges—Victoria, University College, Trinity, and St. Michael's. The purpose of the organization is to promote debating among the women of the University. The executive of the Union is constituted by two representatives from each of the four colleges. The organization of the debating activities of the University women is done by this executive. Each year a schedule of interfaculty debates between the constituent colleges in competition for the Women's Interfaculty Debating Union Shield is arranged. In this year's schedule the first debate was between Victoria and Trinity. The loser, Victoria, then debated University College, and won. Two more debates will decide the possession of the shield, won last year, 1940-41, by Trinity College.

Another part of the year's debating activities is Toronto's participation in the Intercollegiate Debates in which McGill, Queen's, McMaster and Toronto take part. Each university has four representatives. This year Gerrie Wilson and Lillian Callaghan debated here for Toronto but were defeated by McMaster's team. Our representatives at Queen's, Margaret Dillon and Mary Skeeles won the decision, then McMaster gained the Intercollegiate Trophy for 1941-42.

The interest of many women in debating and the high quality of the debating done encourages the Women's Interfaculty Debating Union to look forward to another successful year of Varsity debating.

HART HOUSE

Hart House

THE FOUNDERS' PRAYER

"The Prayer of the Founders is that Hart House under the guidance of its Warden, may serve in the generations to come the highest interests of this University by drawing into a common fellowship the members of the several Colleges and Faculties, and by gathering into a true society the teacher and the student, the graduate and the undergraduate; further, that the members of Hart House may discover within its walls the true education that is to be found in good fellowship, in friendly disputation and debate, in the conversation of wise and earnest men, in music, pictures and the play, in the casual book, in sports and games and the mastery of the body; and lastly, that just as in the days of war this House was devoted to the training in arms of the young soldier, so in the time of peace its halls may be dedicated to the task of arming youth with strength and suppleness of limb, with clarity of mind and depth of understanding, and with a spirit of true religion and high endeavour."

HART HOUSE is so called in memory of the late Hart Massey. Begun in 1911, it was completed in 1919 and presented, fully equipped, to the University of Toronto by the Trustees of the Massey Foundation. To the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Chairman of the Massey Foundation, is due the idea of Hart House, as well as the form it assumed under his personal supervision. From the autumn of 1914 until November, 1918, it was used for military purposes and within its walls thousands of men were trained for service overseas. On the first anniversary of the Armistice (11th November, 1919) Hart House was formally opened by His Excellency the Duke of Devonshire, who was at that time the Governor-General of Canada. The late Mr. Henry Sproatt and Mr. Ernest Rolph were the architects of the building which comes as near to meeting the requirements of the ideal house for student activities as any on this continent or perhaps in the world.

In its widest interpretation Hart House, which is for the use of men only and is non-residential, seeks to provide for all the activities of the undergraduate's life which lie outside the actual lecture rooms. Architecturally of great beauty and built round a quadrangle, Hart House is unique in that it houses under one roof a finely proportioned hall, common-rooms of every description, a library, debates room, music room, a small Chapel together with rooms for the use of the Student Christian Movement, an art gallery, a print room and an arts and crafts room, photographic rooms, a billiard room, squash courts, an indoor rifle range, senior common-rooms for both faculty and graduate members, a few bedrooms for guests, the office and private rooms of the Warden, offices of the Comptroller's department, and in the athletic wing an upper and lower gymnasium both admirably equipped, separate rooms for boxing, wrestling and fencing, an indoor running track, a room for rowing practice, a large swimming pool and the offices of the Financial Secretary of the Athletic Association and the Director of Athletics. Below the quadrangle is a fully equipped theatre with foyer, green room, dressing rooms, wardrobe and the office of the Director of the Theatre. Every male undergraduate of the University is required to be a member of Hart House towards the upkeep of which he pays an annual fee of twelve dollars. The House has no endowment and these fees are its chief source of revenue.

The gymnasia, swimming pool and locker rooms are under the control and direction of the Athletic Directorate through Mr. T. A. Reed, Financial Secretary of the Athletic Association.

With the presence in the University of a large group of men of the Royal Canadian Air Force, taking the radio technician's course, the contribution that Hart House has been able to make to Canada's war effort has been greatly increased. In May 1941 five hundred airmen began taking all their meals in Hart House, using some of the University residences as barracks. With the return of the undergraduates in September, however, the number that Hart House could accommodate was reduced to two hundred. In addition to taking their meals in the Great Hall, the men of the University of Toronto Detachment are allowed full use of the House and a number of dances have been held for them in the House. The Squash Racquets Committee have also placed a couple of racquets at the disposal of any members of the Air Force wishing to play this game and these racquets have been much in demand.

The University of Toronto C.O.T.C. Training Centre Battalion have again this year continued to use the reading room as an Orderly Room, the C.O.T.C. stores are in the golf room, and various rooms in the House have been used for lectures to military groups. Officers of the C.O.T.C. have a table reserved for their use at luncheon in the graduate dining-room. Senior members of Hart House in good standing, who go on active service, are being continued as honorary members for the duration of the war. Temporary membership has been granted to a number of officers of the armed forces on active service in Toronto and to groups of Norwegian officers. In addition, every possible courtesy has been extended to members of His Majesty's Forces in regard to admission to the House on the occasion of Sunday Evening Concerts and on Visitors' Days.

The care of Hart House and its welfare have to a large extent been entrusted to the undergraduates themselves. There are a number of standing and special -committees, the personnel and duties of which, subject to the authority of the Board of Stewards, are given below. It has been the aim of these committees to ensure so far as possible the continuance of the normal activities of Hart House during war-time when, it is felt, they are of even greater necessity in the life of the student. Though military training schedules have taken up much of the undergraduates' free time, the facilities of the House have been used to a much greater extent although some of the activities have been curtailed.

HOUSE COMMITTEE

The House Committee are concerned with the general management and social activities of Hart House. They deal with all matters which make for the comfort and convenience of members. The tuck shop, billiard room, and barber shop come under their supervision. They are responsible to the Board of Stewards for seeing that the structure itself and all equipment are maintained in good repair. This committee are also directly concerned with the operation of the Great Hall both as regards the daily meals served to members and the large number of special functions and dinners. One of their main duties is to act as a link between the undergraduates and the Superintendent of the Great Hall. The House Committee are represented on the Board of Directors of the University Settlement and members of the committee entertain the Settlement in the House each year at Christmas time. Arrangements for the All University Fall Dance which is the first large informal dance of the year are also carried out under their guidance. They are also responsible for the management of the annual elections of the Hart House committees in March.

The members of the House Committee for 1941-1942 are: Professor T. M. C. Taylor, Chairman; the Acting Warden, the Rev. G. B. Flahiff, Mr. A. G. Rankin, graduate representative; the Acting Comptroller, A. S. Mallon, Ontario College of Education representative; J. H. Mullett, Athletic Association representative; H. F. Bradshaw, L. H. Chapman, P. S. Deacon, L. R. Dent, W. B. Edmonds, J. R. Flagler, D. Fraser, D. G. Magee, T. W. Nixon, G. I. Purvis, and M. A. Murphy, Secretary.

LIBRARY COMMITTEE

The library in Hart House is recognised as one of the most beautiful rooms in the whole building.

In accordance with the idea of the Founders, the Library Committee have from the very first been engaged in the building up of a collection of books such as might be found in a good private library and the room has always been a popular resort for all who like to spend their leisure hours reading the casual book.

At present there are over four thousand volumes on the shelves about half of which are fiction while the rest are composed chiefly of biography, history, language and general literature. Additions to the library are made at regular intervals and the activities of the committee are mainly centred around the selection of new books for purchase. They are also making a valuable collection of private press books which are shown in a display case in the library. "Library Evenings" are held from time to time when a selected speaker chats on his own leisure reading and a discussion follows.

The Library Committee are also responsible for the wide range of weekly and monthly journals in the reading room.

The members of the Library Committee for 1941-1942 are: Professor N. J. Endicott, Chairman; the Acting Warden, Dr. A. E. Barker, Mr. D. C. Wells, graduate representative; H. G. Christie, Curator; R. A. J. Phillips, retiring Curator; S. C. Best, K. A. Doyle, M. G. Hardy, H. D. Hodgson, F. F. Knight, J. C. Phillips, B. G. Rowsell, D. E. Stewart, F. L. C. Stinson, and V. G. H. Johnson, Secretary.

MUSIC COMMITTEE

The Music Committee supervise all the musical activities of the House, the chief of which is the series of eight Sunday Evening Concerts. The musicians of the city most generously provide programmes on these occasions as friends of Hart House. This season concerts were given by the following artists: Kathleen Parlow, violinist, and Sir Ernest MacMillan, pianist (Sonata Recital); Eric Tredwell, baritone; Margaret Brown, pianist; The Hart House Quartet and Robert Rogers, clarinetist, (Mozart Programme); Dr. Healey Willan, pianist, and Elie Spivak, violinist (XVII and XVIII Century Music); Kathleen Busby, soprano, and Jean Letourneau, tenor, with Jessie Instone at the piano; Marion Grudeff, pianist; and the Hart House Glee Club. The committee also arrange a group of Informal Recitals in the east common-room at the noon-hour by outstanding musicians among the undergraduate members. Seven took place this year on alternate Tuesdays. Four Sunday Evening Songsters were also held, under the direction of Mr. J. Campbell-McInnes. In March, when the nineteenth annual performance of the Bach St. Matthew Passion was given in Convocation Hall by The Conservatory Choir and The Toronto Symphony Orchestra, the Music Committee assisted with the sale of student tickets and with ushering.

The members of the Music Committee for 1941-1942 are: Dr. A. M. Wynne, Chairman; the Acting Warden, Professor I. R. Pounder, Sir Ernest MacMillan, Mr. F. R. MacKelcan, graduate representative; A. F. Allman, J. L. M. Bean, T. E. Hunt, G. Luchak, D. C. F. Miller, D. S. Moir, G. R. Paterson, A. J. Thomson, P. B. Whitehead, J. C. Garrett, and R. M. Belyea, Secretary.

ART COMMITTEE

The activities of the Art Committee include the holding of exhibitions in the gallery and the print room, the organising of weekly art classes and informal discussions on art in the gallery. The committee in conjunction with an Advisory Committee of Artists are also responsible for the purchase of pictures.

The exhibitions during the year have included the work of Dr. A. Y. Jackson, Carl Schaefer, Clarence Chong, and Bertram Brooker. Other showings included work by the Studio Group, the School of Architecture, the Department of Fine Art, a group of Toronto artists, a group of Canadian portrait artists, the annual exhibition of photographs by the Camera Committee, photographs by John Fleetwood-Morrow, the work of undergraduate members, the work of graduate members and members of the faculty, and an exhibition in April consisting entirely of work done by the Hart House art class during the winter. Noon-hour reviews of the majority of these exhibitions were given by the artists concerned.

There have also been many interesting exhibitions displayed in the print room during the year. Outstanding among these were the original drawings of Thoreau MacDonald, created as illustrations for the book "Maria Chapdelaine" by Louis Hémon, which were reviewed by Dr. Lorne Pierce, and original sketches by Arthur Lismer, reviewed by Dr. J. D. Robins.

This year Mr. Carl Schaefer was once more in charge of the art class after spending a year in the United States on a Guggenheim Fellowship. Mr. P. M. Gardiner acted as Keeper of the Prints and was assisted in this capacity by Mr. W. M. Nicholls.

"Beech Tree' by J. W. Beatty, "Snow Clouds" by Frank Carmichael, and "October Morning, Algoma" by Dr. A. Y. Jackson, were loaned to the Art Gallery of Toronto during the year.

The members of the Art Committee for 1941-1942 are: Mr. R. G. Riddell, Chairman; the Acting Warden, Dr. R. E. Haist, Mr. C. F. Comfort, P. M. Gardiner, Keeper of the Prints; W. M. Nicholls, Assistant Keeper of the Prints; W. S. Brown, W. S. A. Dale, T. E. Dennison, R. C. Fairfield, J. F. Flinn, H. E. Leyland, G. R. Macdougall, R. F. Noeth, and W. Shulman, Secretary.

CAMERA COMMITTEE

The Camera Committee, which is a special committee of Hart House, are responsible for the management of the dark rooms, the care of photographic equipment and the general encouragement of photography among the members of the House. The annual exhibition of photographic work by members of the House, arranged by this committee, took place in January when eighty of the one hundred and thirty prints submitted were hung, together with 39 colour transparencies. Each year the committee select a few outstanding prints from the annual exhibition for a permanent collection owned by Hart House.

In the fall the committee explain to beginners the use of the valuable equipment in the rooms and give instruction in various phases of photographic work.

The members of the Camera Committee for 1941-1942 are: Professor A. F. Coventry, Chairman; the Acting Warden, Mr. J. R. Macdonald, graduate representative; the Acting Comptroller, A. J. C. Bates, E. B. Cahoon, J. E. Harvey, C. H. Heys, D. K. Jackson, and A. G. W. Lamont, Secretary.

SQUASH RACQUETS COMMITTEE

The Squash Racquets Committee are responsible for the general control of the Squash courts and the arrangement of matches with outside clubs. They also arrange the individual tournament and are in touch with the Intramural Sports Committee regarding the tournament arranged by that body. This year the regular activities of the Ontario and Canadian Squash Racquets Associations, in which Hart House has always been represented, have again been suspended because of the war.

During the year matches were played with the Granite Club, the Hamilton Squash Club, and the Buffalo Y.M.C.A. Four representatives from Hart House accepted the invitation of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association to participate in the Quebec Invitation Tournament with one of our players reaching the finals and another the semi-finals.

As in the past few years the Squash Racquets Committee have again provided racquets for the use of beginners to encourage interest in the game, and also for men of the Royal Canadian Air Force, University of Toronto Detachment.

The members of the Squash Racquets Committee for 1941-1942 are: Mr. A. B. Fennell, Chairman; the Acting Warden, Dr. R. Richmond, graduate representative; W. A. H. McPhedran, R. E. Mullin, R. T. M. Tamblyn, A. Tosoni, and L. F. P. Fitzpatrick, Secretary.

DEBATES COMMITTEE

During the past three years it has been thought wiser to suspend debates. It was clear that at such a time of crisis debates could not avoid being concerned directly or indirectly with the war and the rigid censorship regulations made such discussions difficult, especially in view of the wide publicity which Hart House debates have always received in the press. A committee has been elected each year however in the event that circumstances might warrant the resumption of debates and the members for 1941-1942 are: Professor C. A. Ashley, Chairman; the Acting Warden, Professor A. F. W. Plumptre, Mr. G. A. McGillivray and Mr. J. L. Wilson, graduate representatives; J. A. Cameron, L. G. Cowan, T. E. Hull, H. D. Skirrow, W. L. N. Somerville, J. J. Wilpers, J. E. Wolfraim, and L. S. Albright, Secretary.

GLEE CLUB COMMITTEE

The Glee Club Committee supervise the activities of the Hart House Glee Club which is under the inspiring leadership of Dr. Charles Peaker. Despite the difficulties of arranging times for rehearsal which would not conflict with military training and the resulting smaller membership, the Glee Club have had a thoroughly satisfactory year.

Their programme has included the usual midday carol singing in the Great Hall before Christmas, a coast-to-coast broadcast of these carols over the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation from the Hall, and the annual Sunday Evening Concert on 1st March in Hart House.

The members of the Glee Club Committee for 1941-1942 are: Dr. A. M. Wynne, Chairman; the Acting Warden, the Rev. Dr. W. H. Grant, graduate representative; Dr. Charles Peaker, Conductor; the Assistant Secretary of Hart House, R. M. Belyea, Secretary of the Music Committee; J. D. Black, H. F. Brown, W. H. F. Kennedy, R. W. Willoughby, and J. L. MacDowell, Secretary.

GRADUATE COMMITTEE

The Graduate Committee are responsible for the activities of the senior members of the House both faculty and graduate. These include "Grad Sports Nights", held every Tuesday, and "Grad Club Nights", when the members dine together, a guest speaker is present, and afterwards the House is open to members and their friends. The Revolver Club also comes under the aegis of the Graduate Committee and has aroused much interest among the members especially since the outbreak of war. The graduate dining-room, reading room and north common-room also come under the supervision of this committee.

During the past year the Graduate Committee have extended the privilege of temporary membership in Hart House to all officers of His Majesty's Forces as well as those of the Royal Norwegian Air Force stationed at "Little Norway".

The members of the Graduate Committee for 1941-1942 are: Mr. A. S. Burton, Chairman; the Acting Warden, R. H. Hillery, E. F. Hinch, B. L. McEvoy, N. R. McKibbin, N. F. Mallon, D. B. Murray, J. E. O'Brien, the Acting Comptroller, the Assistant Secretary, and R. W. Thompson, Secretary.

BOARD OF STEWARDS

The Board of Stewards is the governing body of the House and on it sit undergraduate, graduate and faculty representatives. The senior membership consists of two representatives of the President of the University, one representative of the Board of Governors, the Secretary of the Faculty Union and the Financial Secretary of the Athletic Association. The Chairman of the Graduate Committee represents the interests of the graduate members. The undergraduates on the Board are the Secretaries of the House, Library, Music, Art, Squash Racquets and Debates Committees as well as one representative each appointed by the Student Christian Movement, the Students' Administrative Council and the Athletic Directorate. The Board is assisted by a Finance Committee which make recommendations with regard to financial matters.

The general supervision of the House is entrusted to the Warden who is appointed by the Board of Governors of the University and is ex-officio chairman of the Board of Stewards: he is assisted by the Comptroller of Hart House, J. R. Gilley, S.P.S. '21; the Assistant Comptroller, W. R. Cowan, S.P.S. '24; the Secretary of Hart House, R. W. Thompson, University College '40; and the Assistant Secretary, E. A. Wilkinson, Victoria '38.

The Warden, Mr. J. B. Bickersteth, has been engaged in educational work with the Canadian troops in England since September 1940. Mr. J. R. Gilley has been Acting Warden and Mr. W. R. Cowan Acting Comptroller in his absence.

The members of the Board of Stewards for 1941-1942 are: the Warden, Chairman ex-officio; the Rev. Dr. H. J. Cody, the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, representative of the Board of Governors; Professor H. Wasteneys and Professor K. B. Jackson, representatives of the President; T. A. Reed, Financial Secretary of the Athletic Association; A. G. Burns, Faculty Union; A. S. Burton, Graduate Committee; R. Hill, Student Christian Movement; D. G. Finlayson, Athletic Directorate; J. B. MacDonald and G. A. Gould, Students' Administrative Council; M. A. Murphy, House Committee; V. G. H. Johnson, Library Committee; R. M. Belyea and P. B. Whitehead, Music Committee; W. Shulman, Art Committee; L. F. P. Fitzpatrick, Squash Racquets Committee; L. S. Albright, Debates Committee; and J. R. Gilley, the Comptroller, Secretary.

THE STUDENT CHRISTIAN MOVEMENT

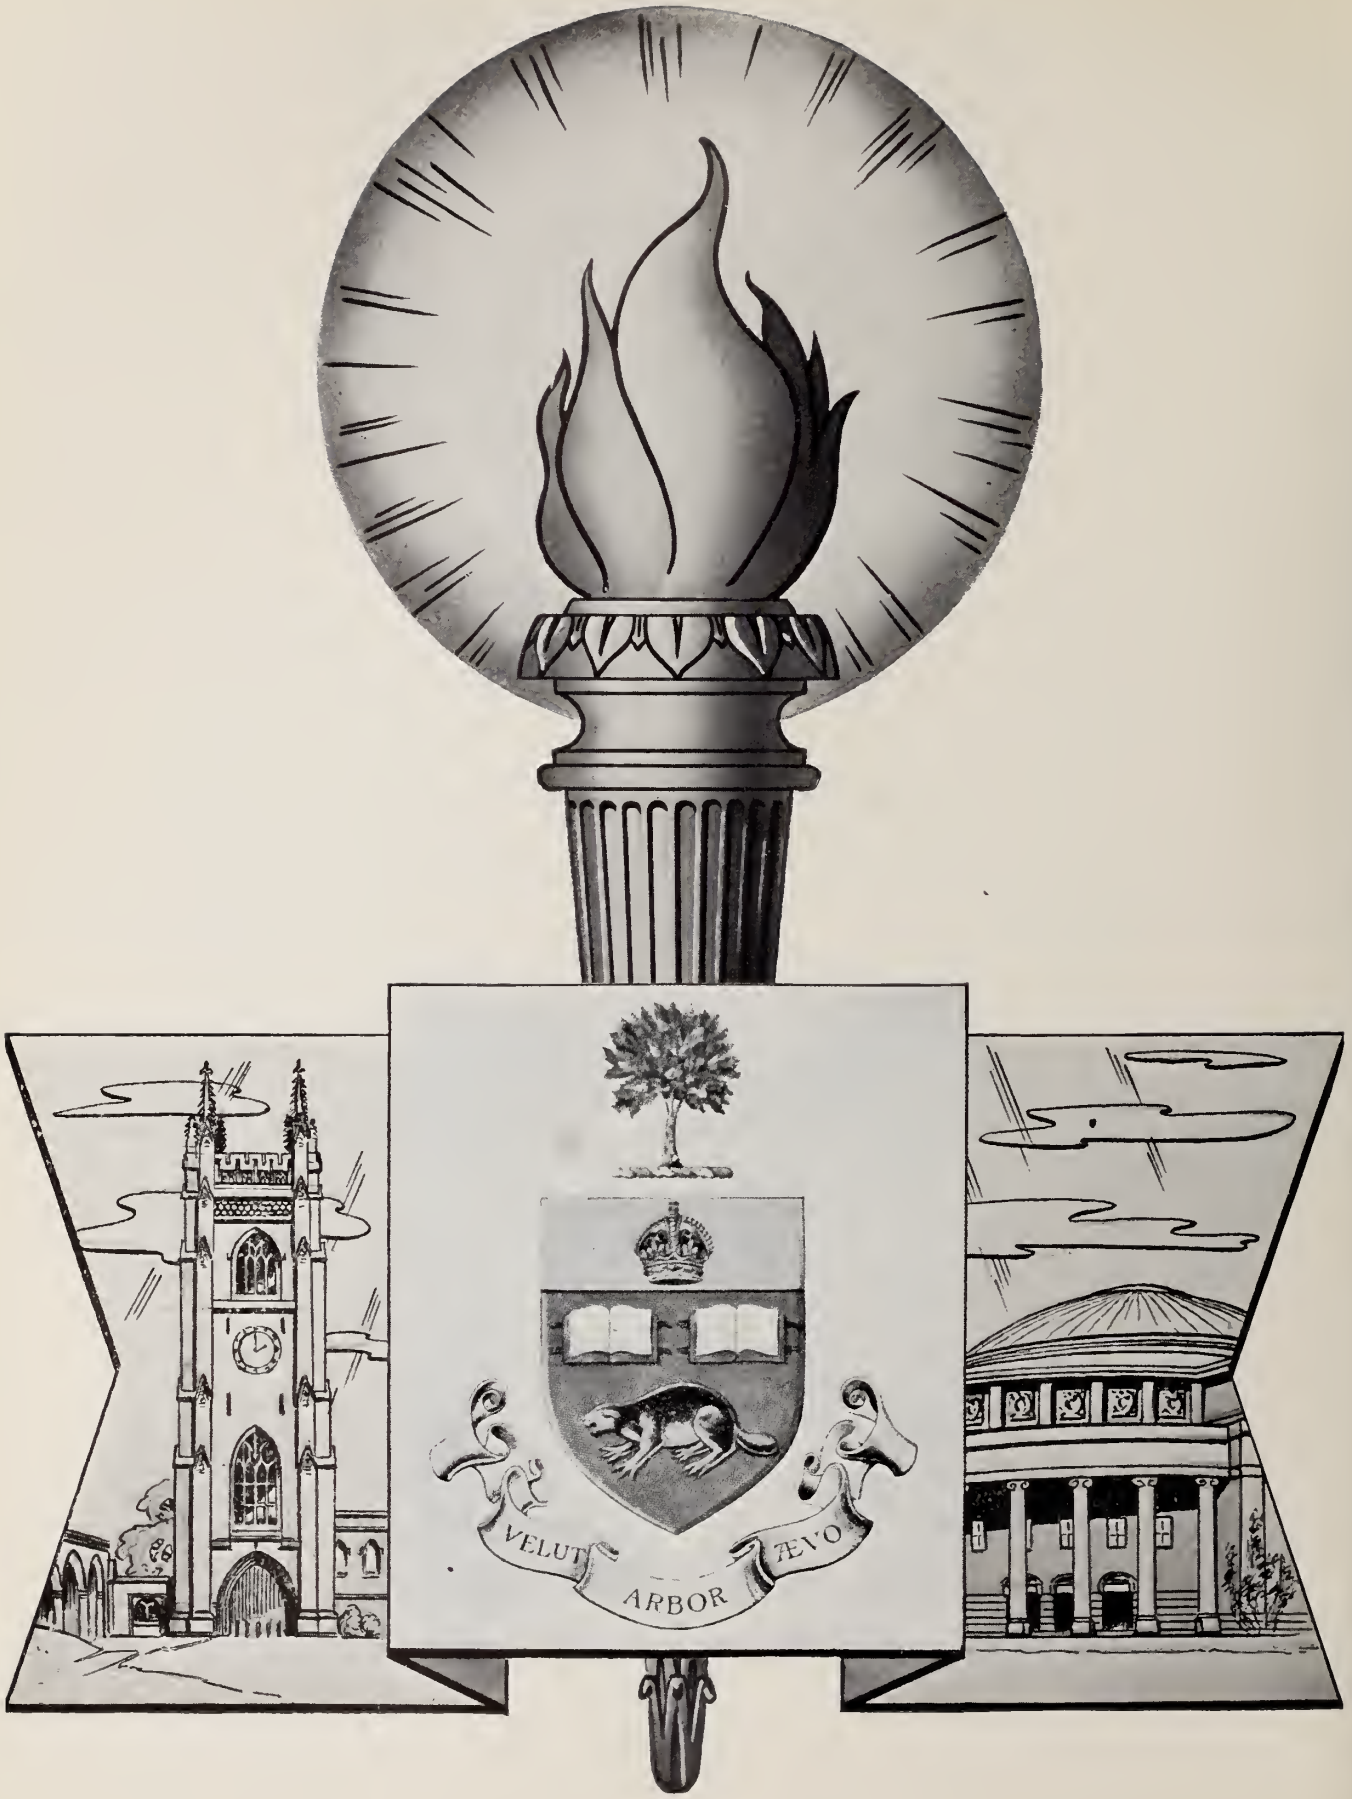

The life of man is incomplete and meaningless without "the spirit of true religion and high endeavour". This fact was clearly perceived by the Founders of Hart House when they provided a centre for religious life within its walls. The offices of the Student Christian Movement, opening off the main corridor, bustle with activity.

The activities of the Student Christian Movement in Hart House are directed by a small committee composed of representatives of the various colleges and faculties. A regular feature of the programme arranged by this committee for several years has been a series of Wednesday noon-hour addresses held from 1:30 p.m. to 2 p.m. in the Music Room. The following were among the fifteen subjects discussed: "Why Go to Church?", Rev. G. Stanley Russell; "The Roman Catholic Church and Science", Rev. G. B. Phelan; "Church Re-Union", Dr. George Pidgeon; "The Church and the Army", Lieut.-Col. George O. Fallis; "Religion and Art", Prof. H. R. MacCallum; "The Christian Approach to Social Problems", Prof. C. R. Feilding.

Holy Communion was celebrated in the Chapel on Sunday morning monthly. Dr. R. Davidson, Provost Cosgrave and Dr. Wilfred Lockhart have celebrated. As in previous years, the S.C.M. in Medicine held a number of supper parties in Hart House. Dr. R. D. Defries, Dr. J. H. Couch and Dr. Harley Jenner discussed the task of the Christian doctor. A group of Engineers met weekly during the Fall term for study of the task of an engineer in society. Mr. Coleman has continued to act as secretary.

Over Thanksgiving week-end the Movement was privileged to enjoy a visit by the Rev. Arnold Nash. He spoke on seven occasions in three days, as well as once in Hart House Theatre on "The University in War", and once to a small group which met in the Warden's sitting-room.

Mr. Nash was formerly a secretary of the British Student Christian Movement. He then served as General Secretary of the Church of England Moral Welfare Council. During the last two years he has lectured on Christian Ethics at several American theological seminaries. His visit to Toronto created so favourable an impression that he was invited to join the staff of the Movement. The arrival of Mr. Nash at the end of March brought to a conclusion the two-year search to find a suitable ordained man to succeed Dr. Wilfred Lockhart as secretary of the Student Christian Movement, with special responsibility for Hart House.

University College Literary and Athletic Society

DURING 1941-42 the Lit enjoyed one of the most successful years in its long history. This success can be mainly attributed to the innovation of a luncheon and a dinner meeting and to the increased popularity of the joint meetings.

The first open meeting featured T. A. Reed telling the Freshmen and others the U.C. anecdotage. At the next full meeting a past honorary president, Joe McCulley, Headmaster of Pickering College, spoke. The next meeting took the form of a luncheon at which Lewis Duncan of the Toronto Board of Control spoke to over two hundred U.C. men. The closing meeting of the year consisted of a well-attended dinner in the Great Hall of Hart House. At this meeting the finals in the Robinette Debates were held and the annual nominations for Lit offices took place, which were followed by lively campaign speeches.

The "Follies", with Don Rowat as producer, was once again the best variety show on the campus and, of course, the captivating chorus of U.C. girls was featured. The Arts Ball was held with its customary austere dignity in the Eaton Auditorium. The Junior-Senior rejuvenated by its new name and slogan, "Get Behind the Eight Ball on Friday, March 13th", proved to be an apropos farewell to social activity for the year.

Following the format of last year, the 1942 Undergraduate, under the capable editorship of Bob Phillips, ranks high among University publications. Pictures of all U.C. events provide a memorable diary of college activity during the past year.

The athletic side of the Society was well managed by Ken Hignell and through his efforts U.C. attained a top position in the T.A. Reed Trophy race.

University College Women's Undergraduate Association

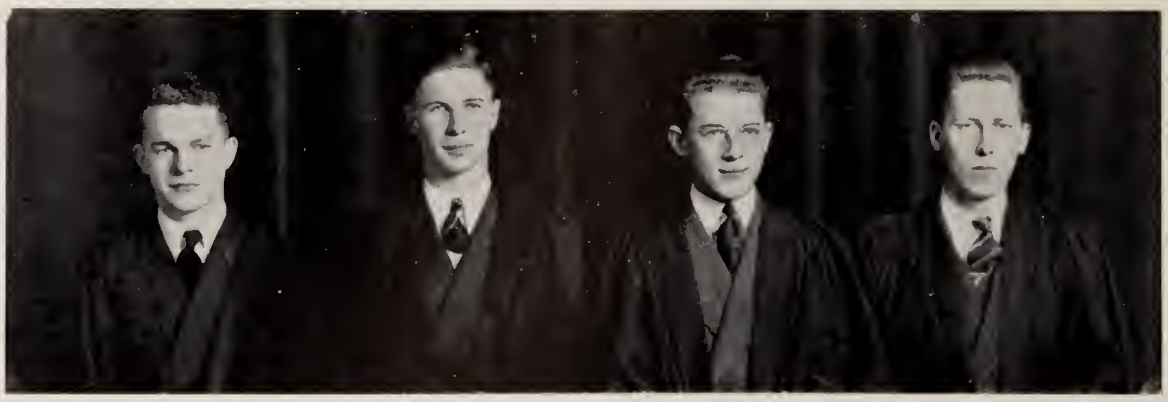

THE Women's Undergraduate Association is the self governing organization of University College, to which every undergraduate woman belongs. Throughout the year, weekly council meetings, joint meetings with the men's "Lit" and open meetings are held with the purpose of supervising the interests of U.C. in all fields of college life.

The fall term is begun with the Freshie-Senior House-party at Whitney Hall. During this term the W.U.A. and "Lit" join together in the management and subsidy of the main U.C. social functions; the U.C. Follies and the Art's Ball.

All women's athletics are subsidized and supervized by the W.U.A. The council also appoints women representatives to the staff of The Undergraduate, the Follies, the International Students' Service Council and the University Debates Committee. Subsidies also are granted to the Glee Club, the Players' Guild, the S.C.M. and The Undergraduate.

Campaigns are organized and grants are made in support of the Federated Charities and the International Students' Service. At Christmas a party is given each year for the children at the University Settlement School.

The year is ended with an open meeting in order to nominate, and subsequently elect, officers for the following year. The Graduation Banquet brings the W.U.A.'s activities to a close.

University College Players' Guild

BECAUSE of the C.O.T.C. the Guild this year has had a decrease in the number of men students behind and in front of the foot-lights. Despite this handicap, the Guild set itself a difficult task this season, in line with its experimental nature — that of producing a one-act play each Wednesday afternoon. If it has not succeeded in doing quite this, it has made a noble effort.

Another of its president's innovations was the audience's criticism, after each performance, of the acting, staging and directing. One of its out-of-the-ordinary productions was Noel Coward's "Fumed Oak" as presented by two different casts under different direction. Mr. Finch and Elizabeth Stone acted as judges and the Ken Peck version, considered better, was put on at the autumn Theatre Night to a large and appreciative Hart House audience, along with plays by Trinity, Victoria and St. Michael's.

An original play by one of the members, Phil Kerwin was put on shortly before Christmas. Based on a Moliere satire "Les Precieuses Ridicules" it was called "The Significant Hallucination".

Two skits started the season, followed by "The Lovely Miracle" and a very effective handling of a scene from "Stage Door".

For the spring term two promising productions are under way; Vincent Blockley doing "The Flaw", by Cyril Roberts for the Drama Festival and Martin Cleman directing Galsworthy's "The First and The Last" for the next Theatre Night.

During the year, Mr. Finch gave an account of the Guild's early history; Bill Needles demonstrated how to use make-up and how not to; Ken Peck and two other Theatre-of-Action hands gave a practical demonstration of some of the Stanislavsky actor's exercises.

One of the highlights of the spring term was the noon meeting in February when Canada Lee and John Berry, from the cast of "Native Son" spoke to a large and intensely interested audience in Hart House theatre.

The Undergraduate Magazine

STRUGGLING under considerable difficulties to put it in its mildest terms, The Undergraduate emerged in March with an edition which at least stacked up against the 1941 issue.

Once again the college magazine has overstretched the bonds of mere literary craftsmanship in an attempt to mirror the life of U.C. True to its tradition and purpose of old, it is the organ for those students who can and will express themselves by the written word. But it is again also the magazine of those who remain in things literary inarticulate, but who take their place in the life of the college. Thus the camera lens supplements the time-honoured quill.

Never an aristocracy of pseudo-intellectuals was ever the claim of The Undergraduate. That strange and mighty body that bears the name "Editorial Board" can assume the credit for the diversity of talent in the pages; the blame for handling the material and for most of the photographs must be laid at the feet of that two-man cabal, the Editor and Hugh Kenner.

University College Men's Residence

IN almost every field of University interests, "73" has once again taken a prominent part, and the campus is becoming more and more conscious that University College has a men's residence unequalled in spirit by any other.

An exceptionally large number of Freshmen came into the house this year, most of them scholarship men, which should aid in keeping up our record of one hundred per cent passing.

Our Dance Committee, under the chairmanship of Forry Rogers, has done a wonderful job in making our parties the most successful in the history of the House.

In athletics, many members of the House have played on College teams, and we have organized a House Basketball Team. As usual, the residence is well represented on the Executive of the "Lit", and on the Athletic Board.

We were glad to have with us as tutor Mr. Robbins of the English Department, and we feel that we have come to know him well, from our "bull sessions" during our week of confinement in quarantine.

Dean Cochrane again gave the House his famous Christmas Party, an even greater success than usual, and by his good offices and his advice has helped us all in many ways throughout the year.

The Victoria College Union

ALL undergraduates in Victoria College are organized into an association called the Victoria College Union. In general, the purpose of this association is to promote and provide effective student government for both men and women in all phases of student activity. The executive officers of the V.C.U. are elected annually and, as a committee, are responsible for the administration of the affairs of the undergraduate body.

Efforts this year by the V.C.U. to secure a general headquarters resulted in the establishment of an office on the ground floor of the main college building. The introduction here of a "Student Information Bureau" enabled the executive to maintain close contact with the students as well as extend its scheme of services to them.

A signal occasion in Victoria in the Fall was the inauguration of Chancellor Brown. The V.C.U. was called upon to assist in making arrangements for the ceremonies and the students responded nobly to requests made of them in this connection. An exceptionally large attendance of students at the chapel service on the morning of his inauguration, as well as in the evening at Convocation Hall, assured Dr. Brown of the students' approval of, and congratulation on, his appointment.

An accumulated surplus of $200.00 in the V.C.U. Reserve Fund was directed by the students through Royal Commission into the Joseph Binning Scholarship. This scholarship is awarded to honour the memory of Joseph Binning, the founder of V.C.U.

The schedule of social events in the college was continued as in former years, except for the introduction of an all Vic Informal at the end of the Christmas term. This took the form of celebration for the rugby team which won the Mulock Cup symbolic of the interfaculty championship.

The Vic At Home was held in the Eaton Auditorium on February 27th. This proved to be a great success and a fitting climax to another college year.

Annesley Student Government Association

THE Annesley Student Government Association is the result of a petition sent to the Senate of Victoria College in the year 1912. This petition expressed the feeling then prevalent among the students that it was highly advisable to assume individual and communal responsibility in the life and conduct of the Women's Residences. Such responsibility, it was thought, would make for the development of character and the promotion of loyalty to the best interests of the residences. The Association was founded upon an agreement between the authorities of Victoria College and the residence women students, which agreement entrusted to the latter the management of all non-academic matters pertaining to conduct while in residence. Annesley Hall was the first women's residence in Canada to adopt this system of self-government and, with necessary modifications, it has been functioning steadily and effectively since its introduction. Each woman student in the residence of Victoria College is automatically a member of the Annesley Student Government Association and is subject to the legislation of its constitution. Representation on the executive from each of the four years is a factor in realizing the individual responsibility which each girl owes to the party she herself has helped to elect. It is the spirit of active co-operation between executive and members which is one of the reasons for the many practical successes attained since the inauguration of the system. The other reason is the sympathetic support given to the Association by the Dean, Jessie Macpherson, and by the Dons, as a body and as individuals. With such assistance, A.S.G.A. may hope to accomplish even more in the future and show itself a greater power in the life of Victoria College.

The Sixty-Ninth Bob

PEOPLE are still talking about what a magnificent success the Sixty-Ninth Annual Bob was. At least, the Director and Committee-members are occasionally heard muttering, "Collossal! Stupendous!"

The whole show was based — without permission and at a few hundred miles' distance — on Disney's "Fantasia", and was called, quaintly enough, "Bobtasia". The first act, "The Chancellor's Apprentice", by Mac Taylor, took a few healthy pokes at the professors; it centred around the recent appointment of our new chancellor. Act II, "Night at Bare Table", by Ralph Hicklin, took a troop of brash frosh into the godforsaken wastes of Burwash Hall, with astonishing results. The third act — (deleted by official censor).

The usual soph-frosh singing-duel was even noisier than usual. (We hear that the plaster in Hart House Theatre required extensive repairs after the show.) The songs were good, and, as usual, both sides claim a victory.

While on the subject of good songs, we must tip a complimentary cap to the Bob Quartet, which was in fine fettle.

After the show, the record crowd of cash customers went back to Alumni Hall, where considerable yardage of carpet was slashed.

Acta Victoriana

IT HAS been the purpose of Acta Victoriana since its inception in 1878 to be a constituent part of Victoria's life. To fulfil this function, Acta has strived to identify itself with the student body. Hence the policy of the present editorial staff: to "try to record in a significant way what is of most significance to the student body."

The suggestion has been made that the quality of the magazine would be improved and that the ability of Acta to perform its function would be enhanced if the number of issues were cut down from six (monthly) to three during the term. This would, of course, involve extensive re-organization, and its practicability remains to be proved. Certainly, much of the strain on the editor and his staff would be removed; for the collecting and editing of copy which maintains the high standards attained for monthly issues must detract seriously from academic work.

Acta belongs to the Victoria students. It is, therefore, up to the student body to insure its success by co-operating fully with the incoming executive.

The Victoria College Music Club

"PIRATES OF PENZANCE", the annual production of the Victoria College Music Club this year, was a welcome return to Gilbert and Sullivan. Staged at Hart House Theatre, the show featured a cast of nearly seventy-five, with many more club members helping backstage. The theatre was packed for every one of the five performances from January 21st to 24th, with a matinee on Saturday. Thomas J. Crawford was once again musical director.

One of the brightest features of this year's presentation was the men's chorus of 22 pirates and policemen — as large as in the pre-war years — one of peppiest gangs ever to shoot dice or wave beer mugs in a Music Club "Pirates" show. The girls' chorus of "35 beautiful girls 35" was the cause of a good deal of favourable comment for their colourful showing. It was remarkable that the men's chorus was so large this year in view of the fact that they had to work in C.O.T.C. training in addition to their bi-weekly rehearsals for the "Pirates". All members of the cast had to work especially hard to get the show in shape, starting the rehearsals in the middle of October and continuing on until the show in January.

The Victoria College Dramatic Society

ONCE more the Victoria College Dramatic Society, revitalized by a startling array of freshman talent, embarked upon a singularly successful season. This year's major production, Kaufman and Hart's hilarious comedy, "You Can't Take It With You", provided endless amusement for the cast and had the capacity audiences at Hart House Theatre in gales of laughter at every performance. The play, thanks to the superlative direction of John Holden, marked the third in a series of consecutive smash hits for Victoria College and proved that the Society can do drama or comedy with equal facility.

Due to the time absorbed by military training the number of one-act productions in Alumni Hall declined somewhat but such plays as were attempted were of unusually high calibre and were enthusiastically received. One effort particularly lauded for its depth and sincerity in spite of the staging difficulties, was "Riders To The Sea" directed by Harold Goode, who was also responsible for Victoria's production of Eugene O'Neill's "Where The Cross Is made", at the Intramural Drama Festival for the Cody Award. Excellent performances were also given by Victoria players at each of the Hart House "Theatre Nights".

The annual Dramatic Society At-Home, for members, friends, and patrons of the club, was held in Wymilwood on February 6th to the music of Jim Bottomley and his orchestra. Brief entertainment by club members at intermission, and novelty programs brought the evening to a highly successful close while the At-Home itself formed a fitting climax to the year's social activities.

Trinity College Board of Stewards

UP until a few years ago all matters concerning the male students of Trinity College were dealt with by an assembly of the whole student body, known as the College Meeting. But as a result of the increase in both the amount and complexity of the business with which the students were faced, it became apparent that some form of executive structure would be necessary for efficient administration. Accordingly, in the fall of 1935, the College Meeting created the executive body known as the Board of Stewards.

The Board is composed of the Dean of Residence, the Head of College, the Trinity Representative to the S.A.C., a representative from the Literary Institute, a representative from the Athletic Association, and a resident and non-resident representative from each of the three senior years.

By its constitution the Board must report to the College Meeting at least twice each term, thus affording the students an opportunity of discussing the problems with which the Board is faced.

In its brief history the Board has proved itself to be one of the indispensable bodies in Trinity College. Especially has it been invaluable this year in dealing with necessary changes and adjustments in the new College residences.

The Trinity College Literary Institute

THE Trinity College Literary Institute is entering its ninetieth year as an academic forum of Trinity College. The chief purpose of the "Lit" is to encourage public speaking among the students and to encourage their abilities in this direction.

It is a parliamentary debating Society. The House is divided into Government and Opposition. The latter has the duty of finding every possible flaw in the former's discharge of its duties and it, in turn, has the duty of seeing that no such flaw can be found. The government is in charge of reading matter and periodicals in Common Rooms and of the newspapers, which form a welcome barricade behind which, at breakfast, the Honourable and sleep-stained Members of College may retire.

The life of the Government depends on its ability to win debates (one is held every meeting) and to discharge efficiently its duties in regard to reading rooms and so forth. If two successive Debates are lost by the Government, the Opposition is automatically in power. If discontent over efficiency reaches the proportions of a successful want of confidence vote, the Government is also ousted.

Meetings this year are held every second week, a departure from the weekly procedure of the past. This was felt necessary as a result of the more important demands on time coming from war activities.

Finally, the "Lit" is in charge of the Trinity College Conversazione, one of the foremost of annual campus dances.

The Trinity University Review

TRADITIONS are not very popular nowadays, and it would therefore be useless to try to persuade our readers that The Trinity University Review is a veteran among the numerous Campus publications. We could, of course, point out that both the original Review and the St. Hilda's Chronicle have a long and flourishing life lying behind them. But since the amalgamation of the two magazines was only carried out two years ago, and since it is the present and not the past that counts, we prefer to admit that The Review, in its present form, is a new publication, unimpeded by tradition and free to choose its own policy.

The war has necessarily had a considerable influence on the contents of The Review. Occasional lapses into sentimentalism were the logical result of this tendency, but there has also been plenty of evidence that, even in war-time, Trinity men and women are not devoid of poetic inspiration nor of a healthy sense of humour.

Finally, it remains to be said that an unusual interest in the activities of The Review among the student body has greatly facilitated the work of the Board of Management. It is to be hoped that this interest will increase in the future and will raise The Review to the highest attainable level.

St. Hilda's College House Committee

THE St. Hilda's College House Committee is comprised of the Principal, Mrs. Kirkwood, the Head of College and the Heads of the three lower years. These Heads are chosen by their academic standing.

The House Committee meets to discuss house rules and activities which are usually further considered at College Meetings. The Head of College is automatically President of the College Meeting, Head of Third Year is the Secretary and Head of Second Year is the Treasurer.

St. Hilda's is not just a residence, but a college and as such has its own institutions. The W.A. sponsors social service work and an annual bazaar, the proceeds of which are given to missionary work. The Literary Society brings interesting speakers to the College and promotes inter-year dramatics and debating.

St. Hilda's Literary Society

THE purpose of the "Lit" is to instruct and to entertain. to create interest by means of plays, debates, papers and addresses, and to afford an opportunity for self-expression.

Meetings are held every two weeks on Monday evenings. Each year must produce a play, and alternating with these are three debates, the final one between the winners of the First Year versus the Third Year, and the Second Year versus the Fourth Year. The awards for these competitions are presented at the Literary Society Dinner.

This year, in addition to the regular meetings, the "Lit" had the pleasure of hearing Dr. J. D. Robins of Victoria College, and also held a lively debate with the Trinity College Literary Institute.

Each year gives a dance which is formal or informal as they wish.

"Episkopon" is an institution peculiar to Trinity and St. Hilda's. On Shrove Tuesday Father Episkopon (who lives in Trinity tower) summons his Saints for the purpose of applauding their commendable actions and denouncing their evil deeds!

Wycliffe College Literary Society

THE Society is conducted on democratic lines under a parliamentary system of government. There is a permanent executive with the President as Chairman, this body being responsible with the Cabinet for the finances, social events and the College S.C.M. group.

This year was marked by the appearance of a third party, this providing and stimulating interest throughout the year. The beginning of the spring term saw the Government thrown out and replaced by a coalition formed from members of the two opposition parties. Several members have gone "active" during the year, and the presence of some members in khaki at meetings has given a war-time note to the proceedings.

The activities have been varied and worthy of note; amongst these stand out the Debates for the Taylor Trophy, the Annual At-Home, the Carol Service and an excellent if boisterous toboggan party. The year has seen good attendances, the debating good with speeches from all parts of the House.

The Permanent Executive of 1941-42 has been headed by D. C. Hunt, B.A., with J. C. Jolley, W. R. Coleman, B.A., and D. A. Smith as Party Leaders.

Knox College Association

THE Knox College Association is an official organization representing the students residing within Knox College, and a government which administers the affairs and directs the activities pertaining to residence life.

The Housing Committee, with the willing co-operation of all the members, has succeeded in maintaining the position of Knox as one of the best residences on the Campus. The Worship Committee promotes and conducts religious worship in the residence with evening worship and morning chapel services. During the year communion service is held in the College chapel by the members of the faculty for all men in residence. The Athletic Committee promotes all intramural and inter-house athletics. The Social Committee conducts all the social activities of the College, providing an informal Fall party, the annual Christmas dinner, bowling nights, skating nights, and the formal Knox "At Home" in the spring term.

The monthly meetings of the Association, being parliamentary in form, provide opportunities for debate and development in extemporaneous speaking. Constructive criticism from the opposition benches not only enlivens the meetings, but makes for efficiency on the party of the Government.

As a government, the Association holds as ideal a democratic and genuine fellowship for the whole student body.

MEN IN RESIDENCE, KNOX COLLEGE

Knox College Residence

THE present Knox College was built in 1912. Previous to this time it was located on Spadina Crescent. Knox is the theological college for students entering the ministry of the Presbyterian Church. The residences can accommodate one hundred men, who are studying the Presbyterian theology, and it is open to students of other courses and faculties. During the 1941-1942 session, as in former years, the varied academic life of the University was extremely well represented at Knox. Strong and lasting ties of friendship are formed. Knox provides a genial atmosphere, and the advantages of men living together, representing every phase of student life, are of immense academic and social value.

Emmanuel College Students' Society

THE Emmanuel College Students' Society is the organization which controls the extra-curricular activities of the students of Emmanuel and is the official body through which student opinion on matters pertaining to College and Church life may be expressed.

A number of committees direct the various phases of college life. The Vice-President heads a committee which seeks to promote closer fellowship between church, students in Arts, and the students and staff of Emmanuel. This year a tea, held early in the Fall term proved very successful in bringing together "buddies" and theologs. The Worship Committee plans for regular chapel services in the college each morning and for house worship in the residence in the evenings. The committee has also arranged Communion services at the first of each month. The Missionary Committee promotes missionary education and organizes the raising of funds which are used primarily to support an Oriental student studying at the College. The Residence Committee is the body which arranges the musicales and by which the "morale" of residence men is maintained. College sports have been energetically promoted by a capable Society. Emmanuel teams, entered in most major University sports, have enjoyed a maximum of fun, with a minimum of actual successes.

The Theological Society is affiliated with the E.C.S.S. Through the regular monthly meetings in the College, supplemented this year by weekly noon-hour "bull-sessions", and as a member of the Theological College Union of the S.C.M., greater understanding of the teachings of our Faith has been achieved.

The Students' Society banquets held in the Fall and Spring, proved to be occasions of social enjoyment as well as of intellectual and spiritual stimulus. The addresses given, by the Rev. J. R. P. Sclater at the Fall banquet and the Rev. Geo. Pidgeon at the Spring banquet, were deeply appreciated by all.

The Medical Society

THE University of Toronto Medical Society is the undergraduate organization of the Faculty of Medicine, which has been functioning since 1895.

The business of the Society is conducted by an annually elected executive which also controls indirectly Medical Athletics, the University of Toronto Medical Journal, and the Medical Women's Undergraduate Association. A member of each of these subsidiary committees is included in the executive.

The Annual Medical Banquet and Medical At-Home were once again stupendous successes and rank among the better social affairs of the Medical Society. This was very largely due to the time and effort of the Committee in charge of these functions.

Medical Women's Undergraduate Association

OWING to the speeding-up of the Medical Course the activities of the M.W.U.A. have been limited this year.

In December the annual Christmas party was held at the School of Nursing. According to custom, toys and canned goods were brought by the members, being later presented to the University Settlement for distribution in their Christmas baskets.

Due to the war, two of the main functions of the society, the "Nabob" Tea and the chapel service for the graduating class of women, were not held this year.

Medical Women's Athletic Association

THIS year the athletic activities of the medical women were confined to tennis and basketball.

In February the athletic awards were presented at a joint tea of the Athletic Society and the M.W.U.A., which was held in the Roof Gardens of the Park Plaza Hotel.

The University of Toronto Medical Journal

THE official publication of the Medical Society, the University of Toronto Medical Journal, has now completed its 19th year of service to the undergraduate and the profession.

To the student, the Journal endeavours to present articles on subjects of professional interest, and reviews of current medical and scientific literature. To him, it also offers a medium of expression, and training in the organization and presentation of material of professional interest for a more pretentious attempt, at some later date.

The Journal is an undergraduate publication made possible by the spontaneous interest shown by the students, and by articles and criticisms so kindly offered by members of the teaching staff. On its pages are to be found the results of hours of care and thought spent in the perusal of medical literature, presented in a clear, organized and readable form. It serves the student as a link between the text book and current opinion in the medical world, and helps him thus to keep abreast of recent advances in medical science.

To all those who have contributed to the pages of the Journal, and who therefore are in great measure responsible for its success, the Editorial Staff wishes to extend its sincere thanks.

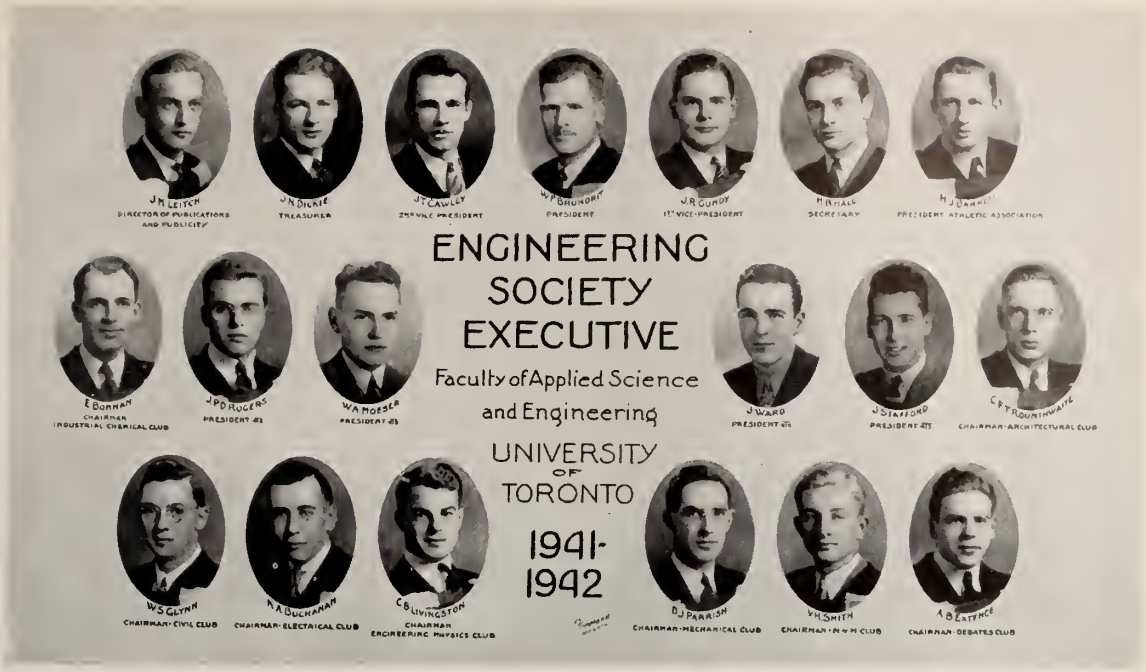

The Medical Society At-Home and Banquet Committee

THE Medical At-Home, a high-light of the University social season, took place on the night of January 15th, 1942. Nearly five hundred budding doctors escorted their fair lassies to the Royal York Convention Hall to dance to the music of Canada's foremost band, Mart Kenney and his Western Gentlemen.

A special feature of the dance this year was the exceptional floor show chosen from stage and night club talent, including dancers, singers, acrobats and roller skaters. Onlookers were offered a thrill by participating in the sensational skating act.

The simple but smart decorations of the hall featured the medical colours. Behind the orchestra a medical shield draped with the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes set the theme for the evening—camaraderie, and loyalty to the faculty and to our war effort.

On the evening of October 2nd, 1941, most of the Medical Society, with their guests, attended, in the Great Hall of Hart House, the Annual Medical Banquet. It was a particular privilege to entertain as guest speakers commanding medical officers of the Royal Canadian Navy, Army and Air Force, Surgeon Commander A. McCallum, Brigadier R. M. Gorssline, and Air Commodore R. W. Ryan. The importance of an unending supply of doctors in the present war was emphasized by each man.

Engineering Society

OCTOBER 21st. The first General Meeting of the Engineering Society for the 1941-42 session was fittingly opened by our new Dean, C. R. Young. A large turnout of the undergraduate body was there to meet the new Dean and to hear his address on the subject, "The Training of An Engineer".

November 18th. Once again the Engineers were privileged to listen to an active member of the Bell Telephone Company, namely, Mr. George L. Long. Mr. Long won great interest and appreciation with his demonstration of the "Mirrophone".

January 29th. The first meeting of the second term was addressed by Mr. W. A. Duncan, of the Dominion Oxygen Company. His subject, "Oxy-Acetylene Flame in Welding", proved to be most interesting to an Engineer. With the aid of motion pictures Mr. Duncan showed the whole process of welding by means of the oxy-acetylene flame.

February 9th. Mr. A. H. Frampton of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, was the speaker. With the aid of motion pictures, Mr. Frampton's address on "220,000 Volt Transmission System of the Ontario Hydro", was of a very practical nature and was particularly well received by the Electrical and Civil undergraduate engineers.

February 19th. The Engineering Society Executive Committee is to be congratulated upon obtaining a representative from The Wright Aeroplane Corporation. A sound film on "Wright Builds For Air Supremacy" was presented to the undergraduates. The enthusiasm and interest demonstrated over this most appropriate film was an indication of how much the undergraduate engineers appreciated this type of topic in these days of war.

February 25th. The annual "Election" meeting was held during which nominees for office presented themselves and their claims as to why they should be elected to their prospective offices.

Class of 4T2

WITH four long years behind us, our earnest anticipated goal of graduation close before us, it is in order that we glance back through those years in a brief review.

Those initial days when first we stepped into the barrage of registration, green ties and the Sophs persuasive actions, seem remote and hazy. Yet we recollect a fighting band of Frosh, under Croft Huddleston's leadership, reaping vengeance on our oppressors with the capture of the Flag. But at our first School social function, the Soph-Frosh Dance, all war-like measures were banished.

Under "Backie" Dick we Sophs coralled many an innocent freshman, but to a less severe extent than previously, since the opening guns of World War II heralded the natural suppression of student displays.

In our Junior year Don Finlayson gave us good Year Parties and an even more united class spirit.

And now with graduation close at hand, we are restless and eager to take our stand in our country's ranks with industry and the forces. Each of us has a task to perform in our united cause against the foe. Although in the coming years we may be scattered far and wide across this globe, our year is certain to retain the unity and friendship which our four years have fostered.

School Dinner

HERALDED by a traditional Auction Sale, the 52nd Annual School Dinner, held in the Great Hall at Hart House on November 20th, will long be remembered by Schoolmen.

Engineers began gathering early and by 7.15 the Great Hall and Faculty Dining Room were crowded with undergrads, grads, and members of the staff, who gazed with awe at the regal dinner that the kitchen staff had prepared and served in the well-known Hart House manner.

Schoolmen made the most of the sumptuous feast, then relaxed for the evening's enjoyment. First came the customary sing-song in which Mr. R. Workman, assisted by Mr. Kerrigan, led us through all the good old School songs. Among the guests were Dean Young of S.P.S., Wing Commander T. R. Loudon, R.C.A.F., Dr. Cody, Mr. Boyce, Mr. Frost and Dean Beatty.

Mr. Bryce, a past president of the Engineering Society, was then called on to present the Gold Keys to the graduating members of the Engineering Society Executive. Next, Dean Beatty presented the certificates to last year's Scholarship winners. Then Mr. Frost, President of the Association of Professional Engineers, presented their diploma to Mr. Ham.

Mr. Drundrit introduced Dean Young, to whom the dinner was dedicated. Although this was the 40th Annual School Dinner which Dean Young had attended, it was his freshman appearance as Dean.

Mr. V. Smith introduced the guest speaker, Wing Commander T. R. Loudon, who, in speaking, stressed the share of responsibility of war duties every student must assume, whether in the lab, the armed services, or industry.

The President of the Engineering Society then thanked the speaker and the dinner was brought to a close in the traditional manner by everyone giving a lusty TOIKE OIKE.

School Nite

FRIDAY, February 6th, Schoolmen again demonstrated their superiority over the rest of the campus in yet another line of endeavour. Hart House was strained to capacity as over 1600 Engineers and their choice of the fairest, gathered to witness the mighty School Nite Revue, and to partake of the multitude of other entertainments offered. The Revue, produced by the Engineers, of the Engineers, for the Engineers, certainly ranked among the finest of all School revues. The success of the venture was early evinced by the fact that the S.R.O. sign was hung out a week before the curtain went up on the 1942 edition of School Nite.

The "steal" of the evening was the osculometer. Although no one succeeded in blowing its fuse, unofficial reports from the Hydro testify that power accumulated in the "osc" greatly exceeded power supplied.

No less than four orchestras were necessary to cater to the dancing demands of the Schoolmen. Featuring the "Modernaires" in the Big Gym and Charlie Hannigan in the Music Room, dancing ranged all the way down the line from sweet and soft to sweat and hot.

About 11.30, time out was called to look after the inner man. Cake and coffee in the Great Hall did the trick — then back to soft lights, sweet music, and lilting laughter until two o'clock. Too soon doors were locked and we found ourselves on the outside, with the memory fresh in our minds of School Nite, 1942.

School At-Home

THE highlight of School's social life, the School At-Home, took place on the Convention Floor at the Royal York Hotel on January 16th. The affair more than maintained the prestige of School At-Home as the foremost social function of the University.

Over 1000 engineers and their ladies danced between mural covered walls of the ballroom. The murals, designed and executed by the Architects, were quite a revelation to the ladies. Illustrated with appropriate verse "Why Not to Marry an Engineer", the murals gave at least a dozen reasons, any one of which was sufficient.

Time out from dancing was taken at 11 o'clock for the Floor Show. The show consisted of dancers who showed how it could be done in best Arthur Murray style; tumblers who drew gasps of admiration from the audience; a magician who subdued everyone with his bag of tricks, and a master of ceremonies who was a surprise to all, including the committee.

All good things come to an end, however, and at 3 o'clock in the morning, the very weary but still joyful crowd donned hats and cloaks and headed for home, voting it the best At-Home yet.

The distinguished patrons and patronesses were: President and Mrs. H. J. Cody, Dean and Mrs. C. R. Young, Professor and Mrs. R. W. Angus, Professor and Mrs. J. W. Bain, Professor and Mrs. R. R. McLaughlin, Professor and Mrs. W. J. T. Wright, Professor and Mrs. C. G. Williams, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. W. S. Wilson.

Architectural Club

THE Architectural Club had one of its busiest years in the last two terms. Aside from Club activities, the architects busied themselves with every dance and entertainment that the school held. The department also undertook the responsibility to provide the At-Home decorations and War Corsages; a noble effort that required many weeks' work. It is with pride we can say that we are certain no other group ever worked in closer harmony when there was a job to be finished. If we only made the School aware of the existence of the "amoeba", it was worth the effort.

On the serious side, the Club was addressed by Mr. Van Norman on pre-fabricated houses, and by Mr. Steele on apartment buildings. In February we sent a show to Montreal to let McGill know how we were functioning. It included everything from sketches made at Gull Lake to working drawings and structural briefs for the steel framing and concrete design.

The two members of Fifth Year are sure they are leaving everything in capable hands. Should, at any time, any of you want to know how to give a party, decorate a ballroom, erect a sign post, rig an osculometer, win an election, build a bank, or a factory, or a power house, just drop in on any of the Club of Department Four, past, present, or future.

Civil Club

THE Civil Club at School has spent a hectic and irregular term of functioning (?) during the 1941-1942 academic session.

However, the Chairman and his eager aides who composed the Civil Club Executive launched the Civil Club on its 1941-1942 course on October 22nd, 1941, in Hart House. Our Honorary Chairman, Mr. Wm. Storrie, addressed the meeting for a short time after the introductions had been executed. Then the main speaker, Dean C. R. Young, addressed the men, and relayed interesting and valuable advice as to the status of the Civil Engineer in wartime.

On October 30th, 1941, the annual field trip of the Civil Club took place. About 50 men visited the Canada Cement Company Plant at Belleville, Ontario.

A joint meeting and smoker was held in the Debates Room at Hart House on December 4th, 1941, with the Electrical Club. Mr. M. Aykroyd, Sr., of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada presented an illustrated lecture on the methods employed by this company in burying or laying underground and underwater cables.

Then the Civil Club Executive began to devise new and different ways and means of providing educational and social activities for its members. A semi-private Civil Club Dance was held at the Club Top Hat on January 27th, 1942, at 9.30 p.m. All the tables on one side of the dance floor were reserved for the 65 Civils and their friends who attended this affair, and special arrangements for food were made for those who wished to have something to eat.

In closing, we wish to thank all those who have assisted in any way whatsoever in the affairs of the Civil Club. We also extend our best wishes for success in the future to all students in the Department of Civil Engineering.

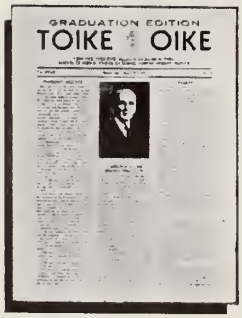

Toike Oike

THE Toike Oike, or the School Scandal Script, is School's chief non-technical literary contribution to the world. This year the little punch-packed paper ran in its thirty-third volume in eight editions, which were distributed free to eagerly waiting Schoolmen. Each edition came out in time for or shortly after some important School event.

The School Dinner Edition hits a high water mark. Six pages full of the most remarkable assortment of fun and features ever assembled outside of a museum. The Christmas issue follows shortly after, and the holiday acknowledged by Toike Oike as a fine thing turns out to be a great success.

The School At-Home and School Nite Editions came out in the form of programs, easily folded into a pocket-size affair, and overflowing with literary masterpieces that the New Yorker turned down, and the latest collections of Korn available.

Then comes a great financial deluge for the Toike Oike. For now the editor himself, after a brief six weeks' course in the art, sets about to remove from highly susceptible election candidates any and all spare funds they may have on their person in return for spreading their name to the far corners of the campus. Candidates have been known to hand over the entire contents of their wallets when they saw the editor approaching.

GRADUATION EDITION
TOIKE OIKE

The Graduation Edition is the final issue of the year and the one at which copious quantities of tears are shed, hearts broken, and best wishes circulated — and all publicly in the Toike Oike.

Transactions and Year Book

YOUR Board of Editors took great pleasure in presenting the 1942 edition of Transactions and Year Book. Between its covers we endeavoured to sketch an accurate and complete picture of School activities during the past year—our earnest hope is that we have succeeded.

The Roll of Service was brought up to date, and again given the position of honour in the book. Two student papers were reproduced as examples of the fine work being done by undergraduates of this institution. The Transactions section was completed with articles by two of our professors—we commend them to you as giving much "meat" for you to "chew on".

Social and Athletic doings were recorded as fully as space would permit. Unfortunately, many of our most deserving teams had to be left unmentioned as it has long been the policy to reserve space in the Year Book primarily for teams composed of graduating members. School's thanks to these unsung heroes is nevertheless sincere.

This year saw very many changes and new developments, undreamed of a year ago. When the late General Mitchell resigned as Dean of this Faculty last year, we fully expected to see him often as a visitor in these pages; that was not to be. We were indeed fortunate in obtaining a man so well qualified to carry on General Mitchell's work as his successor, Dean C. R. Young.

A final thought; if your criticism is constructive, let us hear it—only thus will Transactions improve.

Debates Club

DURING the past year the Club has flourished in spite of present conditions. The first meeting was very successful and was held as a luncheon meeting in Hart House. The speaker on this occasion was Mr. G. A. McMullen, lecturer in public speaking at McMaster and Emmanuel College, who gave a very interesting and humorous talk on "The Importance of Public Speaking to the Engineer".

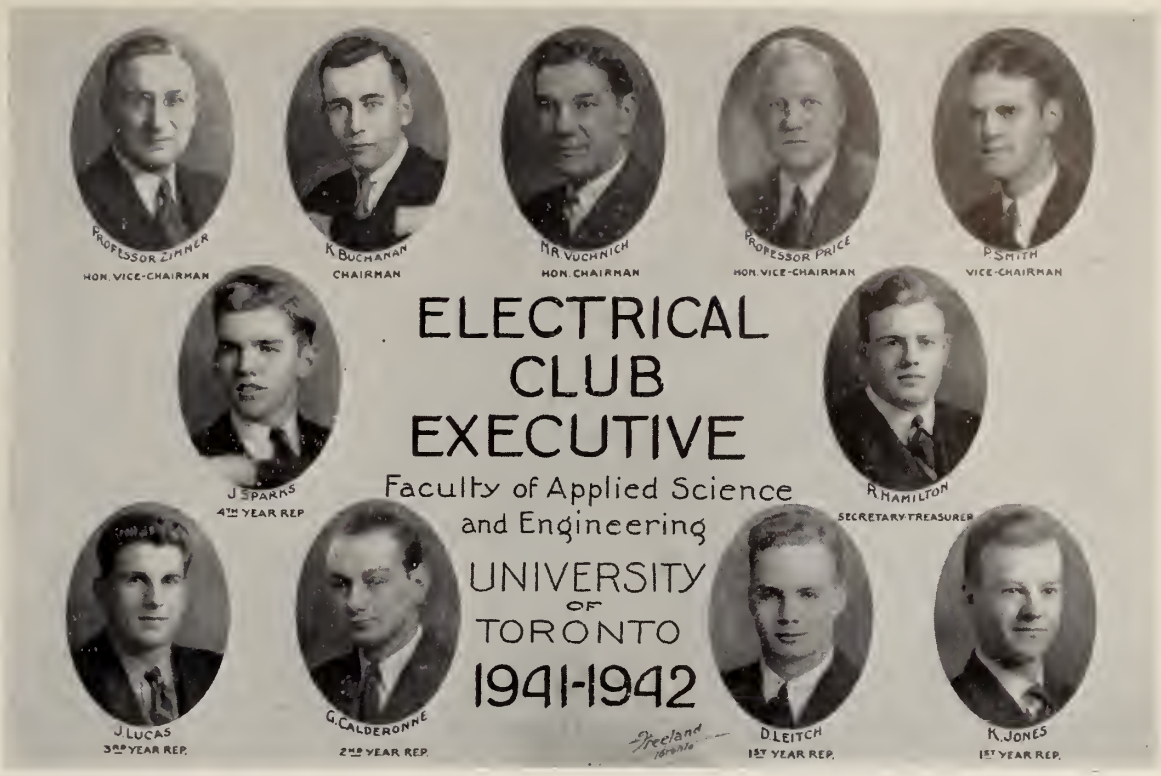

In the next meeting, Don Schmidt took the affirmative of the old question, "The Non-College Girl Makes a Better Wife for the Engineer than the College Girl", while George Lee upheld the college girls and illustrated his arguments with quotations from Whitney Hall.

In January the Club arranged the preliminary competition to determine the six men who were to present papers at the annual Engineering Institute of Canada Students' Night. The winner in Senior School was Walter Glynn, Civil Club Chairman, who spoke on "Pre-Stressed Reinforced Concrete", and in Junior School Bill Cartier was successful, speaking on "Frequency Modulation".

The annual Impromptu Speaking Contest proved to be a very popular feature, fifteen men from all years taking part. The contestants spoke on a great variety of subjects, the judges—Professor Legget and Professor Lord—awarding the Engineering Society Public Speaking Cup to Keith Kidd, who spoke on "More Cultural Subjects in the S.P.S. Curriculum".

In winding up the year, the Executive wish to thank Professor Lord for acting as Honorary Chairman, and for his assistance in all matters that were referred to him.

Best luck to next year's executive, and under it may the Club go forward, if some of the conditions caused by the war do not interfere.

Electrical Club

THE primary function of the Electrical Club this year has been to promote acquaintanceship among the members of all years in Electrical Engineering, and to get the department pulling together as a whole instead of drifting along as if we were not interested in life at "School".

The Club's program for the year included various activities as follows:

Four smokers were held in Hart House; the first was addressed by Professor A. R. Zimmer on "Electrical Engineering"; the second one by Mr. M. N. Vuchnich, our Honorary Chairman, on "Electric Arc Welding"; the third one held in conjunction with the Civil Club, was addressed by Mr. M. J. Aykroyd on "Ploughing the Overhead"; and the fourth one by Professor E. A. Allcut on "Investigations and Litigations".

A joint meeting was held with the A.R.E.E., Toronto Section, at which four of the graduating students addressed us on the subjects of their theses.

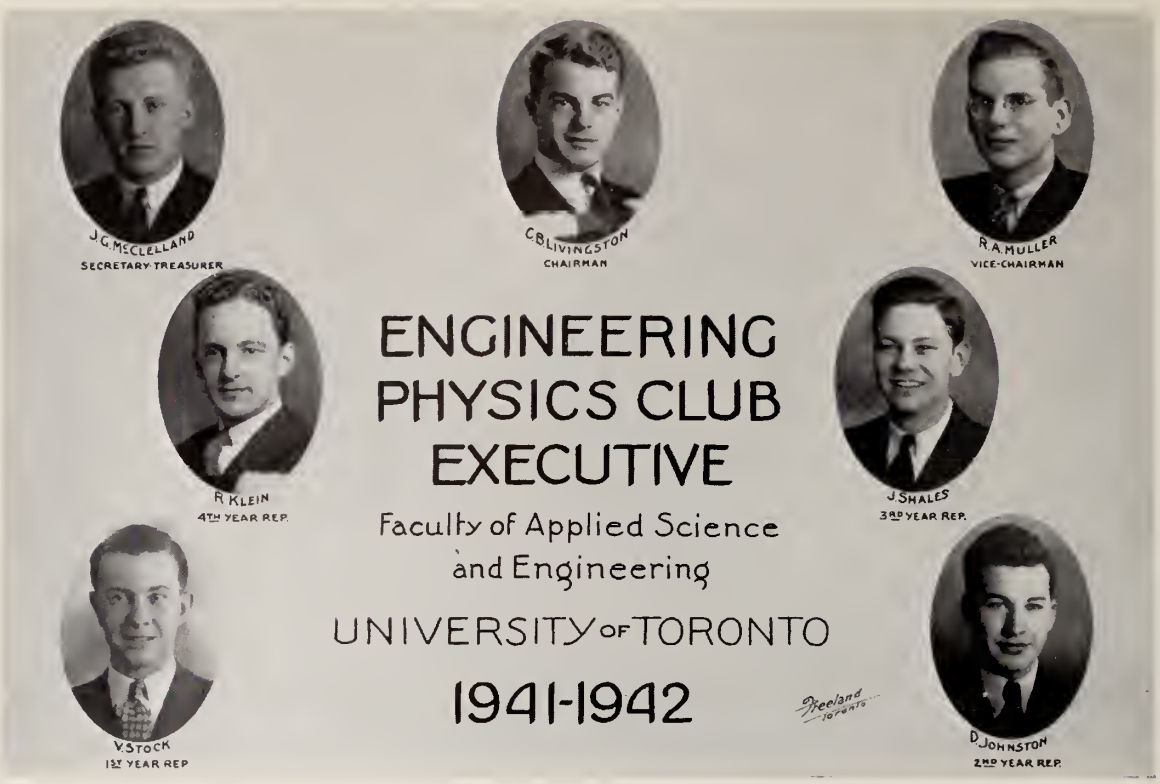

The Club promoted a field trip for all years to the Lincoln Electric Co. at Leaside.

Another highlight in the year's program was the stag evening which was held near the end of January at one of Toronto's now famous hotels.

The Annual Dinner was held about the middle of March.

The Club was run on a very democratic principle this year, and a personal word of thanks from the Chairman to all members of the Executive is necessary as a successful year would not have been possible without their fine work.

As this brings us to the end of the Club's present activities, there is little left but to express appreciation for all those who contributed to a successful 1941-42, and to wish those who follow, the best of luck.

Engineering Physics Club

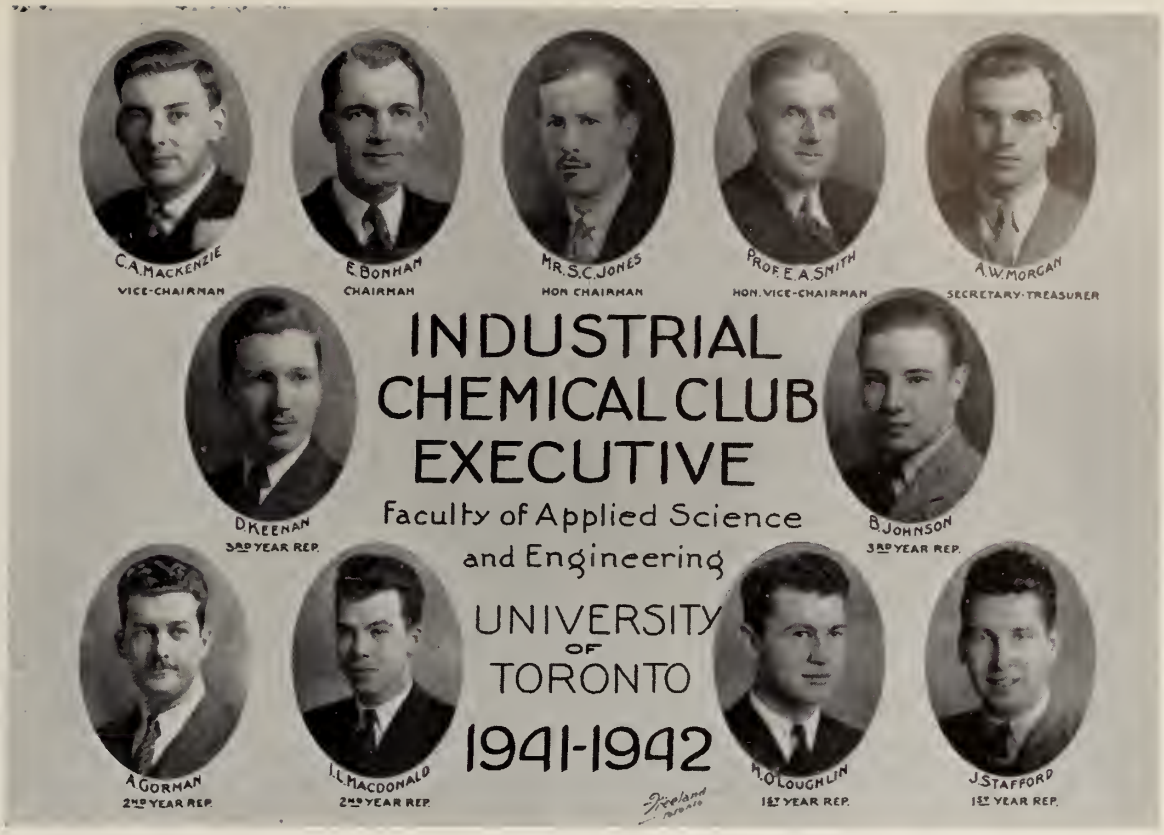

THIS season a new policy regarding the frequency of meetings was instituted, and, if the number of members attending them may be regarded as a criterion, it is deemed a success. Smokers were held monthly rather than more often as in previous years, with the hope that attendance might be increased. Even with the stern competition offered by military drill, sports activities, and Dr. Satterly's problems, some forty to fifty members managed to find time to meet in the East Common Room.

Following the successful experience of previous years, the Engineering Physics Club opened its season with a dinner meeting at Hart House early in October. Our Honorary Chairman, Professor R. F. Legget, was the after-dinner speaker, his topic being "The University and You". Afterwards, the freshmen obliged with "special entertainment".

During the second week of November, Mr. Czerwinski, who had left Poland one step ahead of the invading Germans, presented a paper on "Wood in the Aircraft Industry". Refreshments were served at the close of a well-attended smoker.

Dr. Gilchrist set us on the right path for the new year with a discussion of the subject of Geophysics. A summary of his thesis was given by each of the fourth men at the following meetings. To close the season, a second dinner was thought fitting, the scene again being Hart House.

In closing, your Chairman would like to thank his executive for their unqualified support, and Professor Legget for his timely suggestions.

Industrial Chemical Club

THE opening meeting of the year was held at Hart House on October 23rd, and featured Mr. John Buchanan as guest speaker. His subject, "Plastics", was illustrated by sound films and claimed the undivided attention and interest of all present.

Early in November the Initiation Stag took place at a downtown hotel. The proceedings of the evening met with such warm approval that a few members went to unlimited bounds to express their enjoyment. Doubtless the fellows favour bigger and better stags.

Research Enterprises Co. Ltd. provided the club with a most successful and enjoyable second meeting. Dinner in the plant cafeteria followed by an interesting tour gave us an evening filled with rare entertainment. Thanks are due to Colonel W. E. Phillips and Professor L. J. Rogers who made this trip possible for us.

A much anticipated field trip to Hamilton finally saw reality. Third and Fourth years shut down shop to spend the day visiting the Steel Company of Canada and the Dominion Glass Company. A most profitable day was spent by all—long to be remembered for many good reasons.

The third dinner meeting of the year welcomed Dr. H. Lawford of Standard Brands Company, who spoke to the club on the "Commercial Production of Yeasts". A film on that subject presented quite vividly a magnified picture of the life, process, growth, and budding of an individual yeast cell.

In closing, your chairman wishes to express his thanks to the executive members of the club for their kind support and co-operation throughout the year. In particular I am indebted to Al Morgan and Charlie Mackenzie for invaluable assistance in carrying out the executive duties.

For the Class of 4T2 and myself, I wish all you "Chem. Clubbers" good luck and smooth sailing.

Mechanical Club

WE have been very fortunate this year in the matter of field trips. Fourth year made one trip to Bala last September and inspected a couple of power plants near there—some fun. Then in November we visited the John Bertram plant in Dundas. Third year also did very well in this respect, visiting the Steel Company of Canada and the Otis Fensom plant, both in Hamilton—and from all accounts everyone was happy about the whole thing!

All the meetings this year were well attended and I hope interesting. At our first meeting in October, Professor R. W. Angus was the guest speaker and the meeting ended with a little fun and nonsense, topped off with refreshment! Mr. E. T. W. Bailey, Combustion Engineer of the Steel Company, gave an interesting talk at our November meeting.

In January we held a joint supper meeting with the A.S.M.E. student branch. Professor Angus gave a report on his trip to the New York meeting in December, and we then joined the Junior A.S.M.E. to hear Dr. Horne of the Port Hope Radium Refinery discuss radium and uranium.

I would like to take this opportunity of thanking the Executive for their excellent support, and our Honorary Vice-Chairmen, Professor Angus and Professor McIntosh, for their assistance and advice, and to wish next year's Executive the very best success.

Mining and Metallurgical Club

ANOTHER year is over and the exam letters seem to be the prevalent disturbance. Looking over the year's activities, we find that the club did not have a very successful year. Everyone seemed to have enough to do and more, and interest in the club hit a new low. For the lack of activities we sincerely apologize.

In October an Initiation stag at the Prince George was very successful. The freshmen turned out in full force and made quite a contribution to the evening's entertainment. Bill Moffat's efforts to promote first-class entertainment met with the whole-hearted support and co-operation of everyone except the management. Somehow or other he got the wrong idea.

The fourth year Miners and Metallurgisis made their annual trip to Orillia in December, and once again we were well taken care of.

Then there was the M & M Club Dinner at the Engineers' Club on February 3rd, or didn't the other 125 members know about it? Our guest speaker, Dr. James, a prominent Geologist, gave a very good talk on the Future for Engineers.

Thanks are due to Professor Williams and Professor Langford for their interest and efforts on behalf of the Club. It certainly was appreciated.

To the Secretary-Treasurer Frank Kellam, and the Club Representatives who spent quite a bit of time and work on behalf of the Club and the Engineering Society, we extend our grateful thanks.

Students' Parliament of the Faculty of Dentistry

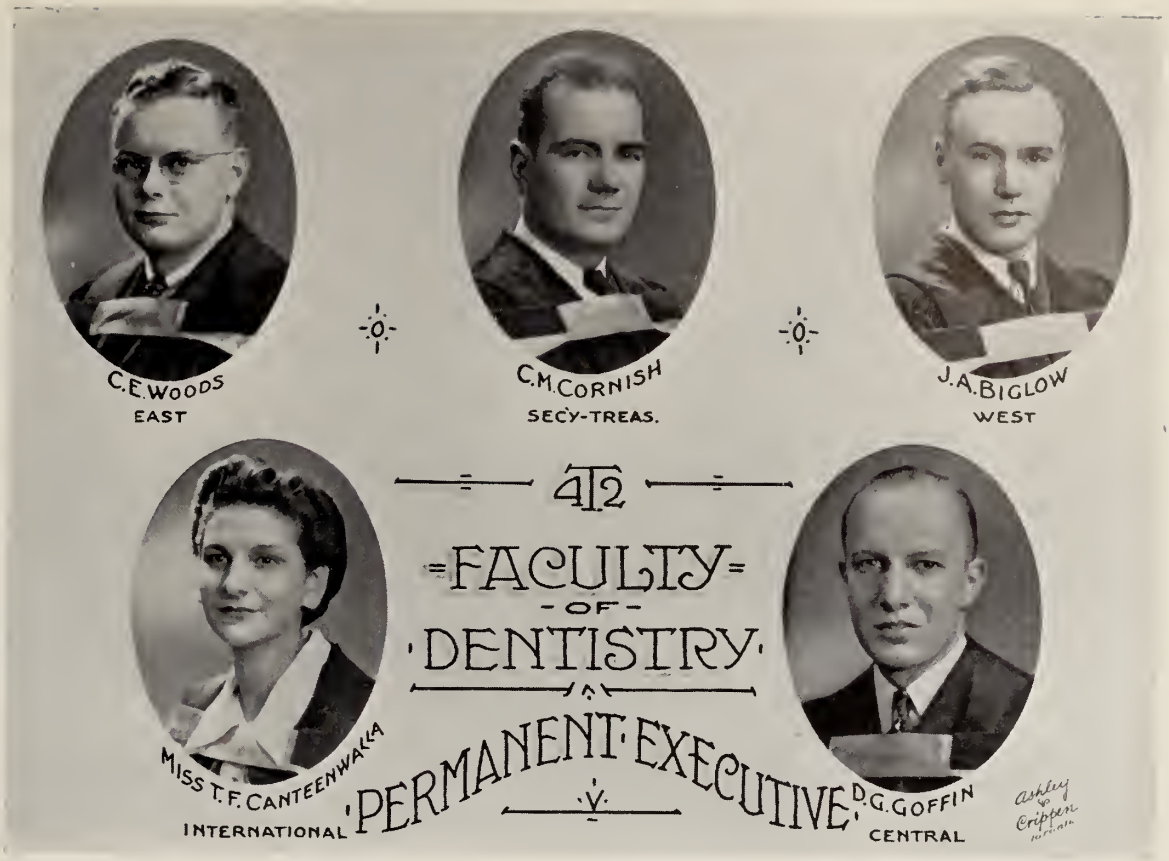

THE Students' Parliament of the Faculty of Dentistry under the guidance of a hard working and highly co-operative cabinet has just completed a most successful year.

Early last fall the school supported the S.A.C. March of Dimes so enthusiastically that in spite of a smaller registration than many of the Faculties their contribution of one hundred dollars ($100.00) was the largest in the University.

This spring they made a further contribution to the war effort by buying eight hundred dollars ($800.00) worth of Victory Bonds. The graduating class is enlisting in the Canadian Dental Corps en masse and third and fourth year have volunteered to do the same.

In addition to centering their interests on the war, the Students' Parliament has carried on its various other activities. The Dental At-Home and the Banquedance were better attended than previously and according to all reports both events were very popular. Dentantics provided three hours of entertainment for a packed house at Hart House Theatre. The following Saturday the Dentantics band and vocal music from the show provided music for dancing to a wildly enthusiastic crowd of students at a Hart House Athletic night.

The members of this year's executive want to wish next year's cabinet every success in the business of guiding the Students' Parliament.

Dentantics 1942

DENTANTICS of 1942 presented the twenty-second annual production of Varsity's biggest variety show. The Dents have every reason to feel proud of their show. It consisted of three hours of entertainment that touched every phase of popular stage play. The production featured the semi-classics and the Swing Six novelty music; it featured breezy skits and a serious original play with war as its background. But the crowning achievement of this year's Dentantics was the music—a twelve voice male Glee Club—and the super smooth seventeen piece Dentantics Blue Band augmented by novelty trio and duet vocals. Several of the selections were original compositions and all of the arrangements were certainly original. The cheering and dancing throngs at Hart House who enjoyed the Blue Band at the subsequent Athletic Night speak more praise for the organization than can be said here. For a small faculty the Dentists did a very creditable job of stretching their talent over a program of three hours to bring Varsity its only full length variety show.

Hya Yaka

HYA YAKA is the name given the Year-book of the Faculty of Dentistry, but the words themselves have no special significance. They are merely the first two words of the Dental yell and so were adopted by the magazine. As the years have gone by, Hya Yaka has emerged from a monthly magazine to a year-book. It was formerly published every school month but in 1920 this was changed so that there was a fall and a spring issue. But now, since 1922, there has been one issue only, published annually. The Editor of Hya Yaka is a member of the Cabinet of the Dental Students' Parliament. He is elected as an Associate Editor in his Fourth year and proceeds automatically to the editorship in his senior year.

The year-book is intended to serve as a record of the doings of the Dental student as he progresses through his course. It includes the many activities of the college, viz., sports, dramatics, fraternities, and class write-ups and is highlighted by the biographies and pictures of the graduating students and dental nurses. It also has many articles and editorials by student and staff-members alike. But one of the finest features is the great many pictures included, i.e., athletic teams, executive committees, class pictures and especially candid shots. In the latter years these photos have been stressed in particular. So, all in all, Hya Yaka, present a well-rounded record for posterity of the numerous activities of the students from College and Huron Streets.

Veterinary Students' Administrative Council

SELF-GOVERNMENT by the students of the Ontario Veterinary College is established in the form of the Students' Administrative Council. It is composed of eleven members, three seniors, three juniors, three sophomores and two freshmen elected annually.

The Students' Council promotes student activities, overseas student functions and acts as a means of communication between the faculty and the student body.

In handing over the reins of office to the Council of 1942-43, the present Council does so with a feeling of the most sincere gratitude to the faculty and the student body alike for the hearty co-operation with which its efforts were met by these bodies.

The Ontario College of Education

THE academic year 1941-42 has been an exceptional one for the students of the Ontario College of Education. The September enrolment of approximately 200 represented the lowest attendance figure in the recent history of the College, a figure which was no doubt due to wartime conditions. By May this figure had been reduced by almost one quarter as a number of the students volunteered for active service and many others left to assume teaching duties throughout the province.

Yet what the class of 1942 lacked in quantity, they made up for in quality. A number of the students aided in the U.T.S. production of "Trial by Jury", and the O.C.E. Glee Club played a prominent part in the same program. The Dramatic Committee sponsored a Theatre Night on March 12 when three excellent one-act plays were presented in capable fashion by the student-actors. The Literary Club held several interesting discussions on well-known authors. The Gramaphone Club met on numerous occasions throughout the year to hear familiar recordings of the classics. The Athletic Committees conducted the various athletic activities of the College.

The social life of the College was high-lighted by five enjoyable informal dances in the O.C.E. gym, and the annual formal dance at the Round Room, Eaton's College Street, on March 25th. The students also enjoyed monthly teas generously given by the staffs of the College and the Toronto secondary schools.

It has been apparent that the Dean, the staff, the executives and the students of the College have co-operated whole-heartedly in making this year not only an exceptional one but also a memorable one. As we turn our backs on the familiar portals of the College to take up our chosen tasks throughout the length and breadth of the province, we sense keenly the vital importance of our work — to train future citizens for a truly democratic world.

UPON entering the course of Occupational Therapy each girl automatically becomes a member of the Undergraduate Association. The association, to a certain extent, makes up for the lack of affiliation with a college by providing extra-curricular activities.

This year several afternoon meetings were held and interesting speakers were present at each one. The parties given included an initiation party, a Hallowe'en party, class parties, the formal dance and a bridge.

All through the year the executive was particularly efficient in arranging a very entertaining programme.

Physiotherapy Undergraduate Association

A STEADILY increasing enrolment in the Physiotherapy Course since the outbreak of war has indicated a growing recognition of the military, as well as peace-time value of this branch of medical science. The two-year course includes both practical and theoretical work. A six months' interneship in some leading Canadian hospital completes the training.

As its contribution to the war effort this year, the Canadian Physiotherapy Undergraduate Association has donated to the Navy League the proceeds from its annual dance, as well as a considerable quantity of scarves and socks.

The students have also shown athletic prowess by producing, in conjunction with Occupational Therapists, successful Hockey and Basketball teams, and by placing several entries in the swimming meet.

"On the Playing Fields of Eton . . . . . "

By W. B. T. SMILEY and N. B. LIGHTFORD

IN SEPTEMBER, 1939, for the second time within a generation, Varsity students returned to the University with the world at war. With all the other problems this presented, considerable speculation also arose concerning the status of sport for the coming year.

QUEENS vs. VARSITY
AT VARSITY STADIUM, TORONTO

It was with some relief and no little rejoicing that the students learned the decision of the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union—that intercollegiate sport would be continued. The result of the University of Toronto's decision to carry on the intercollegiate wars was highly gratifying, as the Blue and White teams triumphed in almost every encounter, for one of their biggest years. That year Varsity won eleven senior team trophies, eight intermediate championships and five individual titles.

The senior hockey team was the toast of all, losing only one game in twenty-one starts. On a jaunt to California, the Big Blues swept a five-game series with Pacific Coast universities, and returned to win the International Intercollegiate League title, as well as the C.I.A.U. crown.

Other championship teams of the year were the Senior and Intermediate tennis teams, the Senior Soccer team, the English Rugby team, the Senior Golf team, the Intermediate Hockey team, the Boxing, Wrestling, and Fencing teams, the Senior and Intermediate swimming teams, the Gymnastic team, the Senior and Intermediate Basketball teams, and the Waterpolo team.

IN SEPTEMBER, 1940, when the University re-opened, the German advances in Europe had forced a vast change of attitude toward the war in all walks of life. This applied to sport at Varsity just as it did to many other university functions. When the authorities decided that it was not possible to carry on intercollegiate sport, owing to the greatly increased need for a stepped-up military training schedule, and the difficulties of carrying out an extensive and expensive sports schedule in the face of that necessary training, many students felt that a great deal had been lost from University life.

The year 1940-41 was an unusual one, intercollegiate sport had been banned after a meeting of the C.I.A.U and military training was greatly intensified. An Auxiliary Battalion to the C.O.T.C. was formed in order to train all students who were not already in the C.O.T.C. and who would come under the age-group to be called up for thirty days' compulsory training.

For the first time in many years, then, physical training was not compulsory for men in first and second year, that is, for those who were over 20 years of age. Freshmen and sophmores under 20 took Physical Training, which consisted of elementary military training and classes in gymnastics, based on the Danish system. The syllabus included foot drill and rifle drill, bayonet fighting, Bren gun and miniature range practice. These classes were conducted by Messrs. Stevens, Martin and McCutcheon, who were qualified lieutenants.

Freshmen swim tests were conducted and all first year men unable to swim were enrolled in learn-to-swim classes. One hundred and seventy men were taught to swim that year and 61 men passed tests in life-saving.

With the gap left in sport by the suspension of intercollegiate competition, it was necessary to look to the intramural system of athletics to provide necessary competition and recreation for the student body. The intramural program proved its worth and confirmed the opinion of many that it is one of the finest on the continent. Thirty-five more teams were entered than the year before and 1,823 individual students, forming 51.8 per cent of the eligible student body, participated in interfaculty sport. Competition was much keener and intramural sport in general was on a much higher level because of the considerable number of athletes who had been on the intercollegiate teams, and whose energies were now diverted into intramural competition.

Another compensation for the loss of intercollegiate sport was the series of Athletic Nights originated by Director of Athletics Warren Stevens in 1940. Each was sponsored by one of the faculties or colleges and they drew an average of almost a thousand people to the gymnasium in Hart House. The main features were basketball, swimming and diving exhibitions, box lacrosse, volleyball, boxing and wrestling, and gymnastic exhibitions by Charlie Zwygard and his double-jointed disciples. There was keen competition among the faculties as each tried to out-do the other in Athletic Night features. The entire proceeds of these nights, which amounted to $800.00, were devoted to charities and war relief funds.

SKI BUS EN ROUTE TO VARSITY TRAILS

EARLY IN SEPTEMBER OF 1941, a few weeks before the students were due back at University, the C.I.A.U. announced that the previous year's policy of non-participation in intercollegiate sports would be continued. This decision was reached by the recognized heads of the Universities involved and was purely a voluntary action on the part of the colleges themselves. Permission to engage in exhibition games rested with the athletic association of the University desiring such competition and not with the C.I.A.U.

Following this decision it appeared, and was later proved, that the intramural program was destined to assume a larger role than ever in the athletic picture. The Athletic Association turned its every effort towards planning and carrying out the innumerable details in connection with this huge undertaking.

The Athletic Association was thoroughly equipped to handle such an assignment. For, under the guidance of Warren Stevens, Director of Athletics, John McCutcheon, Supervisor of Intramural Athletics, Mr. T. A. Reed, Secretary of the Athletic Association, and many others, one of the finest intramural athletic systems in the world had been years abuilding. With such an executive at its head and with the superb facilities afforded by Hart House, Varsity Stadium, Varsity Arena, and the numerous playing fields about the campus, this vast system placed Toronto far in advance of other universities which were attempting to carry out a similar athletic programme.

The fundamental principle upon which the interfaculty set-up is based is to afford every male student a chance to participate in organized athletics, to play on organized teams, in organized leagues, with adequate coaching and competent arbitration, and with a trophy at which to aim. The record of the intramural system speaks for itself. This year, with more time required for extra-curricular activities and military training, more men turned out for interfaculty teams than any previous year.

Over the past year there were 2,854 registrations in the nine team sports, an increase of 515 over the previous year, and 946 entries in the twenty tournament sports, making a total of 3,800 registrations, not including inter-year and inter-house competitions. Two hundred and twenty-six teams, an increase of 45 over last year, competed in 656 games, an increase of 74 over the previous season. In the basketball league there were 59 teams, and in baseball 52. School of Practical Science alone boasted a total of 998 registrations, playing on 75 teams.

With both the upper and lower gymnasia occupied every night in the week, the running track and swimming pool crowded, the rugby and soccer fields rampant with action, the long schedules were run off, play-offs staged, and champions declared — all without a hitch and practically no postponements.

For the most part it was School that dominated the list of champions. They commenced their sweep by taking all the track and relay competitions, as well as the Senior Harrier. University College won the novice harrier with Gord Ficko of Victoria the individual champion. In Soccer and the Swimming League it was again S.P.S. Added to this was their winning of the Dr. W. A. Dafoe Cup with the Lacrosse title. The Golf tournament held at Glen Eagles course was taken by a Trinity team of Boddy, Boxer, Laidlaw and Gibson, while Gord Ball of S.P.S. won the individual championship. Bruce Hall of Emmanuel College, former Davis Cup player, won the tennis singles championship for the fourth time. The doubles title went to Jack Mullett of Dents and Ian McCallum of S.P.S. for the second straight year. The team title was captured by Victoria. Dentistry won the Volleyball crown, to gain the Victoria Staff Cup. The high-light of the fall season, however, was the victory of Victoria College on the rugby field. This win gave Victoria the Sir William Mulock Cup for the tenth time since the Trophy was donated, forty-eight years ago.

During the winter term S.P.S. won six interfaculty titles out of a possible thirteen, including the headline sport, hockey. The Junior S.P.S. hockeyists, after dropping their opening game, swept through the balance of the season undefeated, whipped Trinity two games straight in the best-of-three final series 4-0 and 7-3.

The Engineers ran away with the indoor track title, amassing a total of 47 points, as against 29 for Wycliffe and 27 for Victoria. The race was not nearly as close for the swimming championship, where School piled up 47 points and University College came second with 13. They also took the skiing and wrestling, but were tied with U.C. for the boxing laurels.

It was left to seven other faculties to divide up the seven remaining championships. University College Fourths nipped past Senior School to take the basketball; Dentistry blasted U.C. in two straight games, 13-7 and 11-1, to win the baseball; Physical and Health Education won the gymnastic meet; Victoria College won the fencing; Senior Meds edged Victoria 5-4 and 4-3 in the best-of-three series for the waterpolo championsh'p; Knox captured the badminton; and St. Mike's swept the squash tournament.

The T. A. Reed Trophy, emblematic of the Intramural All Year High Point Championship was won this year by Trinity College.

The story back of Trinity's victory is worth telling. Although small in numbers the men of Trinity have always stood high in athletic endeavour. Despite the fact that a major contribution to Intercollegiate athletics has always been made by Trinity, the intramural competitors were by no means neglected. In the inaugural year of competition for the T. A. Reed trophy, 1936-37, Trinity reaped the benefit of their active sports programme and were worthy champions.

Each succeeding year Trinity has finished the race in second or third position with the exception of last year when she dropped to sixth place. This was not due to a lack of effort entirely but was because of the inroads made by Trinity's contribution to the Armed Forces.

The leadership of Trinity athletics for this year was vested in Johnny Henderson, President of the Athletic Association, and Bill Edmonds, Manager of athletics. No better choice could have been made for the student body needed only the guidance they were able to give to bring them back to a full and "all out" athletic effort.

A campaign was laid out early in the fall and carried out successfully throughout the whole year; so successfully that 96 per cent of the freshmen and 82 per cent of the whole student body participated in intramural athletics.

Trinity College is a worthy champion. While only two championships were won in the various sports, Trinity had a good measure of success in winning games and groups where she was competing against faculties of the same size. The real measure of her ability, however, lies in the loyalty and spirit of the student body and in the calibre of leadership supplied by the athletic executive and team managers.

The Faculty of Applied Science, perennial winners of the T. A. Reed Trophy, almost succeeded in retaining their strangle-hold on the Trophy. It was not until the last match of the last tournament was played that the outcome was known. Due to the large increase in registration at S.P.S. it was found necessary to cut their point allotment in half. This was done at the end of the Christmas term. Nothing daunted the Engineers issued a circular to each year of the various departments calling for basketball and baseball teams. The result was astonishing. Thirty baseball and twenty-five basketball teams represented School in the intramural series. Not a default was registered, six hundred odd engineering students found a new recreational outlet and School amassed a thousand or so points.

Hugh Barrett, Don Grosskurth, Jim Hurst and Jack Quist were the men back of this unprecedented effort. The fact that S.P.S. was faced with early examinations forced a let-up in athletics just a little too soon for them to carry it through to other activities and a successful conclusion.

The T. A. Reed Trophy and what it stands for has done a great deal for intramural athletics. The Trophy itself is surmounted with a "Victory" Figure and is surrounded at the base by figures in action poses of eight of the major intramural sports.

The Trophy was presented in 1936-37 by the competing Colleges and Faculties of the University. The members of the Intramural Sports Committee, were unanimous in their request that Mr. T. A. Reed, Financial Secretary of the Athletic Association, permit the use of his name on the Trophy as a lasting tribute of the esteem in which he is held by the staff and students.

Interfaculty sport at the University dates back to 1894 when Sir William Mulock, then Vice-Chancellor, presented the "Mulock Cup" for interfaculty rugby competition. The tremendous growth of the activities since that time has required years of careful supervision and care. It was with the thought in mind that this trophy represented the tying together of those years of effort on the part of "T. A." that the committee asked permission to name the Trophy in his honour.

The Trophy is awarded annually to the Faculty or College gaining the greatest number of intramural points in all sports throughout the year. The points are awarded for entering teams and individuals and for winning games, groups and championships. Points vary according to the registration of the colleges and faculties and are so set up that the spirit, loyalty and effort shown by a faculty or college will have a large share in ultimate success.

Mr. Reed, a graduate of Trinity College, had the honour, this year, of presenting the Trophy to his own college at a banquet arranged for the Trinity College undergraduates by their loyal supporters, the girls from St. Hilda's.

While abiding under the ruling that intercollegiate sports must be limited to local exhibition games only, Varsity schedules were brightened by a series of engagements with American and Canadian universities. The first of these "if and when" events was in the realm governed by Hec. Phillips, Varsity's track genius. In October there were two harrier meets and a track and field day. The harrier races, both with American teams, were run over the difficult High Park course and provided Varsity with a win and a loss. The Buffalo State squad defeated the Blues 34-21, but Toronto came through a week later to gain a perfect score over Niagara University, with Roy Foulis and Gord Lorimer leading the field followed by Bob Delaney and Johnny Feldhans who were tied for third place. Superior condition and experience gave Varsity a decided 79-46 victory over Ontario Agricultural College in the track meet, with Bitove, Booth, Bailey, and Onasick leading the way to victory. In January the only meet of the indoor season was held with Buffalo "Y" in the Broadview "Y". The Blue and White trackmen won the closely contested battle 22-21. In February an off the record event occurred when Hec. Phillips entered a three man team in a Bundles for Britain meet at the West End "Y".

No little surprise rippled over the campus last autumn when the call went out for all intercollegiate rugby players to report to the Athletic Office. Under the direction of Warren Stevens, Varsity was again to have a rugby team; but this time it was English rugby, or rugger. The Athletic Directorate had decided that to form a Varsity rugger team would serve as a means to keep together those men who would ordinarily have been playing intercollegiate rugby, as well as to provide a few promising contests.

Under the active guidance of Pete Spohn and Eric Robertson, old-time intercollegiate players, a squad of about twenty men turned out for the practice sessions. In spite of the fact, that fully half the team had never even seen a game before, Varsity won their first, and last, game against the R.C.A.F. team from Mount Hope 8-0. Here again the main objection to any intercollegiate sport — lack of time — necessitated an honourable withdrawal.

Varsity's soccer eleven this year was picked from veterans of the last senior and intermediate intercollegiate squads and from the cream of the interfaculty ranks. Once again one game comprised the entire schedule. Royal Military College provided the stepping-stone to a 6-0 victory for the Blue and White all-star team.

The swimming team, under the direction of Winst McCatty, went through a strenuous pre-season conditioning and training schedule with prospects of a bright season. However, two weeks before the season opened, Gord Campbell of Trinity, a breast stroke artist, and John Morrison, of Victoria, a free-style natator, both of whom filled important spots on the team, left, the former to join the R.C.N.V.R. and the latter the R.C.A.F. Despite the losses the team was whipped into shape, to share the sport honours with the basketball team in the Athletic Nights. Pre-season predictions were bettered when the squad came through undefeated. Captain Maurice Clarkson led his team to a complete victory over No. 1 I.T.S. from the Eglinton Hunt Club, with his brilliant diving. An American team from Niagara University offered stiff opposition in the second event, but Varsity edged them on a 39-36 score. Buffalo State Teachers College provided the third straight win for the Blue squad led by freshman sensation Fred Sansom, when the Varsity swimmers won 59-18. The team completed a perfect season by downing a champion-filled R.C.A.F. team from Manning Depot.

Biggest news in Varsity sport circles was quite naturally Warren Stevens' fast-travelling basketball team which returned to action after an absence of almost two years. When pre-season practices got under way early in December, it was found that four members of the Big Blue's last intercollegiate team were on hand in the persons of Bill Roberts, the most consistent player in the University, Jack LaVarnway, sharpshooting forward, Hal Axon, a great defensive player, and Don Finlayson, offensive and defensive specialist. All were back for their last year in intercollegiate competition. Prospects were bright indeed, when untold numbers turned out for the opening practice sessions. Proceedings became earnest following the Christmas vacation, and three rather unimpressive wins over No. 6 I.T.S., West End "Y" and Danforth "Y", preluded the regular Athletic Night Schedule. The Blue squad commenced to warm up once the Saturday night encounters got under way late in January. Their first victims were No. 1 I.T.S. by the close score of 24-21, in which game the Varsity team played minus some of their regulars. The following week they out-scored No. 6 I.T.S. 64-44 with a steady barrage of shots from the hands of Don Gibson. Then came the conquering Green Tartars of Wayne University. And conquer they did, 50-35. The display of basketball put forth that night was unsurpassed. The spectacular defensive playing of Roberts and Axon, was equalled only by the push-shots of LaVarnway. Buffalo State Teachers College put Varsity back in the win column when their Bisons dropped a 63-55 count. The fourth Athletic Night saw Assumption College of Windsor playing the underdog role, as the Blues romped ahead, led by Bill Roberts, to win 43-27. The final in the series was the 45-31 triumph over a Navy team, in which Don Gibson scored almost half the University points. And thus sounded the swan-song of what in normal times would have been truly a championship team.

About the middle of November the time-honoured sports of boxing, wrestling, and fencing got off to an impressive start under coaches Glionna, Martin and Walters. There was an unusual amount of good material on hand and the respective coaches made excellent use of this abundance. After the Senior Interfaculty Assault-At-Arms a week previous, both the boxers and wrestlers lost their opening matches; the boxers against Niagara University, and the wrestlers against Broadview "Y". The following Athletic Night saw O.A.C. defeated by the Varsity punchers, but pinning the Blue matmen for their second loss. The fencers led by interfaculty foil champion, Bill Horsey, and Ralph Thiers out-parried Buffalo University to gain a close decision in their only meet of the year.

Athletic Nights

One of the moral obligations and consequently one of the most difficult problems of any university, or college, is to provide adequate and wholesome recreational facilities on the campus and hence keep student interests moving along the proper channels. In almost all colleges and smaller universities, where everyone knows everyone else, it is a comparatively simple matter for the school to act as the focus of all student activities. In the case of the larger universities, the result is too often a tendency on the part of the student body to wander or drift from the campus in search of relaxation and entertainment. Here in Toronto, with thirteen separate colleges and faculties all in one great federation, such a tendency is bound to exist.

This drifting away from college activities after hours has seldom encountered any deliberate opposition. Here then was the reason for the creation of the Athletic Nights which were held in Hart House. Such occasions have had remarkable success in providing that unifying side of college life. They offer the student wholesome entertainment and pleasure, as well as the opportunity of athletic participation.

The fundamental idea of the Athletic Nights as staged this year is original and peculiar to Varsity and originated three years ago. Upon cuailment of intercollegiate sports two years ago, the prospects for continuing athletic nights looked dark indeed until it was decided to carry on by having the top interfaculty teams supply the athletic action. To ensure student interest in such an undertaking, the powers behind the scenes invited a different college or faculty to act as host for each of the six evenings.

The results were highly gratifying to the Athletic Association. The hosts poured such enthusiasm, energy, and originality into their efforts that the average attendance for the series was little short of a thousand. Those elected to guide the destinies of each evening made all the arrangements as to games, teams, music for dancing, and a hundred other details to provide the student with a truly college party. For the older hands it was the bridging of an all-too-obvious gap in undergrad life, as well as the reassurance that the Blue and White spirit was still present. To exuberant and amazed freshmen it was a glimpse of the peace-time gaiety, spirit, and good humour of a great student body.

THE D.A. AND SPORTSED AFTER WAYNE

Following such a highly successful season last year, it was naturally decided to continue the program this year. Expectancy and eagerness were at a high point and were raised to fever pitch following the announcement last fall that most of the Big Blue teams would be back in uniform. And so, with actual intercollegiate teams providing the main features, began the grandest and most thoroughly enjoyable series of Athletic Nights in the history of the University.

Last year's scheme whereby the various faculties acted as hosts was again carried out. Since practically all the athletic events included teams from other universities or colleges, or from the armed forces, the arrangements for all games, matches, meets, and exhibitions were handled through the everfaithful Athletic Office. Relieved of such duties the individual hosts directed their energies and ingenuity towards providing a varied program. And vary it, they did; all the way from blood-counts by the young doctors, to an osculometer devised and operated by some electrical wizard from School. In some manner each college or faculty added a different form of entertainment from its sphere of recreational ideas. In addition, the boxing, wrestling, and fencing rooms were used as further joy centres; one as a combination game, lounge and refreshment shop, for relaxation, chit-chats, or arm-chair athletics; a second housed ping pong tables, to provide the more active swain with an opportunity to demonstrate his prowess on the table courts; the third provided room for any of the amazing and interesting displays or movies which had been procured to further the education and enjoyment of all. The climax of each and every one of these get-togethers was of course two hours of dancing. It mattered little whether a student preferred the square or round version, for both were provided.

The main attractions, however, were undoubtably the performances of the disciples of mentors Stevens, McCatty, Glionna, Martin, and Zwygard. The thrilling exhibitions which were staged are now history. Attendance records reached an all-time high, with the average well past the twelve hundred mark.

The Medical faculty started things off with a splendid evening on January 24th when a short-handed Varsity basketball squad edged out No. 1 I.T.S. from the Eglinton Hunt Club 23-21, before a crowd of 1700 eds and co-eds. That same night the Fitzgerald Trophy was taken by School of Practical Science when they won the Senior Interfaculty Swimming Championship. The entire show was almost stolen by the half-time performance of former Olympic star Charlie Zwygard and some of his gymnastic disciples. The Medsmen themselves brought along several new ideas. They had arranged a group of physical tests, employing some of the mysterious gadgets peculiar to a doctor. Also to be seen was a microscopic exhibit and a movie dealing with blood serum preparation. During the grand march a further innovation was brought to light with the presentation of a prize for the healthiest couple.

PSYCHOLOGY DEPT. TESTS U.C. NIGHT

And so the evenings went, with each succeeding host adding something new and startling. University College sponsored the second night, presenting stars from the famous U.C. Follies, and a girls basketball game between O.C.E. and U.C. The prize award of the week was presented to the couple most representative of the spirit of Athletic Night. All this in addition to the regular sports programme of basketball wrestling, boxing, and swimming. The following two weeks it was athletics all the way. St. Mike's was the host when the well-remembered Green Tartars from Wayne University of Detroit provided the only defeat of the season suffered by the Big Blue cage squad, in the most brilliant exhibition of basketball seen in Hart House in many a year. That same evening Varsity swimmers took Niagara University and the boxers and wrestlers were the under-dogs at the hands of the strongmen from Niagara University and Broadview "Y". Backed by Knox and Wycliffe the fourth in the series saw Buffalo State Teachers College bringing their swimming and basketball teams to battle in vain the Varsity Blues. The same evening the boxers and wrestlers from O.A.C. and Toronto met in battle to wind up with a win and a loss each.

P.A.G. DEMONSTRATION, TRINITY NIGHT

College spirit ruled again the next Saturday when a Scarlet and Gold and Blue combination brought Victoria College and S.P.S. together as hosts of the evening. Sweaters ruled supreme. On that occasion Varsity swimmers wound up their season by defeating a crew of airmen from Manning Depot, while the cagemen took a squad of Windsorites from Assumption College into camp. The men in Blue pulled the hat-trick when the fencing team defeated Buffalo University in a closely contested series of bouts. The Faculty of Dentistry and Trinity College combined forces to oversee the final episode of the highly successful series of evenings. For the only time in this year's version dancing was headlined as the attraction. All this due to the presence of the super-smooth seventeen-piece Blue Band from the Dental College. In the way of exhibits, a veritable museum was set up in one of the game rooms, showing army and dental corps equipment both old and new. Two basketball games made up the athletic part of the programme. The Varsity team chalked up another win by defeating a Navy team from H.M.C.S. York, while a basketball team of Interfaculty All Stars won over a squad of former Varsity greats stationed at Camp Borden.

So ended the most successful, the most enjoyable, the best attended and the most worthy series of all Athletic Nights. They revived that vague but vital something called University spirit. It was a great thrill to again hear 1200 students from all corners of the campus scream, "We'll shout and fight, for the Blue and White and the honour of U. of T." The congratulations happily go to the Athletic Association staff, to the faculty and college committees, to the athletes and most certainly to the students who attended. It was these same students, who, by turning out in such numbers, made possible the handsome gift of the Athletic Association to War Charities, $1,200.00 in all. It is hoped they gathered a good portion of that intangible spirit that builds team morale and welds a vast University into a great unit.

As we review the contributions of our Athletic Association in War-time we realize that in an unassuming manner this huge department is playing an even more important role in wartime than in peace. A role indirectly related to the fighting forces, through students going on Active Service, but directed more particularly at the physical fitness, good health and recreation of everyone of the 4,000 male students in the University. Aside from the obvious importance of physical fitness, a varied programme of athletics for all, develops other desirable qualities equally necessary in meeting the emergencies we are experiencing daily. Developing qualities such as combative spirit, loyalty, self discipline, and co-operation coupled with the desire to win, leadership, courage and stamina should have a far-reaching and beneficial effect on the life of our nation.

"OUT OF THE IGLOO INTO THE NIGHT"

The well-laid peace time plans of the Athletic Directorate are proving to be equal to the situation and the objectives set out are slowly but surely being realized. The principal objectives being:

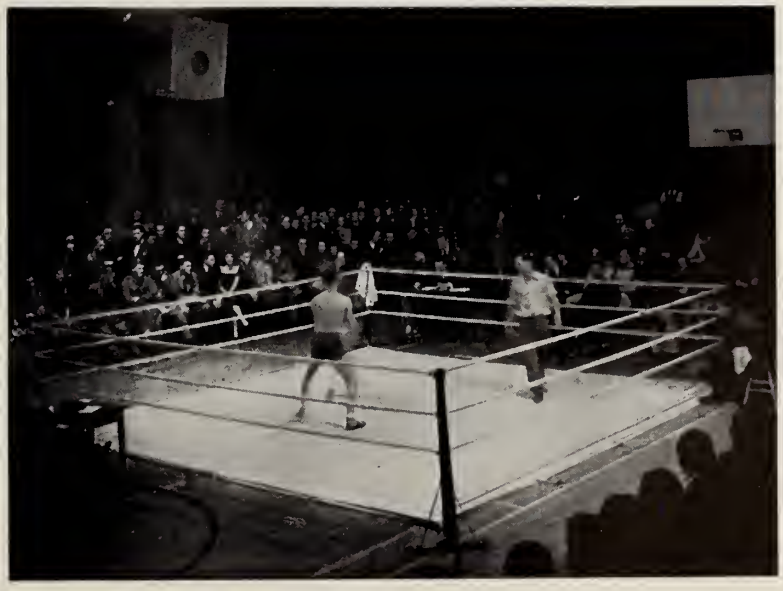

To provide skilled leadership.

To provide adequate facilities for wholesome recreation and games.

To instil a lasting desire to be physically active and physically fit.

To assist in forming good health habits.

To remedy all correctable physical defects.

As you scan the following pages you will see many of the faculty and college teams that have competed in the athletic association programme for 1941-42. Space does not allow the appearance of all 226. It is hoped participation in athletics has provided them with some of those desirable qualities that our fighting men need so much these days.

Trinity College Athletic Association

YES, even "the salt of the earth" can change. Though we were formerly known as the Trinity College Amateur Athletic Association, we have bowed to the advancement of the age, and without changing our status, we now allow ourselves the familiar nomination of T.C.A.A. Perhaps it has been modern design that has made the difference; a difference not so much in quality, which we have always prided ourselves in being able to produce, as in quantity, which in the all-important matter of the T. A. Reed Trophy, is a paramount, if not the paramount, factor. Up until December, Trinity had been holding down the lead position in the intramural race. Mirabile dictu, during the black month of January, we suffered a minor reverse at the hands of the slide-rule enthusiasts; but the "salt" is still potent, and those who suffer from the delusion that Trinity consists only of be-gowned, non-combatants, had better look to their own armament.

Now that we have touched on the subject of war, it might be well to uphold the position of this association, and that of similar campus associations, with respect to our duty to our country. It may seem a far cry from a pig-skin ball to a sixteen-inch shell; but it is a "back-stage whisper" from the spirit which is displayed on a rugby field to that which must be displayed on the battle-field and the "peace-field" to follow. This association, despite the set-backs which it naturally feels in times like this, is carrying on with the idea that the first common-to-all-arms training that a soldier gets is in the realm of sport, and as long as it is within human ability, it shall carry on this training.

The St. Michael's College Athletic Directorate

WITH intense participation as the dominant characteristic, another very successful year in athletics has been carried out by the men of St. Michael's. The fighting spirit and sportsmanship of the Double Blue was witnessed in very nearly every portion of the University sports program.

To date this season the Directorate with the co-operation of the students and staff has fielded the grand total of 22 teams. Basketball topped the list with three teams in city leagues and seven teams in interfaculty competition. Volleyball produced three; Softball, two; and each of the following sports contributed one each: Golf, Hockey, Lacrosse, Rugby, Tennis, Water Polo and Swimming.

It has been the aim of the Directorate this college year to place as many men as possible in some form of athletics, in order that the students might obtain necessary recreation as well as the various other advantages of sports activity. We believe in all sincerity that this resolve has been carried out to the best of our ability and our only regret is that it was not possible to have every man in the college on at least one team.

In conclusion, we wish to thank those who in the course of the year aided us in the fulfillment of our duties. Fr. O'Brien's sound advice and good judgment was greatly appreciated at all times and "Bill" O'Brien was indispensable during the basketball season, not only as a coach, but in various other capacities. Mr. O'Neil and Mr. Cullen handled the distribution of equipment very capably and the students as a whole were most helpful.

FROM North, East and West they came—untried freshmen, to join the ranks of the battle-scarred veterans of many a hard-fought field. Then one by one some of the veterans—Fred Knight, Hersh. Fry, Len McDonald—left for grimmer battles. Those who were left regretted the partings. Len in particular had left a distinguished record. When the R.C.A.F. opened its doors to him, Wycliffe lost the president of the Athletic Society and one of its best athletes.

Because of the shortage of men, several sports had to be dropped from the list of activities, but a remarkably fine spirit was shown in those that were left. In Harrier the traditional Wycliffe spirit was again manifested. In Lacrosse, Hockey, and Baseball each team found itself at the top of its respective group, and for this, great credit is due to the managers who worked hard to whip their teams into shape. On the linoleum bowl of Hart House the tape was cut on several occasions by a Wycliffe "W". Despite a cut on one forehead, the fall of a baton in a relay, and sundry foolish tricks, the season produced some good performances.

Next year? No prophet durst declare! Several men are leaving for the forces, and others will join up during the summer. But, come what may, Wycliffe will be represented in sport.

It is with regret that we note that the forward line of Smith, Smith, and Smith will not be back to play Hockey for Wycliffe.

TO Murray P. Townsend of Blenheim, Ont., has been awarded the Medical Athletic Cane, presented annually to the graduate who has contributed most to medical athletic endeavour in his six years of Medicine.

Dr. Townsend's athletic and executive record as an undergraduate from 1935 to the spring of '41, is an enviable one. Murray was a member of the Intercollegiate Soccer Team until intercollegiate athletics passed from the sports horizon two years ago. He then captained the Medical Interfaculty Soccer Team to a joint championship with Knox, in 1940.

In his fifth year, Murray was President of Interfaculty Athletics, and climaxed his executive career as President of the Medical Athletic Association in his final year.

To Murray, who is now the mine doctor at the Polaris Taku mines in Tulsequah, B.C., we send our congratulations for his fine contribution to Medical athletics.

Medical Athletic Association

A GLANCE at the standings in the 1941-42 race for the T. A. Reed Intramural Athletic Trophy, shows only too well, the effect that acceleration of the medical course has had on our athletic program. The speeding-up of the course plus the added burden of military drill in the junior years, has put a damper on the athletic activities for this year at least.

Despite these added barriers, however, medical athletes continue to participate in sport—sometimes handicapped by lack of numbers, sometimes handicapped by conflicting time tables, etc., but exhibiting nevertheless the traditional Meds' fighting spirit.

The Senior Rugby team deserves a special word, for although they lost out in their bid for the Mulock Cup this year, we feel sure that with the addition of a number of Junior players, the '42 team should be of championship calibre. At the time of writing, the Senior Waterpolo Team appears to be headed for their second title in three years. The Junior Basketball Team is undefeated so far and the combined Meds Hockey Team is in a first place tie.

Thanks to a loyal group of Meds such as these, war or no war, we can still hold our heads high in the realm of sport.

S.P.S. Athletic Association

"WE wuz robbed", "Everyone is against us", — these and their kind were the cries with which School greeted the announcement of our point cut in the T. A. Reed Trophy race. Our 1,000 point lead shows that we were wrong. If School could do this in a hurry-up campaign since Christmas, what is going to happen next year when Don has everything organized and rolling right from the start? Our sympathy goes to "Mac" who will have to figure out some other treatment for his problem child, "School".

This year's Rugby teams proved a disappointment, but it was not because the spirit was lacking. There wasn't a sorrier looking fellow than Coach Jim Hurst when his powerful Junior Rugby team couldn't get rolling. Our success in the pool has more than made up for this. The Soccer team was the real bright spot of the fall term. When our 50 plus Basketball and Baseball teams trotted out, "Mac" tore out another hair. Jim Hurst and Jack Quist were the guiding lights in this extravaganza.

Thanks are in order to "Mac" McCutcheon for showing School the light. (Too many people refuse to see how "Mac" has filled the gap left by the suspension of Intercollegiate sports.) There can be nothing but optimism for the affairs of the Athletic Association under Don Grosskurth next year—so get in there and sweat, men!

Bronze "S"

THIS year, S.P.S. has awarded to Doug Marshall its highest athletic honour, the Bronze "S". This award is presented each year to the Schoolman who, during his career at S.P.S. has displayed outstanding athletic ability and sportsmanship.

In his first year, Doug was a member of the Intermediate Intercollegiate Track and Field Team. He excelled with the javelin, discus and shot. Throughout his University athletic career, he was outstanding Track and Field star.

In his second year he played hockey for the championship Senior Varsity Hockey Team. With the start of Third year, Doug returned to Track and Field, and also actively participated in the School Rugby wars.

In his final year, Doug was prominent in Track and Field, Rugby—picked on University all-star team, Baseball, and Hockey. He was also on the executive of the University Athletic Association.

Doug has been active in many sports and to his team-mates he has been noted for his clean play and as a true athlete "who never said die".

Schoolmen of all classes sincerely hope that Doug's successes will continue in his future career as an athlete and as an Engineer.

Good luck, Doug!

Dental Athletic Directorate

THE control of all the dental Inter-faculty Sports is under the direction of the Dental Athletic Directorate. Its membership is composed of the managers of the various college teams and one member is elected as the Director of Athletics and the college is represented by this member on the Intramural Sports Committee.

The past year has found the school right in the running for the T. A. Reed Trophy. The rugby team got to the play-offs, and the soccer team to the semi-finals. The volleyball team took the interfaculty championship for the second year in succession and very strong teams were entered in lacrosse, basketball, hockey, baseball and waterpolo. The season's schedule not having been completed in the last mentioned sports it is impossible to say how the teams made out but they are sure to improve our standing in interfaculty sports. Our individual representatives in B. W. and F., golf, tennis, and skiing did very well and deserve well earned praise.

The members of the graduating class have been great supporters of all our teams and their aid will be missed in the coming year.

At this point the members of the Directorate and the school as a whole should be thanked for their whole-hearted support during the past year. May next year's Directorate enjoy the best in the way of a very successful season of dental sport.

VELUT ARBOR ÆVO

WOMEN'S INTRAMURAL ATHLETICS

Women's Athletics, 1941-42

WHILE there is very little to write of women's athletics for the current year that is startling or new, there is much in which to take quiet satisfaction and pleasure. Participation in recreational athletics has reached a peak this year and every club has reported an increase in interest and in registration for competition.

Golf and tennis are always the first two sports of the fall season. The very successful golf tournament was organized by University College but the entry list was open to all faculties. The tournament was held at the Mississauga Golf Club on October 6th and lunch, tea and prizes were included in the entry fee. Marian Walker, U.C. IV, with a gross 89, for the fourth time won the individual championship, in addition to managing the tournament. The runner-up was Mary Jane Fisher, St. Michael's I, with a gross 99.

The four colleges each held a tennis tournament and the six winners of each were selected to enter the intramural tournament held on the St. Hilda's courts. Shirley Geldert, U.C. II, the intramural badminton champion in 1940, won the individual championship from Virginia Kitto, U.C. I, in the finals. Constance Harrison, Trin. IV, and Joyce O'Neill, U.C. (M.E.S. II), were the other semi-finalists. This meant that the tennis cup went to University College for the first time in several years of Vic monopoly.

Basketball came next on the bill of fare and brought out a great deal of very fine talent. University College had so large a freshie turn-out that it was necessary to enter two teams as well as the usual Senior and Junior teams. Vic had three teams, St. Hilda's and St. Michael's two each, and Occupational Therapy and Physiotherapy, Meds and Nurses one each. The competition was very keen, necessitating a play-off in one group between St. Mike's and O.T. and Physio., which the former won. The semi-finals between Vic I and U.C. Freshies A and St. Mike's Seniors and U.C. Seniors resulted in wins for the two U.C. teams. The final play-offs in Hart House showed one of the smoothest brands of basketball seen in a long time. The Seniors, coached by Helen Gurney, Captain of the 1940 Intercollegiate team, had a little too much experience playing together for the keen and fast Freshie team and piled up a twelve-point lead in the first game. They needed this, for the Freshies, coached by Bobbie Macdonald, Captain of the 1939 Intercollegiate Champions, found themselves in the second game and won it 18-16. They could not get enough of a margin to take the series, however, and the Seniors very fittingly climaxed three years of effort by carrying off the title. It did indeed seem unfortunate that Hitler chose this time to stop intercollegiate competition, for a team made up of some of the intramural stars such as Jean Crawford and Beryl Pollock of Vic, Betty Mortimer, Zoe Christie, Margaret Stock and Joan Davis of U.C., Florence Cooper and Kay Brydon of St. Mike's, and many more, would have claimed more than a bowing acquaintance with the famous "Bronze Baby".

At the request of a number of students, arrangements were made for bowling to start before Christmas. Under the Athletic Fee Privileges, alleys were rented and each student entitled to 20 games, upon paying a small supplementary fee. Interest increased by leaps and bounds and over 100 members of the Bowling Club participated in the sport this year. Most students enjoy the lack of organized competition and the opportunity of getting recreation and exercise along with friends of other colleges and years. The high scorer for the year was once more Ruth Publow, O.T. II, who has held her championship against all comers for three years at Vic and two in O.T.

Badminton is another sport which stresses the recreational side but it also provides excellent competition as each college runs a tournament, as in tennis, and then enters a team in the intramural tournament. The cup was won by U.C. with Jill Cavanagh of U.C. (M.E.S. II) and Betty Allen, U.C. III, as the finalists. Betty Mosbaugh, St. M.'s I and Kitty Storey, Trin. II, were the other semi-finalists.

Swimming, like all other sports, enjoyed an increase in interest, partly due to the inclusion of Victoria and Trinity first year students in the required Physical Education programme. The pool swarmed with active swimmers all year long and the various college meets were consequently highly successful. The intramural meet had a very large entry list and U.C. even had to enter a Senior and a Junior team. The competition for the actual championship was largely between these two teams, with Betty Mortimer, U.C. IV, winning the individual award. Jackie Scott of Occupational Therapy took over the Ornamental Swimming throne left vacant by Freddie Baxter's graduation.

The weather prevented a great deal of skiing this year but suitable weekends turned up occasionally. The intramural meet on February 22nd was spoiled a bit by the weather but the hardy souls who turned out enjoyed it. The winner was Margaret Ham, U.C. III.

Hockey is one of the major organized sports of the winter term and this year was no exception. Six teams were entered and a modified N.H.L. system was adopted to decide the winner. Each team played each other once, then the four top teams played another single round. The two top teams then played off. Vic had the satisfaction of winning the most games in the regular series, while U.C. carried off the "Stanley Cup" in the play-offs.

A very promising effort was made to arouse interest in volleyball and teams from Vic and U.C. played several games. It is hoped that this will continue and that a real league may develop. The women again made their contribution to the Athletic Nights, putting on exhibitions of basketball, ornamental swimming and waterpolo (the latter being more water than polo!)

One situation which has been a difficulty this year has been the inclusion in the University College Athletic Association of the members of the new course in Physical and Health Education as well as the 30 final year students of the Margaret Eaton School, which has just been taken into the University scheme. This obviously made a most unfair concentration of athletic talent in the one college. While the M.E.S. students will graduate, the Physical and Health Education course, now a self-contained school, will still have the social and athletic privileges of University College. A satisfactory solution has not yet been reached.

Honours outside of the University which fell to the lot of individual athletes, included the R.L.S.S. Gold Medal and Diploma with Honours, won by Freddie Baxter, O.C.E., and only awarded once in Ontario since 1927, and the Norman Craig Trophy awarded Joan Davis, U.C. I, by the Ontario Women's Amateur Athletic Federation, as the outstanding girl athlete of Ontario during 1941.

University College Women's Athletics

THE season began favourably with the Interfaculty Golf tournament which was sponsored by U.C., and managed for the fourth time by Marion Walker, U.C. Miss Walker's performance has been outstanding in that she has won the tournament for four consecutive years.

The Tennis tournament, in which there was keen competition, followed. Shirley Geldert, U.C., and Virginia Kitto, U.C., were the Interfaculty as well as College finalists. Miss Geldert defeated her opponent to become Interfaculty Champion, while Miss Kitto won the U.C. title.

U.C. entered four Basketball teams for the first time. The Senior team was coached by Helen Gurney, the Junior team by Dorothy Bevan, Freshie team "A" by Bobbie McDonald and Freshie team "B" by Jill Cavenagh and Anna Marie Smart. The teams were managed by Kae Cunninghame, Valerie Farewell, Winnifred Clarke and Mary Manson. The Seniors defeated Freshie team "A" for the championship. This is only the second time in University women's Basketball that the finals brought together two teams representing the same College. It happened two years ago when the present Seniors were Freshies, and as happened this year it was the Seniors who captured the cup.

Volleyball took a place in U.C. athletics for the first time. It was capably managed by Eileen Cumberland. Victoria was the only other College playing this sport and U.C. led them in a series of games.

There was increased interest in Bowling. Marjorie Schuch managed this sport for U.C.

The Hockey team was very fortunate in obtaining Kuddie Faber as coach. In a very close final game U.C. defeated Victoria to retain the championship.

The Badminton calibre was very high, although there were not as many players as last year. Betty Allen, U.C.; Jill Cavenagh, U.C., M.E.S., and Nancy McKean, U.C., M.E.S., played in the semi-finals of the singles.

There was considerably increased interest in Skiing. Margaret Ham, U.C., won the Interfaculty meet which was managed by Joan Carter, U.C.

There were two Swimming teams for the first time; a Junior team, managed by Jean Stinson and a Senior team managed by Barbara Bott. The Senior team won the Interfaculty meet and the Junior team was second. Audrey Lyons, U.C., was the high point winner in the College meet, and Betty Mortimer, U.C., the high point winner in the Interfaculty meet. Mary McKinney, Joan Carter, Jean Stinson and Betty Mortimer swam on the Intercollegiate "Correspondence" team.

St. Hilda's College Athletic Association

THE Athletic Association is directed by a committee consisting of a President, a Vice-President, a Secretary, a Treasurer, the heads of the departments and a first year representative. This committee acts as the executive for the College Association of which all St. Hildians are members.

Mary Skeeles, Connie Harrison, Yvonne Wells, Barbara Conway, Adine Seagram, and Joy Winters represented the College in the intramural tennis tournament. Connie Harrison was our star and was taken out only in the semi-finals. Connie and Mary Skeeles played off for the St. Hilda's championship and Mary emerged victorious.

The basketball enthusiasts formed two teams (a Freshie team and a Senior team) which achieved nothing spectacular but had lots of fun.

Bowling and ping-pong are two very popular sports since they can be played all the year through and in the off-seasons of the major sports.

The winter brought badminton, swimming, hockey, and skiing as usual this year. Skiing is fast gaining converts since it has been made more accessible by ski-buses and other arrangements.

The year's activities were rounded off by inter-year hockey and basketball games, and closed with the donation of awards at the Athletic Dinner.

O. T. & P. Athletic Association, 1941-42

THIS year Occupational Therapy and Physiotherapy undergraduates have been particularly interested in athletic and recreational activities of the university. O. T. and P. is now considered an important unit in inter-faculty meets. Since the beginning of 1941, when basketball had been the sole activity, hockey, badminton, swimming, bowling, and skiing have been initiated. The executive of the association is made up of girls from both courses who keep in touch with other faculties and inform the girls of athletic developments.

Those who have taken part in the activities have done so with enthusiasm in spite of their long working hours. They have found not only relaxation but also opportunity to meet girls in other faculties, and above all, opportunity to know and work with the girls in the two sister courses.

ON PARADE

Wherever he goes the military officer is "on parade." People judge him by his appearance, his bearing and the smartness of his uniform. His dress must always be faultless. That's why the utmost in craftsmanship is so essential in military tailoring. At the Men's Shop and the Pine Room our military tailors are outfitting officers in all His Majesty's Services . . . following regulations to the letter, but adding that extra measure of distinction that bespeaks fine tailoring.

In War as in Peace

Graduates of 'Varsity in ever increasing numbers are meeting the call to service.

Whether in the front line or in the field of production their talents and training are being employed in order that the powers of evil may be overcome.

This bank pays tribute to the invaluable service our boys and girls are rendering in these days of crisis when the freedom of the world is at stake.

In the days to come when victory has been won, it will be their task to help rebuild a better world.

THE BANK OF TORONTO

Incorporated 1855

When Hamlet was at college..

The only souvenir college students of Hamlet's day took away with them was the odd sword scar, won in some duel of honour.

Students of a later day keep college memories fresh in more convenient fashion. They put twenty-six leaden soldiers to work and permanize their past.

Age Publications Limited enjoys helping University of Toronto students realize this objective handsomely, efficiently, inexpensively. With its staff of highly skilled craftsmen, its long experience in journal and book publications of all kinds, its well-equipped plant, its richly creative art, lay-out and copywriting departments, and its convenient location, it offers printing purchasers the acme of dollar-value.
